Faculty and Other Professional Staff in Institutions of Higher Education , 1959 Qualitative Research Methods in Education and Educational Technology Jerry W. Willis, 2008-10-01 Qualitative Research Methods in Education and Educational Technology was written for students and scholars interested in exploring the many qualitative methods developed over the last 50 years in the social sciences The book does not stop however at the boundaries of the social sciences Social scientists now consume and use research methods from many fields The rich resources of research methods and theories from both the humanities and philosophy are also covered in this book It explains why postpositivist quantitative research should not be the only game in town and provides solid theoretical foundations beginning with the positions of Plato and Aristotle for broadening our horizons about what warrants our attention Using Aristotle s concept of phronesis the author shows why methods such as narrative research and storytelling hermeneutic inquiry literary theory philosophical inquiry and much more have important applications in education and educational technology On those foundations the author also builds a framework for doing many types of research from participatory action research to content analysis to postmodern case studies to empowerment research and philosophical inquiry He accomplishes this through a combination of original text summaries of exemplary research in education and educational technology and suggested readings that are annotated and introduced at the end of each chapter Many of these readings are available online and they extend the discussion of research methods or serve as exemplars of a particular type of educational technology research There are open ended and conceptual questions for each reading and developing your own answers to them is one way you can extend your depth of understanding about qualitative research methods in education and educational technology Resources in

Education ,2000-10 International Educational Innovation and Public Sector Entrepreneurship Alexander W. Wiseman,2014-01-10 This volume in the International Perspectives on Education and Society Series focuses on the ways that social entrepreneurs innovatively contribute to the development and implementation of education worldwide The Central Government-Funded Teacher Education Policy in China Yi Liu,2023-10-20 This book utilises expectancy value theory and undermining effect of extrinsic reward theory to examine the impact of the Central Government Funded Teacher Education CGFTE policy on Chinese pre service teachers motivations for choosing the teaching profession Quantitative data analysis revealed six distinct categories of motivations to teach teacher influence job advantages extrinsic social value altruistic personal interest intrinsic others suggestions and fallback career These categories were further exemplified in ten narrative stories The findings indicate that the CGFTE policy attracts high school graduates with higher intrinsic motivation to enrol in teacher training programs but it seems ineffective in increasing their intrinsic career choice motivation It is argued that the CGFTE policy which emphasises extrinsic benefits but limits professional development does not have a significant negative impact on pre service teachers motivation to choose teaching This conclusion is supported by the offsetting effects of the policy s restrictive and encouraging aspects as explained by expectancy value theory and the qualitative data Nevertheless the intrinsic motivation of policy funded pre service teachers did not improve as much as that of their self supported counterparts indicating potential undermining effects of the policy The study concludes by discussing the implications of these findings for enhancing the CGFTE policy teacher training and career education in China The book will be an essential read for students and scholars of higher education Chinese studies and educational studies in general

Environmental Education in the 21st Century Joy Palmer, 2002-09-11 Environmental education is a field characterised by a paradox Few would doubt the urgency and importance of learning to live in sustainable ways but environmental education holds nowhere near the priority position in formal schooling around the world that this would suggest This text sets out to find out why this is so It is divided into six parts Part 1 is a concise history of the development of environmental education from an international perspective Part 2 is an overview of the global agenda or subject knowledge of environmental education Part 3 introduces perspectives on theory and research in environmental education Part 4 moves on to practice and presents an integrated model for planning environmental education programmes Part 5 brings together invited contributors who talk about environmental education in their own countries from 15 countries including China South Africa Sri Lanka and the USA Part 6 returns to the core questions of how progress can be made and how we can maximise the potential of environmental education for the twenty first century

The Qualitative Dissertation in Education Karri A. Holley, Michael S. Harris, 2019-04-30 The Qualitative Dissertation in Education focuses on the experiences of students pursuing a doctorate in education and writing a qualitative dissertation The literature on qualitative research has grown substantially over the past 25 years but methods books often fail to consider the unique situations and resources available to students pursuing a professional doctorate This book examines the entirety of the dissertation experience walking readers through the process with examples and guidelines The structure of the book outlines each chapter of the dissertation as well as the necessary steps to start and complete the dissertation such as working with a faculty chair and committee developing a peer support group and organizing literature Not only does the book cover each stage of the dissertation process it also provides practical guidance on topics such as productivity with exercises and resources to help students overcome obstacles and make progress in their writing The Qualitative Dissertation in Education provides a foundation to understand both the basics of qualitative research and the expectations of the EdD dissertation Technology, Curriculum, and Professional Development John Woodward, Larry Cuban, 2001 The 11 papers in this collection address various aspects of the adoption and implementation of technology in the education of students with disabilities An introduction by David B Malouf of the Office of Special Education Programs introduces the collection The following papers are included 1 No Easy Answer The Instructional Effectiveness of Technology for Students with Disabilities John Woodward Deborah Gallagher and Herbert Rieth 2 It Can t Hurt Implementing AAC Technology in the Classroom for Students with Severe and Multiple Disabilities Bonnie Todis 3 Preparing Future Citizens Technology Supported Project Based Learning in the Social Studies Cynthia M Okolo and Ralph P Ferretti 4 ClassWide Peer Tutoring Program A Learning Management System Charles R Greenwood Liang Shye Hou Joseph Delquadri Barbara J Terry and Carmen Arreaga Mayer 5 Sustaining a Curriculum Innovation Cases of Make It Happen Judith M Zorfass 6 Technology Implementation in Special Education Understanding Teachers Beliefs Plans and Decisions Charles A MacArthur 7 Why Are Most Teachers Infrequent and Restrained Users of Computers in Their Classroom Larry Cuban 8 Designing Technology Professional Development Programs A Edward Blackhurst 9 The Construction of Knowledge in a Collaborative Community Reflections on Three Projects Carol Sue Englert and Yong Zhao 10 The Rise and Fall of the Community Transition Team Model Andrew S Halpern and Michael R Benz and 11 How Does Technology Support a Special Education Agenda Using What We Have Learned To Inform the Future Marleen C Pugach and Cynthia L Warger Individual papers contain references DB

Surgical Education Heather Fry, Roger Kneebone, 2011-08-29 Surgical Education Theorising an Emerging Domain delineates surgical as opposed to medical education as a new and emerging field of academic enquiry This reflects profound changes in healthcare training and practice on an international basis As such this book introduces examines and explores the contribution of selected concepts and theories to surgical learning and practice The first four chapters consider core facets of surgical education such as simulation while subsequent chapters take a key idea often well known in another field and examine its relevance to surgical education Of course performing invasive procedures is no longer the exclusive preserve of traditional surgeons Boundaries between surgery and the interventional specialties radiology cardiology intensive care are becoming increasingly blurred especially as technology continues to expand Changing work patterns and explosive technological development mark this out as a major growth area New educational approaches e g the use of simulation are emerging And all clinical practice is a team activity where clinicians from many specialties medicine nursing allied professions come together with shared goals For all the above groups and their patients education teaching training learning and assessment is of crucial importance Yet the unique characteristics of surgical education have not previously been addressed from an educational perspective nor have its possibilities as a new research domain been mapped The domain needs to be theorised and its epistemological foundations established There is thus both a need and a market for a definitive work in this area aimed at surgeons other clinicians non clinicians educators and others interested in this new domain
