

School library positions and roles

Teacher Librarian

Teacher librarians are responsible for leading the design, management and evaluation of all aspects of library operations. They teach classes, work with students on information and digital literacy-related tasks, collaborate with teaching staff and lead initiatives to enhance teaching and learning. They are specialists in literature for young people and actively support wellbeing in schools. Teacher librarians possess high-level curriculum knowledge and pedagogical expertise and are qualified to supervise an entire library team.

Other role titles

Teacher in charge of library, Head of library, Library Manager

Qualifications

Teacher librarians hold qualifications that meet eligibility for teacher registration in respective jurisdictions, along with an ASA accredited graduate or post graduate library and information qualification¹ that includes specialisations related to the school library context.

Librarians

Librarians are trained to lead the design, management, and evaluation of all aspects of school library operations with a strong focus on assisting people and organisations. They possess unique skills for developing and managing collections and retrieving information. Librarians are qualified to manage major projects including information technology systems and applications in a resource environment. They are trained to supervise and lead library staff.

Other role titles

Head of Library, Library Manager, School Librarian

Qualifications

Librarians and information managers hold an ASA accredited undergraduate or post graduate university qualification in library and information studies¹.

Library Technicians

Library technicians usually work under the supervision of a teacher librarian or librarian and play a vital role in creating access to school library and information resources. Library technicians have knowledge and skills in cataloguing and the technical management of digital collections, such as ClickView, ebooks, and databases.

A library technician with a Diploma knows how to effectively use the detailed components of Library Management Systems and has knowledge and skills to effectively maintain and promote the school library collection. Library technicians are trained to contribute ideas about library design and user needs and services (both online and physical) and can take the lead in marketing the school library and developing innovations to best support teaching staff, students and the wider school community.

Other role titles

AI/Digital Library Technician

Qualifications

Library technicians hold an ASA accredited Diploma in Library and Information Studies¹, usually delivered through a TAFE institute.

Library Assistant

Library assistants work as part of a service team assisting teacher librarians, teachers, librarians or library technicians with tasks and procedures. Library assistants maintain the library environment, assist students and teachers with how to use information services, provide data entry and undertake general administration and data entry and participate in program delivery where appropriate.

Other role titles

Library Officer, School Support Officer (Library), Education Support Officer (Library), Teacher Aide (Library)

Qualifications

No formal qualification is required for library assistant roles, however many TAFE and private vocational education providers offer Certificate I, II and IV in library and information services that can enhance an individual's skills and employment prospects for this type of position.

The Changing Landscape for the Libraries and Librarians : Issues & Challenges Dr DD Lal,2022-03-11 A smart library is an information center with networks of many libraries and their services in a larger informational ecosystem around the globe The Libraries are adding new digital resources and services while maintaining most of the old traditional resources and services Now the role of libraries information services the relationship between a library and users is changing significantly Traditional services of a library are modified and enhanced in an online environment The proposed book emphasizes the importance for a library to be flexible to changing needs and to adopt new technologies rapidly With the emergence of new technologies the traditional library acting as a medium for sharing information needs an integral refinement in its processes This transformation will bring in efficiency and minimize human error in the processes with the help of smart gates material location finders and smart check out booths to automate the processes of controlling access locating items as well as issuing returning of materials The smart library focuses on the use of technology in a library and is designed to be a very collaborative learning environment where participants are encouraged to contribute ideas and information Smart library improves traditional and non traditional library services improve users library experience and enhance opportunities for students learning Libraries are facing increased expectations from users and challenges of developing technologies including Web 2 0 Web 3 0 ebooks digitations and a problem of archiving digital content Webbased technology provides users and information professionals with powerful and flexible tools for information dissemination

Arts Review ,1986 Public Libraries, Public Policies, and Political Processes Paul T. Jaeger,Ursula Gorham,John Carlo Bertot,Lindsay C. Sarin,2014-04-15 Drawing on two decades of original research conducted by the authors as well as existing research about the intersection of public policy political discourse and public libraries this book seeks to understand the origins and implications of the current standing of public libraries in public policy and political discourse It both explains the complex current circumstances and offers strategies for effectively creating a better future for public libraries The main message is that there is a pressing need for public librarians and other supporters of public libraries to be Aware of the political process and its implications for libraries Attuned to the interrelationships between policy and politics andEngaged in the policy process to articulate the need for policies that support public libraries The style is both scholarly and accessible to general readers with the goal of being useful to students educators researchers practitioners and friends of public libraries in library and information science It will also be usefull for those engaged in areas of public policy government economics and political science who are interested in the relationships between public libraries public policy and political processes Building upon the discussion of the key issues the book offers proposals for professional policy making and political strategies that can strengthen the public library and its ability to meet the needs of individuals and communities The discussion and analysis in the book draw upon data and real world examples from the many studies that the authors have conducted on related topics including libraries outreach to increasingly diverse service populations and efforts to meet community needs through innovative partnerships As the intersection of politics policy and libraries has grown in importance and complexity in recent years the need for a book on their interrelationships is long overdue
