The Precautionary Principle in the 20th Century Paul Harremoes, David Gee, Malcom MacGarvin, Andy Stirling, Jane Keys, Brian Wynne, Sofia Guedes Vaz, 2013-10-11 The precautionary principle is widely seen as fundamental to successful policies for sustainability It has been cited in international courts and trade disputes between the USA and the EU and invoked in a growing range of political debates Understanding what it can and cannot achieve is therefore crucial This volume looks back over the last century to examine the role the principle played or could have played in a range of major and avoidable public disasters From detailed investigation of how each disaster unfolded what the impacts were and what measures were adopted the authors draw lessons and establish criteria that could help to minimise the health and environmental risks of future technological economic and policy innovations This is an informative resource for all those from lawyers and policy makers to researchers and students needing to understand or apply the principle

The Red Sea Ecosystem and Fisheries Dawit Tesfamichael, Daniel Pauly, 2016-02-03 This book is the first comprehensive coverage of Red Sea fisheries to inform researchers and decision makers The Red Sea is a geologically young sea but also an area with the oldest record of human sea food exploitation Examining the fisheries of the Red Sea has become extremely important to understand the ecosystem and the direct human impact of fishing on Red Sea ecosystems. This volume gives extensive data on different fisheries sectors identified and described for each country bordering the Red Sea. Furthermore its catch and specific composition is also described over the period 1950 to 2010. Combined with the ecosystem model this useful information can uniquely help managing fisheries and ecosystems of the Red Sea. The Zoological Record, 2003. United Nations Naval Peace Operations in the Territorial Sea Rob McLaughlin, 2009. Drawing on the operational experience of United Nations naval peace operations this book examines issues of authority for such operations as they relate to and impact upon the Territorial Sea. State of the World's Oceans Michelle Allsopp, Stefan E. Pambuccian, Paul Johnston, David Santillo, 2008-12-16. The world's oceans cover 70% of the earth's surface and are home to a myriad of amazing and beautiful creatures. However the biodiversity of the oceans is increasingly coming under serious threat from many human activities including overfishing, use of destructive fishing methods, pollution and commercial aquaculture. In addition climate change is already having an impact on some marine ecosystems. This book discusses some of the major threats facing marine ecosystems by considering a range of topics under chapters discussing biodiversity. Chapter 1 fisheries. Chapter 2 aquaculture. Chapter 3 pollution. Chapter 4 and the impacts of increasing greenhouse gas emissions. Chapter 5 It goes on to explore solutions to the problems by discussing equitable and sustainable management of the oceans. Chapter 6 and protecting marine ecosystems using marine reserves. Chapter 7. Presently 76% of the oceans are fully or over exploited with respect to fishing and many species have been severely depleted. It is abundantly clear that in general current fisheries management regimes are to blame for much of the widespread degradation of the oceans. Many policy makers and scientists now agree that we must adopt a radical new approach to managing the seas, one that is precautionary in nature and has protection of the whole marine ecosystem as its primary objective. This ecosystem based approach is vital if we are to ensure the health of our oceans for future generations. World Atlas of Biodiversity Brian Groombridge, Martin Jenkins, 2002. Global biological diversity ecosystem diversity. Vistas for Geodesy in the New Millennium Jozsef Adam, Klaus-Peter Schwarz, 2013-06-29. It was in September 1906 that the predecessor of the IAG the Internationale Erdmessung then organized the 15 General Assembly at the Hungarian Academy of Sciences in Budapest. It was 95 years later in September 2001 that the IAG returned to this beautiful city to hold its Scientific Assembly. IAG 2001 in the historical premises of the Academy. The meeting took place from September 2-7 2001 and continued the tradition of Scientific Assemblies started in Tokyo 1982 and continued in Edinburgh 1989, Beijing 1993 and Rio de Janeiro 1997. Held every four years at the midpoint between General Assemblies of the IAG they focus on giving an integrated view of geodesy to a broad spectrum of researchers and practitioners in geodesy and geophysics. The convenient location of the main building of the Hungarian Academy in downtown Budapest and the superb efforts of the Local Organizing Committee contributed in a major way to the excellent atmosphere of the meeting. As at previous meetings the scientific part of the program was organized as a series of symposia.

which as a whole gave a broad overview of actual geodetic research activities To emphasize an integrated view of geodesy the symposia did not follow the pattern of the IAG Sections but focussed on current research topics to which several IAG Sections could contribute Each symposium had 5 sessions with presented papers and poster sessions on two consecutive days
