Reference to Abstract Objects in Discourse Nicholas Asher, 1993-04-30 This volume is about abstract objects and the ways we refer to them in natural language Asher develops a semantical and metaphysical analysis of these entities in two stages The first reflects the rich ontology of abstract objects necessitated by the forms of language in which we think and speak A second level of analysis maps the ontology of natural language metaphysics onto a sparser domain a more systematic realm of abstract objects that are fully analyzed This second level reflects the commitments of real metaphysics The models for these commitments assign truth conditions to natural language discourse Annotation copyright by Book News Inc Portland OR

The Grammar-Pragmatics Interface Nancy Hedberg, Ron Zacharski, 2007-05-15 This collection of papers celebrates the work of Jeanette K Gundel who has contributed to the field of the grammar pragmatics interface through her publications on the syntactic realization of topic and comment and the cognitive status of referring expressions as well as by inspiring colleagues to make contributions to the overall field of pragmatics This volume collects together papers from colleagues and former students on pragmatics and syntax pragmatics and reference and pragmatics and social variables The volume includes papers devoted to explicating the grammar pragmatics interface with the focus of the papers ranging from Gricean and post Gricean pragmatics construction grammar and genre theory to formal semantics as well as papers devoted to expanding on Gundel's own original approach to factors such as the cognitive status decisions underlying speakers choice of referring expression and the topic and focus decisions underlying speakers choice of syntactic construction

Cross-Linguistic Semantics Cliff Goddard, 2008-04-10 Cross linguistic semantics investigating how languages package and express meanings differently is central to the linguistic quest to understand the nature of human language This set of studies explores and demonstrates cross linguistic semantics as practised in the natural semantic metalanguage NSM framework originated by Anna Wierzbicka The opening chapters give a state of the art overview of the NSM model propose several theoretical innovations and advance a number of original analyses in connection with names and naming clefts and other specificational sentences and discourse anaphora Subsequent chapters describe and analyse diverse phenomena in ten languages from multiple families geographical locations and cultural settings around the globe Three substantial studies document how the metalanguage of NSM semantic primes can be realised in languages of widely differing types Amharic Ethiopia Korean and East Cree Each constitutes a lexicogrammatical portrait in miniature of the language concerned Other chapters probe topics such as inalienable possession in Koromu Papua New Guinea epistemic verbs in Swedish hyperpolysemy in Bunuba Australia the expression of momentariness in Berber ethnogeometry in Makasai East Timor value concepts in Russian and virtuous emotions in Japanese This book will be valuable for linguists working on language description lexical semantics or the semantics of grammar for advanced students of linguistics and for others interested in language universals and language diversity

God and Abstract Objects William Lane Craig, 2017-09-05 This book is an exploration and defense of the coherence of classical theism's doctrine of divine aseity in the face of the challenge posed by Platonism with respect to abstract objects. A synoptic work in analytic philosophy of religion, the book engages discussions in philosophy of mathematics, philosophy of language, metaphysics, and metaontology. It addresses absolute creationism, non-Platonic realism, fictionalism, neutralism, and alternative logics and semantics among other topics. The book offers a helpful taxonomy of the wide range of options available to the classical theist for dealing with the challenge of Platonism. It probes in detail the diverse views on the reality of abstract objects and their compatibility with classical theism. It contains a most thorough discussion rooted in careful exegesis of the biblical and patristic basis of the doctrine of divine aseity. Finally, it challenges the influential Quinean metaontological theses concerning the way in which we make ontological commitments.

Abstract Entity Anaphora in Argumentative Texts Donghong Liu, 2023-08-21. This book focuses on abstract entity anaphora in argumentative texts with Asher's 1993 Segmented Discourse Representation Theory (SDRT) as the theoretical framework, investigating its pragmatic features and exploring its referent interpretation. The data sources include more than 160,000 word argumentative texts, 80,000 word English texts, and 80,000 word Chinese ones selected from newspapers, journals, and books in China and America. At first, a comparative study was done between Chinese and English argumentative texts so as to compare the pragmatic features of abstract entity anaphora in the two languages. Then referent interpretation is explored within the SDRT framework. Although SDRT can account for most of the instances of abstract entity anaphora, it appears incompetent in dealing with some phenomena in the data of our study. Seven problems in SDRT were found, and corresponding solutions were proposed in an attempt to improve this theory. In general, this book has three aspects of significance. Firstly, it establishes abstract entity anaphora as an independent and a special kind of anaphora. Secondly, the research methods are the combination of empirical study and theoretical hypotheses, as well as the coalescent of dynamic study and static study. Thirdly, the book is not limited to the application of SDRT to Mandarin Chinese and backward anaphora. Instead, based on the linguistic phenomena in the data, it challenges and improves the theory and it even negates some aspects and meanwhile brings forward new solutions.

