North Africa The Desert War:

Desert War in North Africa Stephen W. Sears, 2006 A compelling study of the fierce Second World War campaign illustrates why the strategy of the Axis powers failed in the struggle for the North African coast during World War II and profiles the important roles of such military leaders as Rommel and Montgomery Reprint The Desert War Alan Moorehead, 2013-04-01 The seminal account of the battle between Montgomery's Eighth Army and Rommel's Afrika Corps amidst the endless harsh wastes of the Western Desert In 1940 Alan Moorehead was sent to cover the North Africa campaign by the Daily Express and he followed its dramatic course all the way to 1943 The three books he subsequently wrote about the Desert War later collected as his African Trilogy were swiftly acclaimed as a classic account of the tussle between Montgomery's Eighth Army and Rommel's Afrika Corps under the beating sun of the Egyptian Sahara's Western Desert Moorehead was responsible for the celebrated insight that tank battles in the desert are like battles at sea the lumbering tanks like ships lost in a vast ocean of sand The New Statesman could not have put it better when it described his achievement with this riveting book There is something of genius in the breadth and penetration of his vision which encompasses the whole panorama of war and then narrows it down to the particular the soldier stubbing out his cigarette before going into action the expression on a tank commander's face as he is hit The story of the African campaigns will go down in history as one of the great epics of mankind largely thanks to Mr Moorehead's account The Desert War Alan Moorehead, 1968 Desert War in North Africa Stephen W. Sears, 1967 The Desert War Alan Moorehead, 2017-03-08 Alan Moorehead was a peerless war correspondent who covered the entire war in North Africa from 1940-1943 The trilogy of books he wrote on the prolonged battles between Montgomery's Eighth Army and Rommel's Afrika Corps immediately drew universal acclaim and remains an epic account as extraordinary now as it was then This reissue of Alan Moorehead's classic trilogy on the North Africa campaign 1940-1943 will coincide with the 75th anniversary of the Battles for El Alamein in July and October 1942 The Desert War Jean Paul Pallud, 2022-09-21 A study of the North Africa campaign of World War II featuring a plethora of battlefield photographs from during the war and now Following Mussolini's declaration of war in June 1940 initially Italy faced only those British troops based in the Middle East but as the armed confrontation in the Western Desert of North Africa escalated other nations were drawn in Germany Australia India South Africa New Zealand France and finally the United States to wage the first major tank versus tank battles of the Second World War First tracing the history of the very early beginnings of civilisation in North Africa and on through the period of Italian colonisation Jean Paul Pallud begins his account when the initial shots were fired at the 11th Hussars as they approached Italian outposts near Sidi Omar in Libya It proved to be the opening move of a campaign which was to last for three years When the Afrika Korps led by Rommel joined the battle in February 1941 the Germans soon gained the upper hand and recovered the whole of Cyrenaica minus Tobruk in the summer The campaign then swung back and forth across the desert for another year until Rommel finally captured Tobruk in June 1942 and then moved eastwards into Egypt With British fortunes at their lowest ebb changes in command led to Montgomery launching his offensive at El Alamein the following November This began the advance of the Eighth Army over a thousand miles to Tunisia resulting in the final round up of the German and Italian forces in May 1943 Jean Paul and his camera retraced the route just prior to the recent civil war in Libya and the uprisings in Tunisia and Egypt in 2011 so he was fortunate to capture the locations before yet another war left its trail of death and destruction Although the campaign in 1940-43 was dominated largely by armour nevertheless the Allies lost over 250 000 men killed wounded missing and captured and the Axis 620 000 Those that never came home lie in cemeteries scattered across the barren landscape of a battlefield that has changed little in over 70 years

Desert War Alan Moorehead, 2001 North Africa was the site of some of the most volatile battles of World War II For journalist Alan Moorehead it was war in its purest form a knight's tournament in empty space In Desert War which includes the complete texts of The Mediterranean Front A Year of Battle and The End of Africa Moorehead writes about what he saw He recounts with dazzling prose and intimate detail the heroes and legends the soldiers and prisoners the military strategies the strengths and weaknesses of those involved and portraits of generals Rommel Montgomery and Patton Woven throughout are observations on the landscape the Mediterranean shores and the vast desert which inevitably played a role in shaping the battles For Moorehead desert warfare resembled war at sea Men moved by compass No position was static Each truck or tank was as individual as a destroyer Written by a man who lived and breathed the conflict in North Africa during World War II Desert War is a eyewitness account and an inspired piece of writing by a master of his craft

