China as well as published and unpublished material in many languages China's Old Dwellings begins by tracing the interest in Chinese vernacular buildings in the twentieth century Early chapters detail common and distinctive spatial components including the interior and exterior modular spaces that are axiomatic components of most Chinese dwellings as well as conventional structural components and building materials common in Chinese construction Later chapters examine representative housing types in the three broad cultural realms northern southern and western into which China has been divided Knapp completes his survey with an exploration of China's old dwellings in the context of the rapid economic and social changes that are destroying so many of them Courtyard Housing and Cultural Sustainability Donia

Courtyard Xing Ruan, 2021-10-21 For more than three thousand years Chinese life from the city and the imperial palace to the temple the market and the family home was configured around the courtyard So too were the accomplishments of China's
