Cosmopolitanism and Transatlantic Circles in Music and Literature Ryan R. Weber,2018-10-26 Cosmopolitanism and Transatlantic Circles in Music and Literature traces the transatlantic networks that were constructed between a select group of composers including Edvard Grieg Edward MacDowell and Percy Grainger and the writers with whom they shared cosmopolitan affinities including Arne Garborg Hamlin Garland Madison Grant and Lathrop Stoddard Each overlapping case study surveys the diachronic transmission of cosmopolitanism as well as the synchronic practices that animated these modernist ideas Instead of taking a strictly chronological approach to organization each chapter offers an examination of the different layers of identity that expanded and contracted in relation to a mutual interest in Nordic culture From the burgeoning universal ambitions around 1900 to the darker racialized discourse of the 1920s this study offers a critical analysis of both the idea and practice of cosmopolitanism in order to expose its common foundations as well as the limits of its application

Danish novelists and critics from the Modern Breakthrough movement in the 1870s were among the first to make extensive use of his writings. Equality for Same-Sex Couples Yuval Merin, 2010-02-15 During the past three decades nations all over the world have been debating whether to allow same sex couples to marry or at least grant these couples various rights associated with marriage. In Equality for Same Sex Couples Yuval Merin presents the first comparative study of the legal regulation of same sex partnerships worldwide as well as a unique survey of the status of same sex couples in Europe. Merin begins by providing a historical overview of the transformation of marriage from antiquity to the present. He then identifies and critically compares four principal models for the legal regulation and recognition of same sex partnerships: civil marriage, registered partnership, domestic partnership, and cohabitation. Merin concludes that all of the models except civil marriage discriminate against gays and lesbians just as the separate but equal doctrine discriminated against African Americans; thus so called alternatives to marriage even if they provide the same rights and benefits as marriage are inherently unequal and therefore unconstitutional.

True Relations G. Thomas Couser, Joseph Fichtelberg, 1998-01-21 The essays in this collection explore new directions in autobiography studies. Examining a wide range of texts from narratives of suicide survivors, cross dressers, and people with HIV/AIDS to self representations in the visual arts, the collection demonstrates how writers have used the postmodern experience of fragmentation to forge new kinds of identities. Postmodern selves, the essayists argue, are relational selves constructed from the acute need to find identity through collaboration with others. Postmodern autobiography emerges as a search amid shocks to the stable self for wider patterns of significance. Of interest to researchers and scholars in autobiography, world literature, and psychology.

The Other Mirror Kristine Ibsen, 1997-02-25 During the last decade women's narrative has become a recognized force in Mexican letters. The essays in this collection explore the recent work of nine contemporary Mexican women writers. Many of the works have been translated into English; some like Laura Esquivel's Like Water for Chocolate have become international best sellers. The unprecedented commercial success of these novels has generated mixed reactions at the same time that the secondary status afforded women's narrative has come to be questioned in many academic circles; some authors are dissociating themselves from women's writing. The essays in this volume address these issues, providing a much needed contribution to the study of women's narrative.
