War and Rights David L Rousseau,2021-04-13 Warfare in Europe contributed to the development of the modern state In response to external conflict state leaders raised armies and defended borders The centralization of power the development of bureaucracies and the integration of economies all maximized revenue to support war But how does a persistent external threat affect the development of a strong state The Garrison State hypothesis argues that states that face a severe security threat will become autocracies Conversely the Extraction School argues that warfare indirectly promotes the development of democratic institutions Execution of large scale war requires the mobilization of resources and usually reluctant populations In most cases leaders must extend economic or political rights in exchange for resolving the crisis Large scale warfare thus expands political participation in the long run The authors use empirical statistical modeling to show that war decreases rights in the short term but the longer and bigger a war gets the rights of the citizenry expand with the conflict The authors test this argument through historical case studies Imperial Russia Austro Hungarian Dual Monarchy African Americans in World War I and II and the Tirailleurs Senegalese in World War I through the use of large N statistical studies Europe 1900 50 and Global 1893 2011 and survey data The results identify when where and how war can lead to the expansion of political rights

Porter,2005-02-28 From ancient Greece through the present day women writers have confronted the male urge to make war by imagining communities in which intuitive bonding among individuals questions and replaces masculinist values of aggression and competition Women s Vision in Western Literature traces the gender gap in literature from 600 B C to the present day through an examination of seven extraordinary women writers from Sappho to Christa Wolf Combining close readings with a comprehensive overview of the careers of these women Porter shows how the threat the experience and the aftermath of war incites them to imagine tolerant empathic communities This careful consideration of these seven great writers brings to light an underappreciated aspect of Western women s writing Starting with Sappho Porter illustrates this ancient poet s ability to rewrite the Homeric war rhetoric to reflect a non possessive love experience Marie de France arranges traditional animal fables to imply an open ended situation ethics according to the author and Madame de Stael in a Europe torn by Napoleonic conquests advocates cross cultural unions among countries In the works of Mary Shelley we see the warnings of the dangers of vainglorious soulless technology and Virginia Woolf depicts intuitive bonding beyond gender stereotypes amid the ruins of war and crumbling empire He shows how Marguerite Yourcenar dreams of a new era of world peace after Hitler's defeat and how Christa Wolf tries to cope with her country's Nazi past even as she reaffirms European identity threatened by annihilations in nuclear conflict Musical America ,1919 Spiritualism's Place Averill Earls, Sarah Handley-Cousins, Marissa C.
