Richard Harding, 2005 This book explores innovation within the Royal Navy from the financial constraints of the 1930s through to the refocusing of the Royal Navy after 1990 The Royal Navy 1930-1990 Richard Harding, 2004-11-25 This book explores innovation within the Royal Navy from the financial constraints of the 1930s through to the refocusing of the Royal Navy after 1990 The Royal Navy in the Cold War Years, 1966-1990 Edward Hampshire, 2024-07-30 During the period covered by this new book the Royal Navy faced some of its greatest challenges both at sea confronting the increasingly capable and impressive Soviet Navy and on shore when it faced policy crises that threatened the survival of much of the fleet During this remarkable period the Navy had rarely been so focussed on a single theater of war the Eastern Atlantic but also rarely so politically vulnerable The author sets out to analyze shadowing operations and confrontations at sea with Soviet ships and submarines the Navy's role in the enormous NATO and Warsaw Pact naval exercises that acted out potential war scenarios individual operations from the Falklands and the 1990 91 Gulf War to the Beira and Armilla patrols the development of advanced naval technologies to counter Soviet capabilities policy making controversies as the three services fought for resources including the controversial 1981 Nott defense review and what life was like in the Cold War navy for ratings and officers The book the first to cover this subject in depth for more than thirty years will make use of the full range of archival sources that have been publicly available over the last two decades but of which little use has been made by historians This work is destined to become a definitive naval history of the period and also provide a fascinating and gripping narrative of a navy under threat from many directions but which survived and eventually prospered winning a remarkable victory in the far South Atlantic more than 7 000 miles from its expected battleground in the North Atlantic Elegantly written for a wide audience it will be a very significant volume for professional and enthusiast alike The Royal Navy and Maritime Power in the Twentieth Century Ian Speller, 2004-08-02 This book adopts an innovative new approach to examine the role of maritime power and the utility of navies. It uses a number of case studies based upon key Royal Navy operations in the twentieth century to draw out enduring principles about maritime power and to examine the strengths and limitations of maritime forces as instruments of national policy. Individual chapters focus on campaigns and operations from both World Wars and a series of post 1945 crises and conflicts from the Palestine Patrol in the 1940s to Royal Navy operations in support of British policy in the 1990s. Each case study demonstrates critical features of maritime power including operations during the transition to war fleet operations in narrow seas logistics submarine operations the impact of air power on maritime operations blockade maritime power projection amphibious warfare jurisdictional disputes and the law of the sea and peace support operations. The contributors to this book all have considerable experience lecturing on these issues at the United Kingdom Joint Services Command and Staff College where maritime campaign analysis is used to teach the principles of maritime power to officers of the Royal Navy. The book combines an authoritative examination of critical Royal Navy operations during the twentieth century with a sophisticated analysis of the nature of maritime power. As such it is of both historical interest and contemporary relevance and will prove equally valuable to academic historians military professionals and the general reader.

British Naval Strategy East of Suez, 1900-2000 Greg

Kennedy, 2004-11-18 Britain's strategic position east of Suez in the twentieth century was a dominant area of interest and had an enormous impact in the overall construction of Great Britain's naval strategic posture.

The British Seaborne Empire Jeremy Black, Professor Jeremy Black, 2004-01-01 Britain's seaborne tradition is used to throw light on the British themselves the people with whom they came into contact and the British perception of empire. The oceans and their shores rather than the mysterious interiors of continents certainly dominated the English perception of the transoceanic world in the sixteenth seventeenth and eighteenth centuries climaxing in the fascination with the Pacific in the age of Captain Cook and continuing into the nineteenth century with Franklin in the Arctic and Ross in the Antarctic. The oceans offered much more than fascination. In England from the late sixteenth century maritime conflict and imperial strength were seen as important to national morale and reputation and without it there would have been no empire or at least not in the form it actually took.

BOOK JACKET Sea Power and the Asia-Pacific Geoffrey Till, Patrick Bratton, 2012-02-07 With particular focus on the Asia Pacific region this book examines the rise and fall of sea powers. In the Asia Pacific region there has been significant expansion of sea based economies together with burgeoning naval power. Many claim that these processes will transform the world's future economic and security relationships. The book addresses the question of to what extent the notion of Asia rising is reflected by and dependent on its developing sea power. A central theme is the Chinese challenge to long term Western maritime ascendancy and what might be the consequences of this. In order to situate current and future developments this book includes chapters which analyse what sea power means and has meant as well as its role both historic and contemporary in the rise and fall of great powers. This book will be of much interest to students of naval power.

