This volume examines the power relationships between the rulers of the Late Bronze and Iron Age and their subjects in the Levant through the lens of cultural hegemony It explores the impact of these foreign powers on all social classes and reconstructs the public presence of cultural control The book serves to determine the impact of foreign control on the daily lives of those living in the ancient Levant and offers a means by which to attempt to discuss non elites in the ancient Near East It examines expressions of foreign ideology within public performance such as religious expressions and in public places observable by all social classes which assert control or dominance over local identity markers In utilizing textual epigraphic and archaeological records it paints a more complete picture of Levantine society during this time while also drawing upon evidence from neighbouring Anatolia Egypt and Mesopotamia This is a fascinating resource for students and scholars of the ancient Near East particularly the Levant but also Anatolia Egypt and Mesopotamia in the Late Bronze and Iron Age periods It is also useful for scholars working on power and imperialism across history Spanish Fiction in the Digital Age C.
