A Sense Of Siege Graham Fuller, 2018-02-12 The clash of civilizations has become a common phrase in discussions of U S Middle East relations This book explores the nature of the friction between the Muslim world and Western states looking at legitimate perceptions and grievances on both sides involving historical political economic cultural psychological and strategic elements Arguing that Islam versus the West does not represent the arena of the next global ideological struggle the authors examine specific issues of a bilateral nature that require careful handling to prevent the consolidation of states into opposing blocs They discuss Islam s efforts to politically enhance the real power of Muslim states and to equalize relations with the West in the strategic arena the enlarged role of Islam in the internal politics of Muslim countries and the urgency of political economic and social change to break away from traditional authoritarian orders A central theme of the book is that political Islam threatens the established order in most Muslim countries far more than it threatens the West and that violent confrontation can best be circumvented by integrating Islamist forces into the political process Africa Air University (U.S.). Perkins, 2025-10-30 First published in 1986 Tunisia Crossroads of the Islamic and European Worlds presents a comprehensive overview of Tunisian history along with its political and governmental structures and the role of Habib Bourguiba and other nationalist leaders in moulding those institutions and in controlling them since independence Tunisia's location at the middle of Africa's Mediterranean coast and at the edge of the Sahara has made the exposure of its people to the cultures of the Middle East Europe and Africa inevitable Indeed Tunisia has often been a conduit for the passage of ideas from one of these regions to another Of all the influences that have helped shape modern Tunisian society however two stand out the country's enduring commitment to Islam and its extensive contacts with Europe culminating in three quarters of a century of French rule from 1881 to 1956 The book focuses on the process of extensive social and economic change since 1956 that has dramatically altered Tunisian society and affected the lives of all Tunisians It concludes with the study of Tunisia's foreign policy stressing the country's status as a small state surrounded by more powerful less moderate nations Tunisia's handling of such regional issues as the Arab Israeli problem and the upsurge of Islamic fundamentalism is considered as are its relations with the superpowers and its European and African neighbours With a new preface to the reissue this book is an important historical reference work for scholars and researchers of African Studies and African history Historical Dictionary of Libya Ronald Bruce St John, 2014-06-04 Of all the states of the Middle East and North Africa Libya has long been the country about which the least is known It is only in recent times that scholars and the general public alike have begun to appreciate the complexity of Libya's turbulent history including the recent February 17th Revolution in 2011 when protests broke out throughout Libya demanding better living conditions and more job opportunities When the Qaddafi regime responded with force killing scores of unarmed civilians the protesters called for regime change In what came to be known as the February 17th Revolution the Qaddafi regime was overthrown and Qaddafi was killed in October 2011 In July 2012 the Libyan people elected a General National Congress charged with overseeing the drafting of a new constitution and the election of a national government This fifth edition of Historical Dictionary of Libya covers its history through a chronology an introductory essay appendixes and an extensive bibliography The dictionary section has over 400 cross referenced entries on important personalities politics economy society conflicts and the culture of Libya This book is an excellent access point for students researchers and anyone wanting to know more about Libya Political Ascent Emad Eldin Shahin, 2018-02-23 Islamic movements in North Africa have historically been distinguished from their counterparts in other parts of the Arab world because they have demonstrated a marked willingness to work within the political system and have at times even been officially recognized and allowed to participate in local and national elections As a result Islamic thinkers from the Maghrib have produced important writing about the role of Islam and the state democracy and nonviolent change In this book Emad Shahin offers a comparative analysis of the Islamic movements in Algeria Tunisia and Morocco exploring their formation and expansion in the late 1960s and the tenets of their ideology for social transformation Islamic movements in North Africa have historically been distinguished from their counterparts in other parts of the Arab world because they have demonstrated a marked willingness to work within the political system and have at times even been officially recognized and allowed to participate in local and national elections As a result Islamic thinkers from the Maghrib have produced important writing about the role of Islam and the state democracy and nonviolent change In this book Emad Shahin offers a comparative analysis of the Islamic movements in Algeria Tunisia and Morocco exploring the roots of their development the nature of their dynamics and the tenets of their ideology He argues that the formation and expansion of Islamic movements since the late 1960s has come in response to the marginalization of Islam in state and society and to a perceived failure of imported models of development to resolve socioeconomic problems or to incorporate the Muslim belief system into a workable plan for social transformation

Natural Gas and Geopolitics David G. Victor, Amy M. Jaffe, Mark H. Hayes, 2006-06-29 By most estimates global consumption of natural gas a cleaner burning alternative to coal and oil will double by 2030 However in North America Europe China and South and East Asia which are the areas of highest expected demand the projected consumption of gas is expected to far outstrip indigenous supplies Delivering gas from the world's major reserves to the future demand centres will require a major expansion of inter regional cross border gas transport infrastructures This book investigates the implications of this shift utilizing historical case studies as well as advanced economic modelling to examine the interplay between economic and political factors in the development of natural gas resources The contributors aim to shed light on the political challenges which may accompany a shift to a gas fed world

Prospects for Security in the Mediterranean Robert O'Neill, 1988-06-18 A compilation of papers analyzing the issues affecting security in the Mediterranean area and their policy implications The Mediterranean is seen as a potential theatre for East West confrontation both on land and at sea as a key trade route and as an area of inter relationship conflicts

Islam in Perspective Patrick Bannerman, 2013-06-03 There has been a significant upsurge of western interest in the political manifestations and significance of Islam in the last decade fuelled by the notion of Islamic revival the Iranian revolution and by events in countries as diverse as Egypt Pakistan and Sudan Oil power and its effect on the international economic order the relationship of Muslim countries with the superpowers and the continuation of the Arab Israeli conflict have also served to focus attention on Islamic politics and in particular on the notion of Islamic reassertion As the author of this book argues one result of this interest has been the development of a view of Islam as monolithic and implacable He takes a broad view of the intellectual and cultural history of Islam emphasising the extraordinary diversity of Islamic societies and the ways in which the ideal is often pragmatically adapted to reality In this wider social and historical context the nature of Islamic revival is then reassessed First published in 1988

Arab Revolutions and World Transformations Anna M Agathangelou, Nevzat Soguk, 2013-09-13 Stories about institutions and regimes that have failed us are echoing worldwide This book critically engages the multiple uprisings in the Middle East and North Africa MENA following the self immolation of Tunisian street vendor Mohamed Bouazizi in December 2010 It brings together authors who critically analyse the unstoppable force unleashed in the streets of Tunisia Egypt Bahrain Syria Libya and Yemen This book analyses the roots and trajectory of the recent revolts in the context of the global transformations that have redefined the politics of movement and revolution For example some authors engage extensively with the strategies embraced by the younger generation of activists Others argue that the power of these revolutions lies in the people s creative orientations including their collaborations While much of the mobilization efforts in these different parts of the world happen through word of mouth radio cartoons placards and SMS services sites such as Facebook helped people meet each other with a click carrying their claims through stories songs poetry and art of protest across international borders quickly enabling them to rapidly bring authoritarian regimes to the brink of collapse and make a qualitatively different expression of uprisings All authors in this volume address the question of the stakes in these revolts as through them spectacular and everyday violence can be challenged and alternative social projects can emerge Neither a footnote to the West s history nor an appendix to neoliberal capitalist global projects people are actively drawing on their power to disrupt domination and oppression creatively responding to global problems and calling for democratic institutions with viable ecologies This book was published as a special issue of Globalizations Africa in World Politics S.
