Season Kelly McMasters, 2023-05-09 One of the most beautifully written books I've ever read Kelly McMasters is a literary giant Zibby Owens Good Morning America A memoir in intimate essays navigating marriage and motherhood art and ambition grief and nostalgia and the elusive concept of home Kelly McMasters found herself in her midthirties living her fantasy she'd moved with her husband a painter from New York City to rural Pennsylvania where their children roamed idyllic acres in rainboots and diapers The pastoral landscape and the bookshop they opened were restorative at first for her and her marriage But soon she was quietly plotting her escape In The Leaving Season McMasters chronicles the heady rush of falling in love and carving out a life in the city the slow dissolution of her relationship in an isolated farmhouse and the complexities of making a new home for herself and her children as a single parent She delves into the tricky and often devastating balance between seeing and being seen loss and longing desire and doubt and the paradox of leaving what you love in order to survive Whether considering masculinity in the countryside through the life of a freemartin calf the vulnerability of new motherhood in the wake of a car crash or the power of community pulsing through an independent bookshop The Leaving Season finds in every ending a new beginning

Women Poets in the Victorian Era Fabienne Moine, 2016-03-09 Examining the place of nature in Victorian women's poetry Fabienne Moine explores the work of canonical and long neglected women poets to show the myriad connections between women and nature during the period At the same time she challenges essentialist discourses that assume innate affinities between women and the natural world Rather Moine shows Victorian women poets mobilised these alliances to defend common interests and express their engagement with social issues While well known poets such as Elizabeth Barrett Browning and Christina Rossetti are well represented in Moine's study she pays particular attention to lesser known writers such as Mary Howitt or Eliza Cook who were popular during their lifetimes or Edith Nesbit whose verse has received scant critical attention so far She also brings to the fore the poetry of many non professional poets Looking to their immediate cultural environments for inspiration these women reconstructed the natural world in poems that raise questions about the validity and the scope of representations of nature ultimately questioning or undermining social practices that mould and often fossilise cultural identities
