Reforming Agriculture The World Bank Goes To Market:

Reforming Agriculture Jacob Meerman, 1997-01-01 Evaluates the World Bank's experience with the fifty agricultural adjustment operations approved since 1979 and reflects the impact on Bank programming of a worldwide shift in the development paradigm P i Reforming Agriculture Jacob Meerman, Banco Mundial, 1997 Reforming agricultural markets in Africa Kherallah, Mylene, Delgado, Christopher L., Gabre-Madhin, Eleni Z., Minot, Nicholas, Johnson, Michael, 2002-01-01 The long term reduction of hunger and poverty in Sub Saharan Africa remains one of the great challenges for the international development community Eliminating hunger and promoting widespread growth in the region inevitably involves agriculture given its central role in the region's economies Over the past 20 years most African governments have carried out reforms to deregulate agricultural markets and reduce the role of state enterprises How much has the state actually withdrawn from agricultural markets Have well functioning private markets emerged How successful were these reforms in boosting agricultural production economic growth and the incomes of the rural poor What lessons can we learn from the reform process The authors of this book address these questions through an analysis based on an extensive review of experiences with reform focusing on three major agricultural markets fertilizer food crops and export crops They examine the historical rationales for intervention the factors contributing to reform the process of implementation and the impact of the reforms on farmers and consumers in Sub Saharan Africa The authors find that reforms have had many favorable results but that the impact has been muted by partial implementation and structural constraints They propose a new agenda for promoting the development of agricultural markets in Sub Saharan Africa identifying areas where governments can play a supportive role They argue that appropriate agricultural marketing policies and investments can improve livelihoods and the economic health of the region Analyzing the Distributional Impact of Reforms: A practitioner's guide to trade, monetary and exchange rate policy, utility provision, agricultural markets, land policy, and education World Bank, 2005 This publication is a practitioner's guide for analyzing the distributional impact of reforms to trade monetary and exchange rate policy utility provision agricultural markets land policy and education These six areas of policy reform are the ones most likely to have an impact on distribution and poverty Such analysis helps in policy formulation and development and for implementing poverty reduction strategies in developing countries Each chapter in this volume provides an overview and guidance on the specific issues arising in the analysis of the distributional impacts of policy and institutional reforms in selected sectors Assessing World Bank Support for Trade, 1987-2004 Yvonne Manu Tsikata, 2006-03-14 An independent evaluation of the World Bank's extensive support to developing countries on trade issues between 1987 and 2004 The study assesses the development effectiveness of World Bank trade related advocacy capacity building lending and research It examines the extent to which the Bank's policies and assistance have met its stated objectives in the area of trade and makes recommendations to strengthen the effectiveness of future Bank trade assistance

Bridging Troubled Waters George Keith Pitman, 2002-01-01 Today 166 million people in 18 countries lack access to adequate water resources and it is estimated that by 2025 the number of people affected will increase to approximately three billion or 40 per cent of the world's population. There is now an international consensus that the severity of the problem requires a strategic approach that emphasises the equitable and sustainable management of water resources. This report examines the implementation of the World Bank's 1993 Water Resources Management policy and evaluates the effectiveness of strategies adopted which seek to address identified problems. It also makes recommendations for improving World Bank policy and strategy in the water sector.

Power for Development Fernando Reyes Manibog, Rafael Dominguez, Stephan Wegner, 2003-01-01 This publication evaluates the performance of the World Bank Group (WBG) during the 1990s in promoting private sector development in the electric power sector in 80 countries. Main findings include that where countries showed a commitment to advancing reforms in promoting private sector development and where programmes were properly implemented the expected benefits were delivered. However, quality of outcomes depended on the objectives pursued and on types of assistance provided, with most countries remaining in the early stages of reform.

The Next Ascent Ridley Nelson, 2002-01-01 The Aga Khan Rural Support Program (AKRSP) in northern Pakistan has become a model for rural development programmes throughout the country and worldwide. This is the fourth independent evaluation of the AKRSP by the World Bank which seeks to assess how the programme can best meet present and future challenges and development needs. The assessment covers the period since the programme's initiation in 1982 as well as the period since the last evaluation in 1995. It concentrates on four programme components: community organisations, infrastructure development, natural resource management and microfinance.

Promoting Environmental Sustainability in Development Andrés Liebenthal, 2002-01-01 OED's evaluation has been timed to inform the preparation of the new Environment Strategy Paper. The evaluation is based on the synthesis of self-evaluation assessments, case studies of selected countries, background reviews of selected areas, surveys and interviews of Bank staff and consultations with stakeholders in four regions. An Advisory Panel reviewed drafts and served as a sounding board for the recommendations. A concluding Workshop on the Bank's Environment Strategy and OED's Environment Review provided an opportunity for participants to comment on the Review findings and on the draft Environment Strategy and to discuss next steps in implementation. In addition to OED's Review, we are pleased to share with you the report of OED's Advisory Panel and the Facilitator's Summary of the concluding workshop.

Assisting Russia's Transition Gianni Zanini, 2002-01-01 This evaluation assesses the development effectiveness of the World Bank's lending and non-lending assistance to the Russian Federation since 1991, a 10-year period of tumultuous political, economic and social change. This report concludes that an assistance strategy concentrating on analytical and advisory services with limited financial support for Russia would have been more appropriate than one involving large volumes of adjustment lending.
