Role Of Resources In Global Competition:

The Role of Resources in Global Competition John Fahy, 2002 The Role of Resources in Global Competition John Fahy, 2002-09-06 This book looks at the question of how firms attain a sustainable competitive advantage in a global environment characterised by above average levels of geographic scope marketing convergence and cross national interdependencies

The Role of Resources in Global Competition John Fahy, 2001 Dramatic changes are taking place in the world of international business as we move forward in the twenty first century Increasing levels of international trade and foreign direct investment the growth of huge multinational corporations and the emergence of new centres of economic prosperity are all evident Businesses are faced with the challenge of having to survive and succeed in this competitive environment This book looks specifically at the question of how firms attain a sustainable competitive advantage SCA in a global environment characterised by above average levels of geographic scope marketing convergence and cross national interdependencies This work will be of essential interest to academics and researchers in the fields of international strategy and international business

The New Era of Global Competition Daniel Drache, Meric S. Gertler, 1991 The increasing globalization of production and the conservative agenda for market led growth are dramatically affecting the life of the average Canadian and the choices made by social and economic policy makers As Daniel Drache Meric Gertler and the contributing authors show the worldwide reorganization of markets poses new challenges for domestic industry while continental trade initiatives threaten the livelihood of Canadian workers and the stability of communities across all regions of the country Environmental quality is similarly at risk from development strategies driven more by possibilities of short term gain from export sales than by attempts to promote long term sustainability

International Competition for Resources C. P. Andrews-Speed, 2008 April 2008 saw the publication of International Competition for Resources the Role of Law the State and of Markets an edited compilation of papers written for the 30th anniversary of the Centre for Energy Petroleum and Mineral Law and Policy

Global Competition David Gerber, 2012-01-26 A key factor in the emerging relationship between law and economic globalization is how global competition now shapes economies and societies Competition law is provided by those players that have sufficient power to apply their laws transnationally This book examines this important and controversial aspect of globalization

Strategies in Global Competition (RLE International Business) Neil Hood, Jan-Erik Vahlne, 2013-01-04 The main thrust of Part 1 is to give some understanding of the concept of global competition In doing so the chapters rely heavily on industrial studies Part 2 deals with two different aspects of this change viewed from two different perspectives The one is economic and more macro the other political and social and more micro being concerned with the way in which companies have to utilize their various organisational units and integrate information on a fragmented environment into a strategic whole Part 3 deals specifically with technology as the particular segment of the environment which often has the largest impact on future strategies In Part 4 the perspective of global competition is applied at industry country and company levels and it is shown that this perspective adds new dimensions to old problems The final parts address the problem of management in global competition Global Competition United States. President's Commission on Industrial Competitiveness,1985 Global Competition or Convergence? Jan Hornát,Lukáš Kindl,2018-02-01 The dynamics of internal changes in China whether these changes impact its national economy or its political order and distribution of power have imminent influence on its relations with the rest of the world The important and perhaps less treated question vis vis China s rise is how and to what extent do internal changes in China affect its external behavior and thus its relations with the current world hegemon the United States In addition this publication asks what the clash of two politically culturally and economically different internal orders of the US and China will mean for their future interactions in the twenty first century The aim of this publication is not to measure and encompass the entirety of the posed question but rather to provide an incursion into this problem through two specific case studies one focusing on the interactions of two distinct political cultures and the other on the economic geopolitical and ideological interplay of the US and China on the African continent As will be demonstrated incompatible as the two regimes and their respective foreign policies may seem they will not necessarily predestine conflicts in mutual relations As America can well coexist with China even if it does not meet the Western standards of a liberal democracy so does the competition in Africa between these two major powers not have to amount to a zero sum game At the end of the day both countries might meet halfway in their respective political interactions Modern China and International Rules Longyue Zhao,2023-01-13 This book is the final study report of the key project of the National Social Science Foundation of China China and the Reconstruction and Innovation of International Rules in the New Era of Global Value Chain On the basis of a comprehensive analysis of the complex situation of international rule reconstruction and innovation in the new era of the global value chain this book makes an in depth and systematic analysis on six types of international rules namely official export credit rules international competition rules cross border e commerce and digital trade rules ISDS multilateral agreement on investment and international regulatory cooperation It also introduces the theories and practices of China s engagement in the new round of reconstruction and innovation of international rules International Competition Policy Michael A. Utton,2006 This book is a welcome and timely addition to the library of materials exploring the implications of the move from internationalisation of trade towards globalisation Michael Hutchings European Competition Law Review This book provides an excellent introduction to the difficult and important issues surrounding international trade and competition policy Douglas A Irwin Dartmouth College US The opening up of world markets rapid growth of trade and foreign direct investment create manifold problems for competition policy Thus international mergers may have adverse effects on many countries international cartels may carve up world markets and dominant firms may seek to maintain their global position by exclusionary conduct These problems have been recognised for more than half a century and some attempts have been made internationally to address them so far with limited success This progressive book seeks to explore the problems and concerns that globalisation has created for competition policy The book begins by setting out the principles of competition and trade policies and then goes on to address the impact of market globalisation on what are usually thought of as traditional antitrust concerns These include the analysis of the difficulties arising from collusion and other restrictive practices government sponsored voluntary co operation vertical restrictions and market access pricing strategies of dominant firms and international mergers all illustrated with a number of prominent case studies The author concludes with an illuminating discussion on the feasibility of international co operation on competition policy the faltering progress that has been made so far and the prospects for future advances This comprehensive volume will prove to be an invaluable resource to students and scholars of law and economics It will also find wide appeal amongst researchers policy makers and practitioners with an interest in industrial organisation antitrust policy and globalisation The Global Competition for Talent Mobility of the Highly Skilled OECD,2008-09-16
