Malcolm Cairns,2010-09-30 This handbook of locally based agricultural practices brings together the best of science and farmer experimentation vividly illustrating the enormous diversity of shifting cultivation systems as well as the power of human ingenuity Environmentalists have tended to disparage shifting cultivation sometimes called swidden cultivation or slash and burn agriculture as unsustainable due to its supposed role in deforestation and land degradation However a growing body of evidence indicates that such indigenous practices as they have evolved over time can be highly adaptive to land and ecology In contrast scientific agricultural solutions imposed from outside can be far more damaging to the environment Moreover these external solutions often fail to recognize the extent to which an agricultural system supports a way of life along with a society's food needs They do not recognize the degree to which the sustainability of a culture is intimately associated with the sustainability and continuity of its agricultural system Unprecedented in ambition and scope Voices from the Forest focuses on successful agricultural strategies of upland farmers More than 100 scholars from 19 countries including agricultural economists ecologists and anthropologists collaborated in the analysis of different fallow management typologies working in conjunction with hundreds of indigenous farmers of different cultures and a broad range of climates crops and soil conditions By sharing this knowledge and combining it with new scientific and technical advances the authors hope to make indigenous practices and experience more widely accessible and better understood not only by researchers and development practitioners but by other communities of farmers around the world Gathering of Sisters

Darla Weaver,2018-09-25 Once a week Darla Weaver bundles her children into the buggy hitched up her spirited mare and drives six miles to the farm where she grew up There she gathers with her four sisters and their children for a day with their mother In Gathering of Sisters Weaver writes about her horse and buggy Mennonite family and the weekly women's gatherings that keep them connected On warm days the children play and fish and build houses of hay in the barn In the winter everyone stays close to the woodstove with puzzles and games and crocheting No matter the weather the Tuesdays get together of this Old Order Mennonite family keep them grounded and centered in their love for God and for each other The rest of the week is full of laundry and errands and work that never ends But Tuesdays are about being sisters daughters and
