Refracting the Canon in Contemporary British Literature and Film Susana Onega Jaén, Christian Gutleben, 2004

Contemporary works of art that remodel the canon not only create complex hybrid and plural products but also alter our perceptions and understanding of their source texts This is the dual process referred to in this volume as refraction that the essays collected here set out to discuss and analyse by focusing on the dialectic rapport between postmodernism and the canon What is sought in many of the essays is a redefinition of postmodernist art and a re examination of the canon in the light of contemporary epistemology Given this dual process this volume will be of value both to everyone interested in contemporary art particularly fiction drama and film and also to readers whose aim it is to promote a better appreciation of canonical British literature

Notional Identities Thomas Christie, 2014-07-18 Notional Identities takes up the challenge of engaging with the popular genres of speculative fiction and crime fiction by Scottish authors from the mid 1970s until the beginning of the twenty first century examining a variety of significant novels from across the decades in the light of wider considerations of ideology genre and national identity The book investigates the extent to which the national political and cultural climate of this tumultuous era informed the narrative form and social commentary of such works and considers the manner in which and the extent to which a specific and identifiably Scottish response to these ideological matters can be identified in popular prose fiction during the period under discussion Although Scottish literary fiction of recent decades has been studied in considerable depth Scottish popular genre literature has received markedly less critical scrutiny in comparison Notional Identities aims to help in redressing this balance examining popular Scottish texts of the stated period in order to reflect upon whether a significant relationship can be discerned between genre fiction and the mainstream of Scottish literary writing and to consider the characteristics of the literary connections which exist between these different modes of writing

Yebra, 2020-01-28 This is the first book on Naomi Alderman's literary production and highlights the writer's transcultural recasting of British and Jewish traditions The four novels analysed here prove to be relevant not only from a literary viewpoint but also from the fields of ethics spirituality and politics The analysis thus focuses on issues such as alterity and respect towards the other in a globalized context As such the book will be of interest to literary critics researchers and students in the fields of literature ethics and social and cultural studies The reader will find in the text a comprehensive approach to a young writer who undoubtedly deserves attention given her interrogation of varied and socially relevant topics including gender and sexual orientation in the early twenty first century the rewriting of the Sacred Scriptures and the discourse of feminist posthuman dystopias

New Literatures of Old Dídac Llorens-Cubedo, José Ramón Prado-Pérez, 2009-05-27 Artistic creativity is fuelled by the permanent interaction among artistic forms cultures societies and eventually different individuals in the form of an all inclusive intertextuality The dialogues between the past and the present help the artist examine his own art making him conscious of his position in the field whether through self evaluation renewal or experiment with new textualities This book explores how the strategies reflecting the exchanges between past and present modes of artistic production become active agents of intervention in creating the various spaces of dialogue and confrontation when establishing the identities and cultural specificity of a certain society or community
