Scarcity Conflicts And Cooperation Essays In The Political And Institutional Economics Of Development:

Scarcity, Conflicts, and Cooperation Pranab Bardhan, 2004-11-05 This wide ranging review of some of the major issues in development economics focuses on the role of economic and political institutions Drawing on the latest findings in institutional economics and political economy Pranab Bardhan a leader in the field of development economics offers a relatively nontechnical discussion of current thinking on these issues from the viewpoint of poor countries synthesizing recent research and reflecting on where we stand today The institutional framework of an economy defines and constrains the opportunities of individuals determines the business climate and shapes the incentives and organizations for collective action on the part of communities Pranab Bardhan finds the institutional framework to be relatively weak in many poor countries Institutional failures weak accountability mechanisms and missed opportunities for cooperative problem solving become the themes of the book with the role of distributive conflicts in the persistence of dysfunctional institutions as a common thread Special issues taken up include the institutions for securing property rights and resolving coordination failures the structural basis of power commitment devices and political accountability the complex relationship between democracy and poverty with examples from India where both have been durable decentralization and devolution of power persistence of corruption ethnic conflicts and impediments to collective action Formal models are largely avoided except in two chapters where Bardhan briefly introduces new models to elucidate currently under researched areas Other chapters review existing models emphasizing the essential ideas rather than the formal details Thus the book will be valuable not only for economists but also for social scientists and policymakers

Scarcity, Conflicts, and Cooperation Pranab K.

Bardhan, 2005 Drawing on the latest findings in institutional economics and political economy this text offers a non technical discussion of current thinking on these issues from the viewpoint of poor countries

Land and Post-Conflict

Peacebuilding Jon Unruh, Rhodri Williams, 2013-07-18 Claims to land and territory are often a cause of conflict and land issues present some of the most contentious problems for post conflict peacebuilding Among the land related problems that emerge during and after conflict are the exploitation of land based resources in the absence of authority the disintegration of property rights and institutions the territorial effect of battlefield gains and losses and population displacement In the wake of violent conflict reconstitution of a viable land rights system is crucial an effective post conflict land policy can foster economic recovery help restore the rule of law and strengthen political stability But the reestablishment of land ownership land use and access rights for individuals and communities is often complicated and problematic and poor land policies can lead to renewed tensions In twenty one chapters by twenty five authors this book considers experiences with and approaches to post conflict land issues in seventeen countries and in varied social and geographic settings Highlighting key concepts that are important for understanding how to address land rights in the wake of armed conflict the book provides a theoretical and practical framework for policy makers researchers practitioners and students Land and Post Conflict Peacebuilding is part of a global initiative to identify and analyze lessons in post conflict peacebuilding and natural resource management The project has generated six edited books of case studies and analyses with contributions from practitioners policy makers and researchers Other books in the series address high value resources water livelihoods assessing and restoring resources and governance The Darfur Conflict Osman Suliman,2011-01-05 Although it is often simplified as an ethnic conflict in popular media the current crisis in Darfur can only be superficially defined across ethnic lines Any long term solution to the conflict must also address the underlying social and environmental influences such as changing resource dynamics expanding poverty lack of infrastructure and political corruption which have brought the crisis to a head This project diverges from previous studies by examining how the dynamic interaction between the environment local governance and national policy in Sudan has resulted in the Darfur crisis It demonstrates how ecological degradation and the breakdown of community governance have destabilized the region and how corruption and incompetence at the national level have culminated in the current crisis Analyzing the interplay of these factors will yield valuable insights as to how a concerned international community can both end the tragic genocide and address the underlying injustices that engendered it The analysis presented will be informative and accessible to a wide readership of students academics and concerned citizens Business
