The Search for Political Community Paul Lichterman,1996-09-19 This book challenges the myth that Americans emphasis on personal fulfilment necessarily weakens commitment to the common good Drawing on extensive participant observation with a variety of environmentalist groups Paul Lichterman argues that individualism sometimes enhances public political commitment and that a shared respect for individual inspiration enables activists with diverse political backgrounds to work together This personalised culture of commitment has sustained activists working long term for social change The book contrasts personalised politics in mainly white environmental groups with a more traditional community centred culture of commitment in an African American group The untraditional personalised politics of many recent social movements invites us to rethink common understandings of commitment community and individualism in a post traditional world
