

TEXAS SCHOOL CHOICE SOLUTIONS

September 20, 2023

School closures during the COVID-19 pandemic had devastating effects on the educational progress of American schoolchildren, revealed deep inadequacies of the public-school monopoly, and left families feeling powerless about setting the direction of their children's education. Texas families will be pleased to know that educational opportunities for children are increasing due to continued support for school choice. The Texas Senate passed a bill in 2023 that aims to prohibit infringement on parental rights by creating Education Savings Accounts (ESAs) worth $8,000 for all Texas K-12 students. The bill, informally known as "S.B. 8," encourages an admissions lottery system that rightfully prioritizes special education students, students in foster care, and children of military personnel. This bill is crucial to ensure that each Texas student has a bright educational future that is tailored to their personal needs and preferences.

National test results for 2022 show that school closures during the Covid-19 pandemic had a harmful effect on American schoolchildren. For the first time in the history of the National Assessment of Educational Progress (NAEP), scores in reading and math fell by the largest margin in more than 30 years and students in Texas were no exception. See Chart on page 2.

In 2022, according to the National Assessment of Education Progress (NAEP) in Texas:

The reading level of 4th grade students who performed at or above the NAEP Proficient in was only 30%.

Black 4th grade students had an average reading score that was 29 points lower than that for White students.

Hispanic 4th grade students had an average reading score that was 16 points lower than that for White students.

Low-income 4th grade students had an average reading score that was 23 points lower than that for students from middle and high income families.

These test scores can have powerful consequences for a generation of children. Reversing these achievement losses will need aggressive action over the next several years. Parents need the ability to leave their government-mandated schools if necessary to help ensure their children have better academic opportunities. School choice is also shown to improve public schools by increasing accountability, fostering competitiveness, and boosting student outcomes. When parents can choose which option best fits their child's needs, whether that means opting to switch or not, students reap the benefits.