World War II. The War in Europe, Desert Warfare Sabine Lorca, AI, 2025-03-20 Desert Warfare explores how the desert environment has shaped military history in the Middle East arguing that it's not merely a backdrop to conflict but an active participant The book examines how extreme temperatures and limited resources have influenced military strategy tactics and logistics from ancient times to modern conflicts like the Iraq and Afghanistan Wars Interestingly commanders who adapted to the desert's challenges often gained a strategic advantage highlighting the crucial role of environmental awareness in military success The book progresses chronologically starting with ancient battles and moving through key historical periods like the Arab conquests and World War II North Africa campaign Each chapter delves into specific battles analyzing how environmental factors shaped tactical decisions and overall campaign outcomes By integrating environmental history with military history Desert Warfare offers a unique perspective revealing how a seemingly passive environment can become a decisive weapon

Desert War Russell Hill, 2017-01-12 This is the kind of book you've been waiting for about the war a book by a correspondent who was in the thick of the actual fighting in the front lines and sometimes ahead of them Only in North Africa because of the strange fluid quality of desert tactics have correspondents actually been allowed to see men in battle to attach themselves to fighting units and to move constantly with those units It is this which gives its unique quality to Russell Hill's account of the second British invasion of Cyrenaica Mr Hill is the brilliant young Cairo correspondent of the New York Herald Tribune He knew the campaign was going to start days before it actually did and he was permitted to inspect oasis outposts supply dumps and even Tobruk itself still surrounded and still magnificently holding out When the big flap began Hill moved out with a forward unit and was immediately plunged into that made swirling melee that is deeper fighting and to which no description short of Hill's own can do justice If you were puzzled by the reports which came for days from Sidi Rezegh where Rommel made his stand and his escape if your heart leapt at the relief of Tobruk if your hopes were raised then the British reached El Agheila and were dashed down again when Rommel lashed back to Tobruk and the Egyptian border you will find all the answers and the explanations in this book With 14 illustrations and 5 maps Desert War. With Illustrations and Maps. [On the Campaigns in North Africa, 1941-42.], 1943 Rommel's Desert War Samuel W. Mitcham, Jr., 2007 The most famous battles of one of World War II's most legendary commanders Told largely from Rommel's perspective using his papers and letters In a series of battles marked by daring raids and quick armored thrusts against a numerically superior enemy Erwin Rommel the notorious Desert Fox and his Afrika Korps waged one of World War II's toughest campaigns in the North African desert in 1942 The Axis campaign climaxed in June with the recapture of Tobruk a triumph that netted 33 000 prisoners and earned Rommel a field marshal's baton By fall however after setbacks at Alam Halfa and the 2 battles of El Alamein the Afrika Korps teetered on the brink of defeat which would come in Tunisia 6 months later Desert War Peter Cox, 2015-05-01 Sir Geoffrey Cox described Sidi Rezegh fought during Operation Crusader in Libya over November and December 1941 as the forgotten battle of the Desert War The objective of Crusader was to retake Cyrenaica the eastern region of Libya and ultimately drive the Italians and Germans out of North Africa The campaign also involved British and South African troops and did achieve the badly needed relief of Tobruk Despite the New Zealand Division's major role and the importance of this campaign in achieving British victory in North Africa it has largely been neglected by historians failing to receive as much attention as Crete El Alamein or Cassino Yet more New Zealand soldiers were killed or taken prisoner during Crusader than in any other campaign fought by the Div during the war Peter Cox whose father fought at Sidi Rezegh draws on his experience of twice visiting the battlefield to tell the story of this complex and costly campaign He sets the scene for the fighting in Libya describes the unforgiving and inhospitable desert landscape follows the stages of the action itself and recounts the often moving and heroic stories of the New Zealanders who fought there Many never returned home This is both a very accessible account of a significant New Zealand contribution to World War II and a tribute to the thousands of men who took part in this punishing battle World War II: Desert War Stephen W. Sears, 2014-08-05 The struggle for North Africa was unlike any other campaign of World War II The desert proved a real test of generalship pitting Germany's Erwin Rommel against Britain's Bernard Montgomery and America's George Patton Here from award winning