The book presents a wealth of state-of-the-art research and development results from the field of natural language processing with emphasis on text, speech, and spoken language.

The Logiphro Dilemma James C. McGlothlin, 2017-01-10. Is God above logic? If so, is he irrational? Is God subservient to logic? If so, is he really omnipotent? These questions are similar to Socrates' famous challenge to explaining God's relation to morality, the so-called Euthyphro dilemma. In this book, McGlothlin argues that the Euthyphro challenge can be extended to help explain the relationship between God and logic, what he calls the Logiphro dilemma. Logic, on this account, depends on aspects of God's mind other than God's will. This is a nonstandard form of theistic logical dependence. It contrasts both with the standard form of theistic logical dependence according to which logic depends on God's will and with theistic logical independence according to which logic is independent of God. These rival views can be seen as the horns of the Logiphro dilemma: either logic depends on God's will in which case special revelation would no longer be communicable or logic is independent of God in which case core claims of classical theism, for example that God is the only independent being, would be violated. The best way to escape both of these horns according to McGlothlin is to adopt the nonstandard form of theistic logical dependence.

Anaphora Processing António Branco, Tony McEnery, Ruslan Mitkov, 2005-01-27 Anaphora processing is a central topic in the study of natural language and has long been the object of research in a wide range of disciplines. The correct interpretation of anaphora has also become increasingly important for real world natural language processing applications including machine translation, automatic abstracting, information extraction and question answering. This volume provides a unique overview of the processing of anaphora from a multi and inter disciplinary angle. It will be of interest and practical use to readers from fields as diverse as theoretical linguistics, corpus linguistics, computational linguistics, computer science, natural language processing, artificial intelligence, human language technology, psycholinguistics, cognitive science and translation studies. The readership includes but is not limited to university lecturers, researchers, postgraduate and senior undergraduate students.

Brandial '06 David Schlangen, Raquel Fernández, 2006 Dialogue Analysis: Units, relations and strategies beyond the sentence Edda Weigand, Eckhard Hauenherm, 2011-07-13 The topic of this volume was discussed at a Round Table of the International Association for Dialogue Analysis (IADA) at the University of Bologna in March 1995. The Round Table was intended to make a scientific contribution in honour of the president's 65th birthday. The topic refers on the one hand to the central problem of Dialogue Analysis which is to discover a new communicatively functioning unit after having left behind the unit of the sentence which can be considered the unit par excellence of structural linguistics. On the other hand it includes the manifold units, relations and strategies, i.e. the specific problems of dialogue analysis.

Falguera, Concha Martínez-Vidal, 2025-12-02 This book offers an overview of recent discussions on deflationary approaches to ontology and abstract objects. The essays compiled in this volume constitute previously unpublished original material aiming at exploring current ideas on deflationary approaches to ontology and their relationship to abstract objects, covering issues ranging from the ontology of mathematics and scientific theories to the semantics of fictional expressions and possible worlds. The complete volume represents a contribution to current debates on the nature and epistemology of abstract entities. Its target audience comprises researchers, professionals, lecturers and students of philosophy, mainly with interests in metaphysics, ontology and metaontology.

Indispensability A. C. Paseau, Alan Baker, 2023-06-08 Our best scientific theories explain a wide range of empirical phenomena make accurate predictions and are widely believed Since many of these theories make ample use of mathematics it is natural to see them as confirming its truth Perhaps the use of mathematics in science even gives us reason to believe in the existence of abstract mathematical objects such as numbers and sets These issues lie at the heart of the Indispensability Argument to which this Element is devoted The Element's first half traces the evolution of the Indispensability Argument from its origins in Quine and Putnam's works taking in naturalism confirmational holism Field's program and the use of idealisations in science along the way Its second half examines the explanatory version of the Indispensability Argument and focuses on several more recent versions of easy road and hard road fictionalism respectively
