Magnificent Marvelous Martele American Art Nouveau Silver The Jolie And Robert Shelton Collection:

Magnificent, Marvelous Martelé John Webster Keefe, Samuel J. Hough, 2001 The Martele line of handwrought silver in the Art Nouveau style by the Gorham Manufacturing Company is justly regarded as a major expression of that style on this side of the Atlantic. Officially introduced at the influential Paris Exposition Universelle of 1900 Martele silver was widely admired and was awarded a Grand Prix and many gold medals. The excitement created then by the new artistic line of Martele silver has been rekindled by this premiere exhibition of nearly three hundred works from the collection of Jolie and Robert Shelton. The mammoth and highly regarded Gorham Company developed from a small jewelry manufactory founded by Jabez Gorham 1792-1869 in Providence Rhode Island to the world's largest producer of sterling silver wares. In the process of this growth the company distinguished itself by successfully combining new technological advances in the industry with exemplary design. So successful was Gorham in the closing years of the nineteenth century that it could devote considerable time, money, and expertise to create an art line of hollowware produced entirely by hand. The new line in the latest cutting edge taste departed dramatically from Gorham's flourishing line of machine-made commercial flatware and hollowwares. It was named Martele from the French verb marteeler the hammer. The line probably never would have come into existence without the driving influence and vision of two men: Gorham's energetic chief executive Edward Holbrook 1849-1919 and its chief designer William Christmas Codman 1839-1923. To connoisseurs of silver Codman is justly renowned for the development of the lavish Martele line starting with designs in 1896 and commencing a limited production in 1897.

The Craftsman and the Critic Beverly Kay Brandt, 2009 When English craftsman, poet, and socialist William Morris advised consumers in the 1880s to have nothing in your houses that you do not know to be useful or believe to be beautiful, he prompted a movement for design reform in Britain, Europe, and America. Championing Morris's views, the Society of Arts and Crafts in Boston led the quest for usefulness and beauty in the United States. As the oldest arts and crafts organization in the country, it exerted considerable influence. Among the Boston reformers were design critics whose profession became increasingly important in the nineteenth century. Many of them, including a number of prominent women, were also architects, designers, craft workers, educators, and theorists. Their views on design reform were substantive and often controversial. This richly illustrated book explores the interaction of craft workers and critics as they collaborated to improve the quality of the living and working environment in Boston and across the United States. Beverly K. Brandt examines multiple overlapping topics: the evolution of the profession of design criticism in the nineteenth century; Boston in the Gilded Age as a center for reform epitomized by the Aesthetic and the Arts and Crafts movements; the formative years of the Society of Arts and Crafts, 1897-1917; key personalities associated with that organization; the theoretical underpinnings of the Arts and Crafts movement; and a diaspora of Boston reformers who left the city to promote usefulness and beauty across the country and abroad. In an epilogue, she discusses the Arts and Crafts revival which has flourished since the 1970s and contemplates why the search for usefulness and beauty continues to resonate today Still Shining Diane Rademacher, 2003 A description of lost building from the 1904 World s Fair The bulk of the book is descriptions and pictures The Magazine Antiques , 2001-10 Art Papers , 2001 Silver of the Americas, 1600-2000 Museum of Fine Arts, Boston, 2008 Edited by Gerald W R Ward and Jeannine Falino Text by Gerald W R Ward Jeannine Falino Jane Port Rebecca Ann Gay Reynolds Florida History & the Arts , 2005 A magazine of Florida s heritage Art Now Gallery Guide , 2006-03 American Craft , 2006
