The Nordic Labour Relations Model Niklas Bruun, 1992 Examines the main characteristics of the labour relations systems in the Nordic countries except Iceland Labour union movement has a great impact on these systems due to high rates of affiliation among workers and this text presents new aspects on the Nordic model for labour relations The Future of the

Nordic Model of Labour Relations Bernt Schiller, Knut Venneslan, Hans Ågotnes, Niklas Bruun, Ruth Nielsen, Dennis Töllborg, 1994 The future of Nordic labour law: Facing the challenges of changing labour relations Jenum Hotvedt, Marianne, Videbæk Munkholm, Natalie, Aradóttir Pind, Dagný, Westregård, Annamaria, 2020-10-09 Available online <https://pub.norden.org/temanord2020/534> Is labour law in the Nordic countries prepared to meet future challenges or is there a need for adjustments and renewal These questions form the backdrop for the analysis in this report The Nordic systems of labour law are built on a binary divide between employees and the self employed As a main rule employees are protected by labour law while self employed are not and the employer is responsible for complying with the legal framework If future labour relations make it harder to assess whether a worker is an employee or self employed and to decide who is the employer this might undermine the efficiency of labour law regulations The report analyzes the adaptability of the legal framework and points at strengths and weaknesses Furthermore the study discusses how the identified challenges can be addressed by suggesting avenues for legal development and reform The report is the concluding analysis of Pillar VI in the project Future of Work Opportunities and Challenges for the Nordic Models NFoW funded by the Nordic Council of Ministers Nordic

EU Industrial Relations V. National Industrial Relations Mia Rönnmar, 2008-01-01 1996 concerning the posting of workers in the framework of the provision of services Official Journal L 18 of 21 January 1997 pp 1-6 Directive 2006/123/EC of the European Parliament and of the Council of 12 December 2006 on services in the internal market Official Journal L 376 of 27 December 2006 pp 36-68 Judgement of the European Court of Justice Laval un Partneri Ltd v Svenska Byggnadsarbetareförbundet Case C-341/05 2007 ECR I-000 Judgement of the European Court of Justice International Transport Workers Federation v Viking Line ABP Case C-438/05 2007 ECR I-000 Table of cases from the European Court of Justice Index The Oxford Handbook of Employment Relations Adrian Wilkinson, Geoffrey Wood, Richard Deeg, 2014-03

This Handbook is a comparative treatment of employment relations providing frameworks and empirical evidence for understanding trends in different parts of the world Social Law and Policy in an Evolving European Union Josephine Shaw, 2000-12-18 Social law and policy have been moving increasingly into the mainstream of the European Union In recent years there have been important changes to the Treaty framework for enacting social policy bringing the role of the social partners to the fore New Treaty provisions for adopting discrimination legislation have highlighted the potential role of the EU in combatting aspects of social exclusion and in challenging disturbing phenomena such as racism and xenophobia Social policy is increasingly linked to the emerging notion of Union citizenship The arrival of the single currency in 1999 is now matched by a more pro active EU level policy on employment and the labour market The analyses in this collection address these and other questions against the backdrop of the longstanding controversies over the nature and scope of EU social policy including the UK's opt out from certain provisions between 1993 and 1997 and the ongoing debate about whether EU social policy has or should have a social or an economic rationale

Nordic Management Labour Relations and Internationalization ,2004 Abstract An important query for the book Nordic Management Labour Relations and Internationalization is whether there has been any convergence towards the American or AngloSaxon neoliberal model for managementlabour relations or not model which is rather hostile to corporative industrial relations in general and trade unions in particular The result however is that although private and public management have introduced different flexibility reforms and international human resource management HRM models in all Nordic countries the strong managementunion cooperation has remained relatively intact both centrally and locally Contrary to many other countries unions and employees have often been positive to competence development participation and flexible assignments which were part of unions codetermination policy of the 1970s aiming for workers to act as equal partners The book covers different aspects and themes of the global influence on Nordic working life A theoretical introduction to convergence versus divergence regarding industrial relations and Nordic managementlabour relations Influence of international HRM policies in Nordic multinational companies and on national IR systems studied in four chapters in Norway in Sweden in Malaysia and Singapore in European Works Councils Flexibility strategies and consequences for industrial relations in Sweden Individualization of salaries in the Danish public sector Industrial relations and occupational health and safety Increasing malefemale employee difference regarding IR strategies