G. C. Peden, 2007-02-08 This book integrates strategy technology and economics and presents a new way of looking at twentieth century military history and Britain's decline as a great power G C Peden explores how from the Edwardian era to the 1960s warfare was transformed by a series of innovations including dreadnoughts submarines aircraft tanks radar nuclear weapons and guided missiles He shows that the cost of these new weapons tended to rise more quickly than national income and argues that strategy had to be adapted to take account of both the increased potency of new weapons and the economy's diminishing ability to sustain armed forces of a given size Prior to the development of nuclear weapons British strategy was based on an ability to wear down an enemy through blockade attrition in the First World War and strategic bombing in the Second and therefore power rested as much on economic strength as on armaments      Cold War Britain M. Hopkins, M. Kandiah, G. Staerck, 2002-12-13 Britain and the Cold War 1945-1964 offers new perspectives on ways in which Britain fought the Cold War and illuminates key areas of the policy formulation process It argues that in many ways Britain and the United States perceived and handled the threat posed by the Communist bloc in similar terms nevertheless Britain's continuing global commitments post war economic problems and domestic considerations obliged her on occasion to tackle the threat rather differently      Reader's Guide to Military History Charles Messenger, 2013-10-31 This book contains some 600 entries on a range of topics from ancient Chinese warfare to late 20th century intervention operations Designed for a wide variety of users it encompasses general reviews of aspects of military organization and science as well as specific wars and conflicts The book examines naval and air warfare as well as significant individuals including commanders theorists and war leaders Each entry includes a listing of additional publications on the topic accompanied by an article discussing these publications with reference to their particular emphases strengths and limitations      Naval Power Jeremy Black, 2009-11-20 Man lives on land but the seas of the world are crucial to his lot Focusing on navies as instruments of power and analysing what they indicate about the nature of state systems and cultures all over the world Black provides an overview of the most significant debates within the field Organised into key historical periods and accessibly framed this wide ranging account emphasises the links between past and present throughout the history of naval power      British Amphibious Assault Ships Edward Hampshire, 2019-12-26 Amphibious assault ships have been at the centre of nearly all of Britain's expeditionary campaigns since World War II from the Suez crisis of 1956 to operations as far afield as Borneo 1963-66 the Falklands 1982 Sierra Leone 2000 and Iraq 2003 In major operations such as Suez and the Falklands the use of amphibious assault ships was essential to the military success of the campaigns The Suez Crisis saw two of the Royal Navy's former light fleet carriers converted into commando carriers to specialise in amphibious warfare In the 1960s these were followed by the famous Fearless class ships the first purpose built amphibious assault ships in the Royal Navy With an internal dock headquarters capability and multiple landing craft these Landing Platform Docks were built to project power around the world When the Falklands were invaded HMS Fearless was the key to the successful landing in San Carlos In the 1990s a new generation was ordered the helicopter carrier HMS Ocean and the Albion class LPDs In recent years Ocean Albion and Bulwark have been the largest fighting ships of the Royal Navy and have acted as the navy's flagships as well as being perhaps the most versatile ships in the navy This title is an essential guide to British Amphibious Assault Ships across the decades from the mighty Fearless to the modern Albion Packed with full colour illustrations contemporary photography and detailed analysis this definitive work explores the history development and deployment of the Royal Navy's front line War and Diplomacy Andrew M. Corfield, 2003 The Malayan Emergency the confrontation with Indonesia and the Brunei Revolt are fundamental to an understanding of Southeast Asia during the 20th century This bibliography brings together 4575 sources which should provide useful information for scholars researching these developments and Southeast Asian history in general Sources include books theses newspaper and magazine articles and unpublished manuscripts The British Carrier Strike Fleet after 1945 David Hobbs, 2015-10-30 A comprehensive study of the bittersweet post WWII history of British naval aviation will become a standard reference for its subject Firetrench In 1945 the most powerful fleet in the Royal Navy's history was centered on nine aircraft carriers This book charts the post war fortunes of this potent strike force its decline in the face of diminishing resources its final fall at the hands of uncomprehending politicians and its recent resurrection in the form of the Queen Elizabeth class carriers the largest ships ever built for the Royal Navy After 1945 experts prophesied that nuclear weapons would make conventional forces obsolete but British carrier borne aircraft were almost continuously employed in numerous conflicts as far apart as Korea Egypt the Persian Gulf the South Atlantic East Africa and the Far East often giving successive British Governments options when no others were available In the process the Royal Navy invented many of the techniques and devices crucial to modern carrier operations angled decks steam catapults and deck landing aids while also pioneering novel forms of warfare like helicopter borne assault and tactics for countering such modern plagues as insurgency and terrorism This book combines narratives of these poorly understood operations with a clear analysis of the strategic and political background benefiting from the author's personal experience of both carrier flying and the workings of Whitehall It is an important but largely untold story of renewed significance as Britain once again embraces carrier aviation Makes a timely and welcome appearance will make compelling reading for those with serious concern for our naval affairs St Andrews in Focus
