Consumer Choice in Historical Archaeology S.M. SpencerWood, 1987-06-30 Historical archaeology has made great strides during the last two decades Early archaeological reports were dominated by descriptions of features and artifacts while research on artifacts was concentrated on studies of topology technology and chronology Site reports from the 1960s and 1970s commonly expressed faith in the potential artifacts had for aiding in the identifying socioeconomic status differences and for understanding the relationships between the social classes in terms of their material culture An emphasis was placed on the presence or absence of porcelain or teaware as an indication of social status These were typical features in site reports written just a few years ago During this same period advances were being made in the study of food bone as archaeologists moved away from bone counts to minimal animal counts and then on to the costs of various cuts of meat Within the last five years our ability to address questions of the relationship between material culture and socioeconomic status has greatly expanded The essays in this volume present efforts toward measuring expenditure and consumption patterns represented by commonly recovered artifacts and food bone. These patterns of consumption are examined in conjunction with evidence from documentary sources that provide information on occupations, wealth levels, and ethnic affiliations of those that did the consuming. One of the refreshing aspects of these papers is that the authors are not afraid of documents and their use of them is not limited to a role of confirmation. Timberland Historical Archaeology Notes Brian D. Dillon, 1995. Sears, Roebuck, U.S.A. Gordon Lee Weil, 1977. The biggest and the richest retail business in the U.S.A is Sears Roebuck and Co. Annual sales of Sears represent more than one percent of the Gross National Product. This book is the consumer's guide to how Sears does our business. More than that, this book is the fantastic story characteristically American of a business that grew so fast it almost toppled over on its own success and of the three remarkable men who made it work. Catalog Robin Cherry, 2008-09-04. Since 1872 when traveling salesman Aaron Montgomery Ward realized he could eliminate the middleman and sell goods directly to his customers, Americans have had an ongoing love affair with the mail order catalog which continues undiminished even in today's online-driven world. The practical can find deals on furniture and clothing in L.L. Bean and Sears; the extravagant can consider his and hers matching helicopters, windmills, hot air balloons, and submarines in the Neiman Marcus Fantasy Catalog; those looking to get their pulses racing can browse Victoria's Secret and Abercrombie; while our inner swashbuckler can travel the world through the pages of the J.Peterman Owner's Manual where Moroccan caftans, Russian Navy t-shirts, and wooden water buckets from rural China entice the imagination. In Catalog: The Illustrated History of Mail Order Shopping, Robin Cherry traces the timeline of these snapshots from American history and discovers along the way how we dressed, decorated our houses, worked, played, and got around. From corsets to bell bottoms, from baby doll dresses and Doc Martens all the way to iPods, the history of these catalogs is the history of our lives and our culture. GIs during World War II were kept company by the models in the pages of lingerie catalogs; hockey goalies fashioned makeshift shin guards out of them during the Great Depression; and creative children across the country still play with homemade paper dolls cut from clothing catalogs. A number of celebrities got their start modeling for catalogs: Gregory Peck, Lauren Bacall, Katherine Heigl, Matthew Fox, and Angelina Jolie. Jimi Hendrix and Bob Dylan both got their first guitars from the Sears catalog. Organized into categories such as clothing, food, animals, and houses, author Robin Cherry explores the vivid stories behind Sears, Montgomery Ward, Lillian Vernon, Harry David, Jackson Perkins, and of course, 45 years of the Neiman Marcus Christmas Book. Insightful historical commentary places these catalogs in their social context, making this book a visual pleasure and a historically important piece of Americana. A Muslim Who Became a Christian John Avetaranian, Richard Schafer, 2003. One day I noticed among her books one that I had never seen before. I looked inside and read the beginning; it was the Gospel in Turkish. This would be Muhammed Shukri's first encounter with the truth of Jesus Christ as testified to in the book of the Christians, the New Testament. It would not be his last. This Muslim and mullah, this dervish and descendant of the prophet Muhammad from the distant province of Erzerum in the

Ottoman Empire would continue to follow in Jesus footsteps leading him to Russia Sweden China Germany and Bulgaria He would come to live and work with Americans Europeans Armenians Persians and Turks from various backgrounds And his desire that his own Turkish people and Muslims in general should hear the words of the Gospel would never diminish Here is his story in his own words
