Reel Civil War Mythmaking In American Film:

The Reel Civil War Bruce Chadwick, 2002-12-03 During the late nineteenth century magazines newspapers novelists and even historians presented a revised version of the Civil War that intending to reconcile the former foes downplayed the issues of slavery and racial injustice and often promoted and reinforced the worst racial stereotypes The Reel Civil War tells the history of how these misrepresentations of history made their way into movies More than 800 films have been made about the Civil War Citing such classics as Birth of a Nation and Gone With the Wind as well as many other films Bruce Chadwick shows how most of them have until recently projected an image of gallant soldiers beautiful belles sprawling plantations and docile or dangerous slaves He demonstrates how the movies aided and abetted racism and an inaccurate view of American history providing a revealing and important account of the power of cinema to shape our understanding of historical truth

Reel Civil War: Mythmaking in American Film Bruce Chadwick, 2002-12 In this landmark study cultural historian Bruce Chadwick traces the ways in which American film including such classics as Birth of a Nation and Gone With the Wind has consistently misrepresented history The Civil War has been depicted on film more than any other event in American history But until recently the war itself was more often portrayed as a misunderstanding between gentlemen than as the great national cataclysm it was Movie after movie has diminished or ignored the impact of slavery and romanticized the cause of the Confederacy Revealing how these distortions became accepted as essentially true by an ill informed public this is a fascinating portrait of the power of film to shape our understanding of history sure to appeal to film and history buffs alike

Writing History with Lightning

Matthew Christopher Hulbert, John C. Inscoe, 2019-02-05 Films possess virtually unlimited power for crafting broad interpretations of American history Nineteenth century America has proven especially conducive to Hollywood imaginations producing indelible images like the plight of Davy Crockett and the defenders of the Alamo Pickett's doomed charge at Gettysburg the proliferation and destruction of plantation slavery in the American South Custer's fateful decision to divide his forces at Little Big Horn and the onset of immigration and industrialization that saw Old World lifestyles and customs dissolve amid rapidly changing environments Balancing historical nuance with passion for cinematic narratives Writing History with Lightning confronts how movies about nineteenth century America influence the ways in which mass audiences remember understand and envision the nation's past In these twenty six essays divided by the editors into sections on topics like frontiers slavery the Civil War the Lost Cause and the West notable historians engage with films and the historical events they ostensibly depict Instead of just separating fact from fiction the essays contemplate the extent to which movies generate and promulgate collective memories of American history Along with new takes on familiar classics like Young Mr Lincoln and They Died with Their Boots On the volume covers several films released in recent years including The Revenant 12 Years a Slave The Birth of a Nation Free State of Jones and The Hateful Eight The authors address Hollywood epics like The Alamo and Amistad arguing that these movies flatten the historical record to promote nationalist visions The contributors also examine overlooked films like Hester Street and Daughters of the Dust considering their portraits of marginalized communities as transformative perspectives on American culture By surveying films about nineteenth century America Writing History with Lightning analyzes how movies create popular understandings of American history and why those interpretations change over time
