Goldberg, 2013-06-17 Volume 16 of Progress in Self Psychology How Responsive Should We Be illuminates the continuing tension between Kohut's emphasis on the patient's subjective experience and the post-Kohutian intersubjectivists' concern with the therapist's own subjectivity by focusing on issues of therapeutic posture and degree of therapist activity Teicholz provides an integrative context for examining this tension by discussing affect as the common denominator underlying the analyst's empathy subjectivity and authenticity Responses to the tension encompass the stance of intersubjective contextualism advocacy of active responsiveness and emphasis on the thoroughgoing bidirectionality of the analytic endeavor Balancing these perspectives are a reprise on Kohut's concept of prolonged empathic immersion and a recasting of the issue of closeness and distance in the analytic relationship in terms of analysis of the tie to the negative self-object Additional clinical contributions examine severe bulimia and suicidal rage as attempts at self-state regulation and address the self-reparative functions that inhere in the act of dreaming Like previous volumes in the series volume 16 demonstrates the applicability of self psychology to nonanalytic treatment modalities and clinical populations Here self psychology is brought to bear on psychotherapy with placed children on work with adults with nonverbal learning disabilities and on brief therapy Rector's examination of twinship and religious experience Hagman's elucidation of the creative process and Siegel and Topel's experiment with supervision via the internet exemplify the ever-expanding explanatory range of self psychological insights Transpersonal Psychology in Psychoanalytic Perspective Michael Washburn, 1994-07-01 In this book Michael Washburn provides a psychoanalytic foundation for transpersonal psychology Using psychoanalytic theory Washburn explains how ego development both prepares for and creates obstacles to ego transcendence Spiritual development he proposes can be properly understood only in terms of the ego development that precedes it For example many difficulties encountered in spiritual development can be traced to repressive underpinnings of ego development and significant gender differences in spiritual development can be traced to corresponding gender differences that emerge during ego development Washburn draws on a wide range of psychoanalytic perspectives in discussing ego development and uses both Eastern and Western sources in discussing spiritual development In rethinking transpersonal psychology in psychoanalytic terms he explains how essential elements of Jungian thought can be grounded in psychoanalytic theory
