

In addition to a growing awareness among nurses that continuing education is crucial not only to the field's development and to meeting the public's needs, nurses are also rediscovering the benefit of a more holistic approach to healthcare.

WEAR ME OUT, FILL ME UP

I vividly remember the experience ten years ago when I realized the nursing profession would drain, restore, and capture me forever.

It was midnight. I was in charge and the only RN in the nursery, when an emergency cesarean birth was called for fetal distress. I notified the pediatrician, picked up the necessary supplies, and headed for the operating room to set up for a potential high risk newborn.

Everything happened in split seconds. The baby was handed to me; I instantly knew there were problems. The baby survived, but she had more gross congenital anomalies than I have ever seen in one newborn. Amazingly though, this imperfect newborn was responding well to extracorporeal life.

I returned to the nursery with the baby while the pediatrician went to talk with the father. When they returned, the father knew his firstborn child would not live very long, hours, maybe a few days, but definitely not long. He looked as though he wanted to run away as the pediatrician explained each anomaly.

I could not stand it. The situation had to be altered, and I realized I was the one to do it. I wrapped the baby with only her face and hands showing, pulled the father into a rocking chair and placed his daughter in his arms. The love he had been guarding against feeling, hurt. I knelt beside him, pointed out the perfect fingers and perfect face, then remarked about how pretty and contented she looked in his arms. He started talking to her, rocking and crying at the same time. The Daddy twice visited his little girl to touch her, ask questions and cry before his wife was alert and stable enough to "hear the news."

Dad appeared at the nursery door. Confused, shaking, with tears in his eyes, he announced he had told his wife, but she refused to see their daughter. Since it was 4:00 a.m. and the attending physicians were at home sleeping, I quickly realized I needed to talk with the Mom.

I went to her room, introduced myself, sat next to her bed, and explained exactly what she would see with the baby wrapped in the blanket, a perfect little pink face, perfect hands and ten perfect little fingers. That was all she could accept right then, and she allowed me to bring the baby to her. She, like her husband, instantly bonded with her daughter. As we (Dad, Mom, and I) sat together, she slowly opened the blanket to view their baby and began to accept reality. We all cried together.

I went home totally drained and returned the next morning to find the baby still alive, but critical. The only orders were for comfort measures, and she would probably not survive my shift. After assessing the infant, I asked the Mom and Dad if they would like to spend some private time with their daughter. I checked on them frequently then brought the baby back to the nursery so they could rest.
