Gordion Seals and Sealings Elspeth Dusinger, 2005-11-21 Accompanying CD ROM contains additional figures accompanying the volume disc label The Early History of the Ancient Near East, 9000-2000 B.C. Hans J. Nissen, Kenneth J. Northcott, 2011-03-04 Hans J Nissen here provides a much needed overview of 7000 years of development in the ancient Near East from the beginning of settled life to the formation of the first regional states His approach to the study of Mesopotamian civilization differs markedly from conventional orientations which impose a sharp division between prehistoric and historic literate periods Nissen argues that this approach is too rigid to explain the actual development of that civilization He deemphasizes the invention of writing as a turning point viewing it as simply one more phase in the evolution of social complexity and as the result of specific social economic and political factors With a unique combination of material culture analysis written data Nissan traces the emergence of the earliest isolated settlements the growth of a network of towns the emergence of city states and finally the appearance of territorial states From his synthesis of the prehistoric and literate periods comes a unified picture of the development of Mesopotamian economy society and culture Lavishly illustrated The Early History of the Ancient Near East 9000 2000 B C is an authoritative work by one of the most insightful observers of the evolution and character of Mesopotamian civilization The Archaeomusicology of the Ancient Near East Richard J. Dumbrill, 2005 This volume is a massive leap forward over any previous synthesis of the subject and includes at the very minimum so much information that its academic and scientific value is self evident The freshness and profundity of Dumbrill's approach to the subject exceeds anything attempted before The mythology of ancient Mesopotamia proves readable as tonal allegory when its numerology is decoded as tuning theory By the third millennium BC both pentatonic and heptatonic tunings were quantified throughout the entire 12 tone gamut Richard Dumbrill has documented the massive empirical experience with strings and pipes that makes this early musicalization of the universe believable The volume consists in 4 parts with foreword by Prof Ernest McClain The first is about the decipherment translation and interpretation of the few theoretical cuneiform texts dating from the Old Babylonian period about 2000 BC to Neo Assyrian up to the mid first millennium BC Dumbrill undertakes comparative analyses and criticism of various interpretations having preceded his own and introduces new material The second part is about the Hurrian hymns the earliest music ever written circa 1400 BC and are produced in their integrality Attempts to the interpretation of Hymn H 6 are compared and followed by Dumbrill's methodology and interpretation Each fragment of the collection is analyzed separately The part concludes with statistical analyses attempting at the reconstruction of some Hurrian rules of composition The third part consists in the organology with relevant philology and is the largest collection of the Mesopotamian instrumentarium The last part is a unique lexicon of all known Mesopotamian terminology with quotation of texts in which the philology appears The book had been previously published under the title of The Musicology and Organology of the Ancient Near East and now appears under its new title

The Emergence of Civilization Charles Keith Maisels,2003-12-16 The Emergence of Civilisation is a major contribution to our understanding of the development of urban culture and social stratification in the Near Eastern region Charles Maisels argues that our present assumptions about state formation based on nineteenth century speculations are wrong His investigation illuminates the changes in scale complexity and hierarchy which accompany the development of civilisation The book draws conclusions about the dynamics of social change and the processes of social evolution in general applying those concepts to the rise of Greece and Rome and to the collapse of the classical Mediterranean world Elam and Persia Javier Álvarez-Mon,Mark B. Garrison,2011-06-30 The late 7th and 6th centuries B C were a period of tremendous upheaval and change in ancient western Asia marked by the destruction of the Assyrian Empire the rise and collapse of the Neo Babylonian state and the stunning ascent of what was to become the Achaemenid Persian Empire the largest polity the world had yet seen Of the major cultural entities involved in these far reaching events Elam has long remained the least understood The essays contained in this book are part of a continuing reassessment of the nature and significance of Elam in the early 1st millennium B C with a focus on the relationship between Elamite culture of the Neo Elamite period and the emerging Persian culture in southwestern Iran in the 7th and 6th centuries B C The conception of this volume goes back to the 2003 meeting of the American Schools of Oriental Research that took place in Philadelphia Pennsylvania where two sessions were dedicated to the rich cultural heritage of ancient Iran It was also the first time that Iranian archaeology was represented at ASOR since the Iranian Revolution This volume contains 14 contributions by leading scholars in the discipline organized into 3 sections archaeology texts and images art history The volume is richly illustrated with more than 200 drawings and photographs

Revolution and Evolution in Private Law Sarah Worthington,Andrew Robertson,Graham Virgo,2018-01-11 The development of private law across the common law world is typically portrayed as a series of incremental steps each one delivered as a result of judges dealing with marginally different factual circumstances presented to them for determination This is said to be the common law method According to this process change might be assumed to be gradual almost imperceptible If this were true however then even Darwinian style evolution which is subject to major change inducing pressures such as the death of the dinosaurs would seem unlikely in the law and radical and revolutionary paradigms shifts perhaps impossible And yet the history of the common law is to the contrary The legal landscape is littered with quite remarkable revolutionary and evolutionary changes in the shape of the common law The essays in this volume explore some of the highlights in this fascinating revolutionary and evolutionary development of private law The contributors expose the nature of the changes undergone and their significance for the future direction of travel They identify the circumstances and the contexts which might have provided an impetus for these significant changes The essays range across all areas of private law including contract tort unjust enrichment and property No area has been immune from development That fact itself is unsurprising but an extended examination of the particular circumstances and contexts which delivered some of private law s most important developments has its own special significance for what it might indicate about the shape and the shaping of private law regimes in the future

The Domain of Images James Elkins, 2018-08-06 In the domain of visual images those of fine art form a tiny minority This original and brilliant book calls upon art historians to look beyond their traditional subjects painting drawing photography and printmaking to the vast array of nonart images including those from science technology commerce medicine music and archaeology Such images James Elkins asserts can be as rich and expressive as any canonical painting Using scores of illustrations as examples he proposes a radically new way of thinking about visual analysis one that relies on an object's own internal sense of organization Elkins begins by demonstrating the arbitrariness of current criteria used by art historians for selecting images for study He urges scholars to adopt instead the far broader criteria of the young field of image studies After analyzing the philosophic underpinnings of this interdisciplinary field he surveys the entire range of images from calligraphy to mathematical graphs and abstract painting Throughout Elkins blends philosophic analysis with historical detail to produce a startling new sense of such basic terms as pictures writing and notation
