Regeneration And Plasticity In The Mammalian Visual System:

Regeneration and Plasticity in the Mammalian Visual System Dominic Man-Kit Lam, Garth M. Bray, 1992 This fourth volume in the Retina Research Foundation Symposia Proceedings highlights several of the strategies and experimental paradigms that are currently used to exploit and amplify the regenerative capacity of the adult mammalian visual system and reviews the exciting advances being made in understanding the molecular basis of central nervous system regeneration. Because loss of neurons or interruptions of their connective pathways in the mammalian visual system can in contrast to certain amphibians and fish lead to permanent loss of vision, studies of regeneration and plasticity in this system serve as valuable models for the reconstitution of other parts of the nervous system and as potential approaches to the diverse disorders that lead to visual loss. Dominic Man Kit Lam is Director of the Center for Biotechnology and Professor of Biotechnology, Cell Biology and Ophthalmology at Baylor College of Medicine. Garth M Bray is Professor in the Centre for Research in Neuroscience at McGill University. Howard, 2012-01-27 The three volume work Perceiving in Depth is a sequel to Binocular Vision and Stereopsis and to Seeing in Depth both by Ian P Howard and Brian J Rogers. This work is much broader in scope than the previous books and includes mechanisms of depth perception by all senses including aural, electrosensory organs and the somatosensory system. Volume 1 reviews sensory coding, psychophysical and analytic procedures and basic visual mechanisms. Volume 2 reviews stereoscopic vision. Volume 3 reviews all mechanisms of depth perception other than stereoscopic vision. The three volumes are extensively illustrated and referenced and provide the most detailed review of all aspects of perceiving the three dimensional world. Volume 1 starts with a review of the history of visual science from the ancient Greeks to the early 20th century with special attention devoted to the discovery of the principles of perspective and stereoscopic vision. The first chapter also contains an account of early visual display systems such as panoramas and peepshows and the development of stereoscopes and stereophotography. A chapter on the psychophysical and analytic procedures used in investigations of depth perception is followed by a chapter on sensory coding and the geometry of visual
