Linguistic Relativity in SLA ZhaoHong Han, Teresa Cadierno, 2010-06-18 Crosslinguistic influence is an established area of second language research and as such it has been subject to extensive scrutiny Although the field has come a long way in understanding its general character many issues still remain a conundrum for example why does transfer appear selective and why does transfer never seem to go away for certain linguistic elements Unlike most existing studies which have focused on transfer at the surface form level the present volume examines the relationship between thought and language in particular thought as shaped by first language development and use and its interaction with second language use The chapters in this collection conceptually explore and empirically investigate the relevance of Slobin s Thinking for Speaking Hypothesis to adult second language acquisition offering compelling and enlightening evidence of the fundamental nature of crosslinguistic influence in adult second language acquisition

New Methodological Approaches to Foreign Language Teaching Thomas H. Schmidt, Laura Torres-Zúñiga, 2017-06-23 This volume explores how the traditional academic disciplines of linguistics translation literature and cultural studies can contribute to or be integrated into the teaching of a foreign language by means of innovative methodologies techniques and instruments The book begins with a selection of essays on applied linguistics that share some significant findings in the context of second or foreign language acquisition It then examines the ways in which linguistics translation theory literature and cultural studies are brought into the foreign language classroom not just as objects of study but also as vehicles for language learning By presenting studies on four main foreign languages English Spanish French and German the collection offers to the foreign language profession an opportunity for the sharing and comparison of strategies across languages at both the secondary and higher education level The text is a valuable resource for language teachers with a more philologically oriented background who would like to learn how to apply their research knowledge and experience to the design and implementation of new methodological approaches

New Perspectives on Transfer in Second Language Learning Liming Yu, Terence Odlin, 2016 When people attempt to learn a new language the language s they already know can help but also hinder their understanding or production of new forms This phenomenon known as language transfer is the focus of this book The collection offers new theoretical perspectives some in the empirical studies and some in other chapters and consists of four sections considering lexical syntactic phonological and cognitive perspectives The volume provides a wealth of studies on the influence of Chinese on the acquisition of English but also includes studies involving Finnish French Hindi Korean Persian Spanish Swedish and Tamil It will be of great interest to researchers and students working in the areas of crosslinguistic influence in second language acquisition language pedagogy and psycholinguistics
