Bloomington and Normal have grown from small pioneer settlements into the Twin Cities of central Illinois linked by their proximity and shared history Surviving and rebuilding after a devastating fire in 1900 the area has continued to grow and prosper It is home to many businesses including State Farm the nation's largest auto and homeowners insurance company The vintage postcards in this collection feature the delights and difficulties of Bloomington Normal at the turn of the century These images capture historic events such as the Street Car Strike of 1917 in which workers took their demands to the streets The businesses that closed up shop years ago are opened again through these historic postcards many of which were originally produced by Bloomington based postcard publisher C U Williams Pekin and Tremont, Illinois in Vintage Postcards Donald L. Church, Ill, New England Society of Rockford, 2015-02-24 This is a curated and comprehensive collection of the most important works covering matters related to national security diplomacy defense war strategy and tactics The collection spans centuries of thought and experience and includes the latest analysis of international threats both conventional and asymmetric It also includes riveting first person accounts of historic battles and wars Some of the books in this Series are reproductions of historical works preserved by some of the leading libraries in the world As with any reproduction of a historical artifact some of these books contain missing or blurred pages poor pictures errant marks etc We believe these books are essential to this collection and the study of war and have therefore brought them back into print despite these imperfections We hope you enjoy the unmatched breadth and depth of this collection from the historical to the just published works Westfield in Vintage Postcards Joan B. Around Little Rock Steven G. Hanley,Ray Hanley,1998-06-01 During the Golden Age of Postcards a craze that swept the nation in the early 1900s postcard photographers captured images of everyday life in small towns all over the country In this tradition its creators unknowingly produced an invaluable archive of historical data that gives us a glimpse of the way life used to be It'll All Be Over by Christmas John Paul Wilton,2022-08 The cards in It ll All Be Over By Christmas help to paint a picture of war as experienced by those at home in training at the front in hospital and in convalescent camps There are cards from fathers who wrote to wives and children and sons who wrote to family friends and loved ones Men at the front who received parcels from home and from well wishers All this is revealed by the writings on cards sent during the war years The degree of support for the war effort is shown by the sending of comforts to the men at the front by family charitable organizations and the general public encouraged by newspapers and magazines We see the willingness of the population to help fund the war through War Bonds and collections as well as the practical service they were prepared to provide by working in the factories and on the farms with women showing that they could do much more than just knit socks On a lighter note accounts of times of rest and relaxation fill many cards sent when the soldiers were back from the firing line and had time to enjoy the countryside and even eat cherries
