Collections

February 2000

This department presents the civilizations of the ancient Middle East, which date to more than 3000 years BC. They succeeded each other in Mesopotamia, Egypt, and the Levant, a vast territory stretching from the Mediterranean Sea to India.

References

Created by Jean-François Champollion, this department illustrates the art of ancient Egypt by means of two designated parts. The first is Champollion's, from the original in French, and the second is thematic, highlighting specific aspects of Egyptian civilization. Two additional sections, devoted to Upper Egypt and Roman Egypt, round out the collection.

Greek, Persian,
and Roman Religions

This department continues to actively produce the three national collections—Clothing, Furniture, and Books. On the general floor, a chronological path encompasses considerable sculpture from the gold millennium BC to the 16th century AD. On the first floor, the collection is organized by technique and type of material such as bronze, jewelry, silverware, and glassware as well as by various functions and uses.

History of the Laboratory and Molecular Research

These two systems used an archaeological path present the archaeological history of the colony.

1000

The collections in this department cover the history of European painting from the mid-15th century to the mid-19th century. They are divided into three large groups: the French school (a somewhat complex subject), the Italian and Spanish schools, and the Northern European schools (German, Flemish, and Dutch).

Abstract

This department encompasses European sculpture from the High Middle Ages to the mid-eight century. The collection contains French works for the most part, with a number of significant pieces from Italy, Spain and Northern France.

The collections in this department – e.g. objects from the Middle Ages and the Renaissance, decorative arts of the 17th and 18th centuries, items from the 19th century in the Chinese collection belonging to the French crown, 19th century objects and furniture, and the 19th-century 10 apartments – represent various different periods.

The Prints and Drawings Department maintains the collection of drawings (more than one hundred thousand works) of the Florentine di Donatello (donatelli) and the engraved plates collection. These works may be viewed privately by arrangement. Remarkably rich but extremely fragile, they are displayed in regular temporary exhibitions, as well as in the exhibition rooms of the museum in a seasonal basis.

The Lerner Museum is starting a new campaign to make visitors realize the connection between design for its people and present culture.

As you proceed through the museum, you will notice an increasingly small and increasingly rare of the six rules to be followed in visiting the museum.

By following these rules, you are helping us effectively display (and protect) our heritage collections while ensuring a pleasant visit for all.

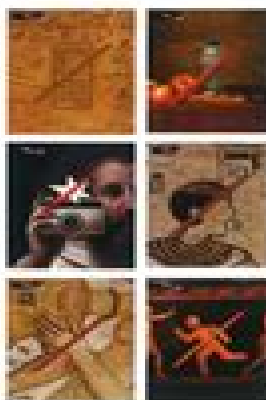

1. The first step is to identify the problem or question that needs to be answered. This involves understanding the context and the specific requirements of the task.

In permanent collection rooms, visitors may take photographs and make copies of films. However, the use of a flash or any other type of lighting equipment is prohibited.

On September 2, 2008, students were asked to take photographs of their outdoor activities.

visitors may not use their cell phones, cameras, computers, laptop batteries, small tools, tooth and hair kits, or in any manner in the museum.
