Historical Dictionary of the Discovery and Exploration of the Northwest Coast of America Robin

Inglis, 2008-04-02 The Northwest Coast of America ranging from northern California through Oregon Washington and British Columbia all the way up to Alaska was the last temperate coastline to be placed on the world map First visited by Russians in 1741 and thought to contain a navigable passage between the Pacific and the Atlantic it was systematically revealed during an intense period of exploratory and commercial activity from the 1770s to the 1790s Subsequently the imperial ambitions of Russia Spain and Britain and an assumption of manifest destiny by the United States led to further exploration and ensured that the region would become disputed territory before national boundaries were determined in the mid 19th century The Historical Dictionary of the Discovery and Exploration of the Northwest Coast of America tells of the heroic endeavors and remarkable achievements the endless speculation about a northwest passage and the fighting and manipulation for commercial advantage that surrounded this terrain This is done through an introductory essay a detailed chronology an extensive bibliography modern maps and selected historical maps and drawings and over 400 cross referenced dictionary entries Entries cover the native people encountered the scientists and artists who left an invaluable documentary and visual record of people places flora and fauna the numerous voyages taken by men such as Vitus Bering James Cook Juan Francisco de la Bodega y Quadra and George Vancouver overland expeditions like those of Alexander Mackenzie Simon Fraser Meriwether Lewis and William Clark and David Thompson and maritime fur traders including George Dixon Grigori Shelikhov Robert Gray and William Sturgis No other dictionary exists that is dedicated solely to the coverage of this region

Distant Dominion Barry Gough, 2011-11-01 The voyages of Cook and Vancouver heralded a vast influx of irrepressible white men They brought with them their morals ideologies knowledge technology plants and animals They also brought diseases rum and guns powers to build and powers to destroy Until the 1700s the Northwest Coast of North America stood largely apart from the civilized world Formidable mountain barriers and remoteness from Atlantic sea lanes kept the territory outside the orbit of emerging European empires In the late 18th and early 19th centuries however Britain Spain France Russia and the United States vied for control of this promising new frontier Three of history's greatest mariners Sir Francis Drake Captain James Cook and Captain George Vancouver spearheaded British expeditions of discovery and trade to the Northwest coast Despite competition from her European and American rivals Britain's ability to use and control the sea enabled her to establish by the late 1700s a beachhead of empire in the area now known as British Columbia Gough shows how by outmanoeuvring her Spanish rivals in a skilful game of diplomatic chess Britain concluded the Nootka Agreement Thus she was able to exploit her trading partnership with the coast Indians and cement a lucrative sea borne commerce with the Far East The arrival overland of the Nor westers and other fur trading groups further strengthened Britain's financial and political interests in the area ending forever the isolation of Northwest America and changing beyond measure the culture of its Indian peoples Distant Dominion is the first comprehensive survey to examine Britain's motives for expeditions to this most distant frontier of British maritime development It is also the first to draw the history of the coast into the general realm of Pacific history relating its development to events in Europe the American eastern seaboard Australia the Falkland Islands and China This entertaining book offers fresh insight into an exciting chapter of North American history Sessional Papers British Columbia, 1901

The Malaspina Expedition 1789-1794 / ... / Volume II / Panama to the Philippines Andrew David, Felipe

Fernández-Armesto, Glyndwr Williams, 2018-12-07 Among the voyages of exploration and surveying in the late 18th century that of Alejandro Malaspina best represents the high ideals and scientific interests of the Enlightenment Italian born Malaspina entered the Spanish navy in 1774 In September 1788 he and fellow officer Jos Bustamante submitted a plan to the Ministry of Marine for a voyage of survey and inspection to Spanish territories in the Americas and Philippines The expedition was to produce hydrographic charts for the use of Spanish merchantmen and warships and to report on the political economic and defensive state of Spain's overseas possessions The plan was approved and in July 1789 Malaspina and Bustamante sailed from Cadiz in the purpose built corvettes Descubierta and Atrevida On board the vessels were scientists and artists and an array of the latest surveying and astronomical instruments The voyage lasted more than five years On his return Malaspina was promoted Brigadier de la Real Armada and began work on an account of the voyage in seven volumes to dwarf the narratives of his predecessors in the Pacific such as Cook and Bougainville Among much else it would contain sweeping recommendations for reform in the governance of Spain's overseas empire But Malaspina became involved in political intrigue In November 1795 he was arrested stripped of his rank and sentenced to life imprisonment Although released in 1803 Malaspina spent the last seven years of his life in obscure retirement in Italy He never resumed work on the great edition and his journal was not published in Spain until 1885 Only in recent years has a multi volume edition appeared under the auspices of the Museo Naval Madrid that does justice to the achievements of what for long was a forgotten voyage This second volume in a series of three contains Malaspina's diario or journal for the first time in English translation and with commentary It covers the period from 15 December 1790 to 15 November 1792 when he visited the Pacific coasts of Central and North America as far north as Alaska before crossing the ocean to the Philippines Other texts include the apocryphal voyage of Ferrer Maldonado through the Strait of Anian which led to a major diversion of the Malaspina expedition in 1791 Indian Life on the Northwest Coast of North America as seen by the Early Explorers and Fur Traders during the Last Decades of the Eighteenth Century Erna Gunther, 2022-04-06 A reconstruction of the Haida and Tlingit cultures of the Pacific Northwest during the late eighteenth and early nineteenth centuries Drawing on a wide range of evidence this volume is a carefully researched investigation into the ethnohistory of the Pacific Northwest during the period of European exploration of the region The book supplements the archeological evidence from the area with a detailed investigation of the journals diaries and sketchbooks of Russian Spanish and English explorers and traders who reached the region as well as artifacts that those explorers and traders obtained on their expeditions and that are now held in museums worldwide In doing so Gunther s research extends anthropological study of the region a century earlier and sheds light on the understudied tribal cultures of the Haida and the Tlingit The volume contains splendid reproductions of contemporary drawings and appendices mapping the museum locations of artifacts and describing the processes of native technology
