Unwhite Meredith McCarroll, 2018-10-15 Appalachia resides in the American imagination at the intersections of race and class in a very particular way in the tension between deep historic investments in seeing the region as pure white stock and as deeply impoverished and backward Meredith McCarroll s Unwhite analyzes the fraught location of Appalachians within the southern and American imaginaries building on studies of race in literary and cinematic characterizations of the American South Not only do we know what rednecks and white trash are McCarroll argues we rely on the continued use of such categories in fashioning our broader sense of self and other Further we continue to depend upon the existence of the region of Appalachia as a cultural construct As a consequence Appalachia has long been represented in the collective cultural history as the lowest the poorest the most ignorant and the most laughable community McCarroll complicates this understanding by asserting that white privilege remains intact while Appalachia is othered through reliance on recognizable nonwhite cinematic stereotypes Unwhite demonstrates how typical characterizations of Appalachian people serve as foils to set off and define the whiteness of the non Appalachian southerners In this dynamic Appalachian characters become the racial other Analyzing the representation of the people of Appalachia in films such as Deliverance Cold Mountain Medium Cool Norma Rae Cape Fear The Killing Season and Winter s Bone through the critical lens of race and specifically whiteness McCarroll offers a reshaping of the understanding of the relationship between racial and regional identities Norma Rae, 1981 Hard Hats, Rednecks, and Macho Men Derek Nystrom, 2009-10-21 Everywhere you look in 1970s American cinema you find white working class men They bring a violent conclusion to Easy Rider murdering the film s representatives of countercultural alienation and disaffection They lurk in the Georgia woods of Deliverance attacking outsiders in a manner that evokes the South's recent history of racial violence and upheaval They haunt the singles nightclubs of Looking for Mr Goodbar threatening the film's newly liberated heroine with patriarchal violence They strut through the disco clubs of Saturday Night Fever dancing to music whose roots in post Stonewall homosexuality invite ambiguity that the men ignore Hard Hats Rednecks and Macho Men argues that the persistent appearance of working class characters in these and other films of the 1970s reveals the powerful role class played in the key social and political developments of the decade such as the decline of the New Left and counterculture the re emergence of the South as the Sunbelt and the rise of the women's and gay liberation movements Examining the youth cult film the neo Western southern and the new nightlife film Nystrom shows how these cinematic renderings of white working class masculinity actually tell us more about the crises facing the middle class during the 1970s than about working class experience itself Hard Hats thus demonstrates how these representations of the working class serve as fantasies about a class Other fantasies that offer imaginary resolutions to middle class anxieties provoked by the decade's upheavals Drawing on examples of iconic films from the era Saturday Night Fever Cruising Five Easy Pieces and Walking Tall among others Nystrom presents an incisive evocative study of class and American cinema during one of the nation's most tumultuous decades

Kramer,Donald Reid,William L. Barney,1994-01-01 The essays in this book like all other texts have been written in a historical context that shapes both the themes and the prose styles of the authors A close reading of these texts would in fact lead to many overlapping contexts of politics social hierarchies modern communications and international relations but we want to focus briefly on two contextual influences that carry the most obvious connections to this book the wide ranging public debate about the proper curriculum for American schools and universities and the more specific debate among historians about new trends in historical scholarship Teaching History with Message Movies Jennifer Frost,Steven Alan Carr,2018-03-12 Popular media has become a common means by which students understand both the present and the past Consequently more teachers are using various forms of popular culture as pedagogical tools in the history classroom With their emphasis on issues such as drug and alcohol abuse sex race gender and violence social problem films or message movies offer a compelling look at the eras in which they were made In order to facilitate the use of social problem films as learning tools however teachers of history need a dependable resource Teaching History with Message Movies is a guide for teaching US history using these films as vivid historical illustrations and tools for student engagement In addition to covering key themes and concepts this volume provides an overview of significant issues and related films a tutorial in using film in historical methodology user guides for thinking about social problems on screen and sample exercises and assignments for direct classroom use Focusing on the issues that plaguing society the book draws on films such as I Am a Fugitive from a Chain Gang 1932 Gentleman's Agreement 1947 The Snake Pit 1948 Silkwood 1983 and One Flew Over the Cuckoo's Nest 1975 among others This resource enables teachers to effectively use films to examine key social and cultural issues concepts and influences in their historical context Teaching History with Message Movies will be an invaluable asset to any teacher of history in middle and secondary school settings as well as at the undergraduate level Lethal Injection Marla Bradeen,2013-03-29 A Las Vegas stripper turns up dead Only one woman has the courage to ask why Exotic dancer Megan Leadership Matters Thomas E. Cronin, Michael A. Genovese, 2015-11-17 Some leaders fundamentally alter the status quo whilst others guide quietly Most leadership books emphasise specific rules but Tom Cronin and Michael Genovese see leadership as filled with paradox Leadership Matters offers a different view of leadership one that builds community and responds creatively to new situations Cronin and Genovese argue that leadership is about more than just charisma and set leaders on to a different path to unleash the power of paradox American Women's History on Film Rosanne Welch, Peg A. Lamphier, 2022-11-07 By exploring a range of films about American women this book offers readers an opportunity to engage in both history and film in a new way embracing representation diversity and historical context Throughout film history stories of women achieving in American history appear few and far between compared to the many epic tales of male achievement This book focuses largely on films written by women and about women who tackled the humanist issues of their day and mostly won Films about women are important for all viewers of all genders because they remind us that the American Experience is not just male and white This book examines 10 films featuring diverse depictions of women and women s history and encourages readers to discern how and where these films deviate from historical accuracy Covering films from the 1950s all the way to the 2010s this text is invaluable for students and general readers who wish to interrogate the way women s history appears on the big screen Film and Everyday Eco-Disasters Robin L. Murray, Joseph K.

Heumann, 2014-06-01 Eco disasters such as coal mining accidents oil spills and food borne diseases appear regularly in the news making them seem nearly commonplace These ecological crises highlight the continual tensions between human needs and the environmental impact these needs produce Contemporary documentaries and feature films explore environmental human conflicts by depicting the consequences of our overconsumption and dependence on nonrenewable energy Film and Everyday Eco disasters examines changing perspectives toward everyday eco disasters as reflected in the work of filmmakers from the silent era forward with an emphasis on recent films such as Dead Ahead an HBO dramatization of the Exxon Valdez disaster Total Recall a science fiction action film highlighting oxygen as a commodity The Devil Wears Prada a comment on the fashion industry and Food Inc a documentary interrogation of the food industry The authors evaluate not only the success of these films as rhetorical arguments but also their rhetorical strategies This interdisciplinary approach to film studies fuses cultural economic and literary critiques in articulating an approach to ecology that points to sustainable development as an alternative to resource exploitations and their associated everyday eco disasters Social Class on British and American Screens Nicole Cloarec,David Haignon,Delphine Letort,2016-03-15 At a time when debates about social inequality are in the spotlight it is worth examining how the two most popular media of the 20th and 21st centuries film and television have shaped the representation of social classes How do generic conventions determine the representation of social stereotypes How do filmmakers challenge social class identification How do factors such as national history geography and gender affect the representation of social classes This collection of new essays explores these and other questions through an analysis of a wide range of American and British productions from sitcoms and reality TV to documentaries and auteur cinema from the 1950s to the present Norma Rae (videorecording).
