Margareth Stewart is a seasoned and accomplished author This is her tenth published book She lives and works in Brazil and is of Italian extraction She prides herself in being multilingual and can speak Italian English and Portuguese fluently When not writing Margareth works as a teacher She relaxes by reading cooking jogging and listening to music Margareth s poetry is enthused with life experience and empathy I am impressed by the poetry s quality I drew my own interpretations from it Only Margareth knows the true meaning of each poem and that is the way it should be Margareth writes in several different styles some traditional some prose and some with various degrees and formats of rhyme In fact the style and structure of each poem is never the same This stimulated me and challenged me anew in my own interpretation of each poem Many of the poems made me think of areas where I could develop my own poetry There are forty eight pieces of poetry and prose within the book Many subjects are covered Margareth talks about maintaining self worth promoting positivity and living life to the full She shows how man is just a pawn in the scheme of things His threat to Nature The Universe and humanity is examined Many pieces reflect on love isolation and rejection as well as death dreams and grief Margareth stresses that it is time for action rather than just talking if we are to save the World from human interference I was left wondering whether some of the poems were based in the real world or in a dream world This made me think even more about their meaning She also writes about the value of a woman s role in Society This is an important subject at the moment and so it should be My favourite poems are Perfect Dream Magic Erotique I am Sorry The Nursing Home Independance 7 Sins Plastic Age Favor the Unfavored All in all I love the book I recommend it to read and it has been an honour to write an editorial for it Regards Jules Clare
