Sir Basil Schonland was a major contributor to 20th century British and Commonwealth science As well as detailing his life this biography depicts the increasing engagement between science and the military and of changing military diplomatic relationships between Britain and South Africa Schonland Brian Austin,2001-01-01 Canada and the Second World War Geoffrey Hayes, Mike Bechthold, Matt Symes,2013-02-01 Terry Copp's tireless teaching research and writing has challenged generations of Canadian veterans teachers and students to discover an informed memory of their country's role in the Second World War This collection drawn from the work of Terry's colleagues and former students considers Canada and the Second World War from a wealth of perspectives Social cultural and military historians address topics under five headings The Home Front The War of the Scientists The Mediterranean Theatre Normandy Northwest Europe and The Aftermath The questions considered are varied and provocative How did Canadian youth and First Nations peoples understand their wartime role What position did a Canadian scientist play in the Allied victory and in the peace Were veterans of the Mediterranean justified in thinking theirs was the neglected theatre How did the Canadians in Normandy overcome their opponents but not their historians Why was a Cambridge scholar attached to First Canadian Army to protect monuments And why did Canadians come to commemorate the Second World War in much the same way they commemorated the First The study of Canada in the Second World War continues to challenge confound and surprise In the questions it poses the evidence it considers and the conclusions it draws this important collection says much about the lasting influence of the work of Terry Copp Foreword by John Cleghorn The Scientific Imagination in South Africa William Beinart, Saul Dubow,2021-05-20 An innovative three hundred year exploration of the social and political contexts of science and the scientific imagination in South Africa A Commonwealth of Knowledge Saul Dubow,2006-10-19 This is the first full study of the relationship of knowledge to national identity formation in modern South Africa It explores how the cultivation of knowledge served to support white political ascendancy and claims to nationhood Elegantly written and wide ranging the book addresses major themes in both South African and comparative imperial historiography

Communications and British Operations on the Western Front, 1914-1918 Brian N. Hall, 2017-06-07 This is an important new study examining the military operations of the British Expeditionary Force in 1914-18 through the lens of its communications system Brian Hall charts how new communications technology such as wireless telephone and telegraph were used alongside visual signalling carrier pigeons and runners as the British army struggled to develop a communication system adequate enough to wage modern warfare He reveals how tenuous communications added to the difficulties of command and control during the war's early years and examines their role during the major battles of the Somme Arras Ypres and Cambrai It was only in 1918 that the British army would finally develop a flexible and sophisticated communications system capable of effectively coordinating infantry artillery tanks and aeroplanes This is a major contribution to our understanding of British military operations during the First World War the learning processes of armies and the revolution in military affairs

Mission, Science, and Race in South Africa Keith Snedegar, 2015-09-17 This is a biographical study of Alexander William Roberts a Free Church of Scotland missionary educator who in 1883 was posted to the Lovedale Institution at Alice South Africa Inspired by the night sky of the southern hemisphere Roberts became a leading observer of variable stars and an early contributor to the theory of close interacting binary stars He actively promoted the development of colonial scientific culture and was elected president of the South African Association for the Advancement of Science in 1913 His teaching career at Lovedale fostered a commitment to the interests of his African students and their communities In 1920 Roberts was appointed to the South African senate to represent native Africans he also served as senior member of the Native Affairs Commission Despite his liberal instincts he acquiesced to the movement toward racial segregation as advanced in the Natives Urban Areas and Native Administration Acts Roberts nonetheless militated against the erosion of the Cape non racial franchise rights he resigned from the Native Affairs Commission just as the all white parliament was poised to remove Africans from the common voters roll His engagement with the politics of race interfered with Roberts's astronomical research Although he published nearly one hundred papers in scientific journals most of his observational data remained unknown until the Boyden Observatory's Roberts archive was digitized in 2006 His influence as a mission educator also has been little known although among his pupils were journalist and academic D D T Jabavu the physician James Moroka and Swazi king Sobhuza I

The Naval War in South African Waters, 1939-1945 Evert Kleyhans, 2022-03-23 The Naval War in South African Waters 1939-1945 provides a critical reappraisal of the naval war waged in South African waters during the Second World War The book investigates this broad topic by focussing on several interrelated aspects such as the wartime strategic importance of South African waters the rival Axis and Allied naval strategies in the southern oceans the development of the South African coastal defence system the full extent of the Axis naval operations in the southern oceans the naval intelligence war and finally the antisubmarine war waged in South African waters Based on extensive archival research in South Africa and the United Kingdom and supplemented by a wealth of secondary material the book introduces a fresh in depth discussion on a largely forgotten episode of South African military history
