of early Christianity in south west Britain from the fourth to the tenth centuries a rich period which includes the transition from Roman to native British to Saxon models of church The book will be based on evidence from archaeological excavations early texts and recent critical scholarship and cover Wessex Devon and Cornwall In the south west Wessex provides the greatest evidence of Roman Christianity The fifth century Dorset villas of Frampton and Hinton St Mary with their complex baptistery mosaics indicate the presence of sophisticated Christian house churches The fact that these two Roman villas are only 15 miles apart suggests a network of small Christian communities in this region The author uses evidence from St Patrick's fifth century Confessions to describe how members of a villa house church lived Wessex was slowly Christianised in Gloucestershire the pagan healing sanctuary at Chedworth provides evidence of later use as a Christian baptistery at Bradford on Avon in Wiltshire a baptistery was dug into the mosaic floor of an imposing villa which may by then have been owned by a bishop In Somerset a number of recently excavated sites demonstrate the transition from a pagan temple to a Christian church Beside the pagan temple at Lamyatt later female burials suggest unusually a small monastic group of women Wells cathedral grew beside the site of a Roman villa s funeral chapel In Street a large oval enclosure indicates the probable site of a Celtic monastery Early Christian cemeteries have been excavated at Shepton Mallet and elsewhere Lundy Island off the Devon coast provides evidence of a Celtic monastery with its inscribed stones that commemorate early monks At Exeter a Saxon anthology includes numerous riddles one of which describes in detail the production of an illuminated manuscript in a south western monastery Oliver Padel s meticulous documentation of Cornish place names has demonstrated that of all the Celtic regions Cornwall has by far the highest number of dedications to a single otherwise unknown individual typically consisting of a small church and a farm by the sea These small monastic cells have hitherto received little attention as a model of church in early British Christianity and the latter part of the text focuses on various aspects of this model as lived out in coastal and in upland settlements on islands and in relation to larger Breton monasteries Study of 60 Breton sites has demonstrated possible connections between larger Breton monasteries and smaller Cornish cells Freedom and Authority in Religious Education Brian Gates, 2016-10-06 This fascinating collection of essays examines religious experience and tradition The first part focuses on the nature and sources of authority in each of six major religions and considers how freedom is perceived by them It goes on to examine the religious contexts of two examples of nations divided within themselves Northern Ireland and Israel The second part of the book looks at the process of education the tensions between freedom and authority and their implications for religious education Ascend Eric Stoltz.Vince Tomkovicz, 2009 This book is a contemporary scripture rich and visual exploration of the Catholic faith for young adults There are chapter profiles on Christian role models from both ancient and modern times and discussions of contemporary events from a Christian perspective Adapted from back cover Saintly Companions Vincent J. O'Malley, 1995 A compendium of saints companions whose supportive relationships led to sanctity Vincentian Heritage ,2001 A Tremor of Bliss

Paul Elie,1994 In these essays the saints appear as paradoxes like T S Eliot s St Thomas Becket they have felt a tremor of bliss but they must fight all too mortal battles with despair social indifference and hardness of heart
