Traumatic Realism Michael Rothberg, 2000 Analyzes the impact of historical trauma on contemporary culture How to approach the Holocaust and its relationship to late twentieth century society While some stress the impossibility of comprehending this event others attempt representations in forms as different as the nonfiction novel and Hollywood blockbuster Schindler's List the documentary Shoah and the comic book Maus This problem is at the center of Michael Rothberg's book a focused account of the psychic intellectual and cultural aftermath of the Holocaust Drawing on a wide range of texts Michael Rothberg puts forth an overarching framework for understanding representations of the Holocaust Through close readings of such writers and thinkers as Theodor Adorno Maurice Blanchot Ruth Kluger Charlotte Delbo Art Spiegelman and Philip Roth and an examination of films by Steven Spielberg and Claude Lanzmann Rothberg demonstrates how the Holocaust as a traumatic event makes three fundamental demands on representation a demand for documentation a demand for reflection on the limits of representation and a demand for engagement with the public sphere and commodity culture As it establishes new grounding for Holocaust studies his book provides a new understanding of realism modernism and postmodernism as responses to the demands of history
