American Scenes: WPA-Era Prints from the 1930s and 1940s La Salle University Art Museum, 2014 The American Enemy Philippe Roger, 2006-11 Georges Louis Buffon an eighteenth century French scientist was the first to promote the widespread idea that nature in the New World was deficient in America which he had never visited dogs don't bark birds don't sing and by extension humans are weaker less intelligent and less potent Thomas Jefferson infuriated by these claims brought a seven foot tall carcass of a moose from America to the entry hall of his Parisian hotel but the five foot tall Buffon remained unimpressed and refused to change his views on America's inferiority Buffon as Philippe Roger demonstrates here was just one of the first in a long line of Frenchmen who have built a history of anti Americanism in that country a progressive history that is alternately ludicrous and trenchant The American Enemy is Roger's bestselling and widely acclaimed history of French anti Americanism presented here in English translation for the first time With elegance and good humor Roger goes back 200 years to unearth the deep roots of this anti Americanism and trace its changing nature from the belittling as Buffon did of the savage American to France's resigned dependency on America for goods and commerce and finally to the fear of America's global domination in light of France's thwarted imperial ambitions Roger sees French anti Americanism as barely acquainted with actual fact rather anti Americanism is a cultural pillar for the French America an idea that the country and its culture have long defined themselves against Sharon Bowman's fine translation of this magisterial work brings French anti Americanism into the broad light of day offering fascinating reading for Americans who care about our image abroad and how it came about Mr Roger almost single handedly creates a new field of study tracing the nuances and imagery of anti Americanism in France over 250 years He shows that far from being a specific reaction to recent American policies it has been knit into the very substance of French intellectual and cultural life His book stuns with its accumulated detail and analysis Edward Rothstein New York Times A brilliant and exhaustive guide to the history of French Ameriphobia Simon Schama New Yorker Graham's American Monthly Magazine of Literature, Art, and Fashion, 1843 The West in Early Cinema Nanna Verhoeff, 2025-10-01 Verhoeff investigates the emergence of the western genre made in the first two decades of cinema 1895-1915 By analyzing many unknown and forgotten films from international archives she traces the relationships between films about the American West their surrounding films and other popular media such as photography painting pulp literature Wild West Shows and popular ethnography Through this exploration of archival material she raises new questions of historiography and provides a model for historical analysis These first traces of the Western film reveal a preoccupation with presence and actuality that informs us about the way in which film as new medium took shape within the context of its contemporary visual culture President Reagan Lou Cannon, 2008-08-04 Hailed by the New Yorker as a superlative study of a president and his presidency Lou Cannon's President Reagan remains the definitive account of our most significant presidency in the last fifty years Ronald Wilson Reagan the first actor to be elected president turned in the performance of a lifetime But that performance concealed the complexities of the man baffling most who came in contact with him Who was the man behind the makeup Only Lou Cannon who covered Reagan through his political career can tell us The keenest Reagan watcher of them all he has been the only author to reveal the nature of a man both shrewd and oblivious Based on hundreds of interviews with the president the First Lady and hundreds of the administration s major figures President Reagan takes us behind the scenes of the Oval Office Cannon leads us through all of Reagan s roles from the affable cowboy to the self styled family man from the politician who denounced big government to the president who created the largest peace time deficit from the statesman who reviled the Soviet government to the Great Communicator who helped end the cold war
