Nomad A Year In The Life Of A Qashqai Tribesman In Iran:

Nomadism in Iran Daniel T. Potts, 2014 Potts examines the development of nomadism in Iran over the course of three millennia Evidence of nomadism in prehistory is examined and found insufficient to justify claims of its great antiquity The background of the earliest nomadic groups identified as Persian tribes by Herodotus is examined within the context of the migration of Iranian speakers onto the Iranian plateau in the late second or early first millennium B C Thereafter evidence of nomadic groups in Late Antiquity and early Islamic times is reviewed Nomad Lois Beck, 1991-12-19 During 1970 to 1971 Borzu and his people were faced with many difficulties When the expected winter rains did not fall pastures and crops shriveled Unable to sell their starving livestock for any profit Borzu's people saw their debts to urban merchants and moneylenders increase At the same time Iran exercised more bureaucratic control over the Qashqai by applying new policies over migratory schedules and the allocation of scarce pastures and by introducing non Qashqai agriculturalists and livestock investors as legitimate land users All these measures threatened the nomad's way of life and eventually undermined the role of headmen such as Borzu Lois Beck details the vicissitudes endured by Borzu's people and the strategies he devised to cope with them Religion and Daily Life in the Mountains of Iran Erika Friedl, 2020-12-10 Until the 1960s little was known inside or outside Iran about the tribes living in the country The anthropological research of Erika Friedl is now renowned for presenting comprehensive data collected over a 50 year period from her time among the Boir Ahmad tribal people living in the Zagros Mountains of Iran In this new book Friedl turns her attention to the subject of religion which she had only touched upon in her previous work About ninety percent of people in Iran and nearly everybody in Boir Ahmad are Muslims of the Twelver Shia group However studies of tribal people's religiosity beliefs and rituals are scarce and many researchers have discounted their views and experience regarding the tribes as only nominally religious because their practices do not fit in with the mainstream practices and ideas in Iran Religion and Daily Life in the Mountains of Iran corrects this view and provides a hallmark study of tribal people's religiosity Demonstrating the great diversity of their philosophical and religious ideas the book reveals the ways in which the tribes choose and express their religion define their communities and understand their world From conversations about God and his relationships with people to observations on ageing and death and research into the tribe's use of spells amulets and sacrifices to their beliefs about saints health and well being the book is an original ethnographic exploration of religion and daily life Conceptualizing Iranian Anthropology Shahnaz R. Nadjmabadi, 2010-01-01 During recent years attempts have been made to move beyond the Eurocentric perspective that characterized the social sciences especially anthropology for over 150 years A debate on the anthropology of anthropology was needed one that would consider other forms of knowledge modalities of writing and political and intellectual practices This volume undertakes that challenge it is the result of discussions held at the first organized encounter between Iranian American and European anthropologists since the Iranian Revolution of 1979 It is considered an important first step in overcoming the dichotomy between peripheral anthropologies versus central anthropologies The contributors examine from a critical perspective the historical cultural and political field in which anthropological research emerged in Iran at the beginning of the twentieth century and in which it continues to develop today Sectarian Politics in the Persian Gulf Lawrence G. Potter, 2014-06-01 Long a taboo topic as well as one that has alarmed outside powers sectarian conflict in the Middle East is on the rise The contributors to this book examine sectarian politics in the Persian Gulf including the GCC states Yemen Iran and Iraq and consider the origins and consequences of sectarianism broadly construed as it affects ethnic tribal and religious groups They also present a theoretical and comparative framework for understanding sectarianism as well as country specific chapters based on recent research in the area Key issues that are scrutinised include the nature of sectarianism how identity moves from a passive to an active state and the mechanisms that trigger conflict The strategies of governments such as rentier economies and the invention of partisan national histories that encourage or manage sectarian differences are also highlighted as is the role of outside powers in fostering sectarian strife The volume also seeks to clarify whether movements such as the Islamic revival or the Arab Spring obscure the continued salience of religious and ethnic cleavages Religion, Culture and Politics in Iran Joanna de Groot, 2000-08-01 This book offers a new interpretation to the social history of religion in Iran from the 1870s to the 1970s It aims to situate the revolutionary upheavals of 1977-82 in an extensive narrative context of historical developments over the preceding century and to relate the religious elements in that history to other social and cultural issues In the author's analysis Iran's revolution was complex and contingent on a range of factors rather than a simple or inevitable outcome of the nature of the Iranian state or the nature of religion in Iran The focus of the argument is on the human responses of Iranians to their experiences and problems in all their diversity and on the rich variety and complexity of relationships between religion and other aspects of life thought and culture in the daily life of Iranians Tribal Politics in Iran Stephanie Cronin, 2007-01-24 Placing Iran's tribal problem in its historical context this innovative and important work provides an overall assessment of tribal politics in the Riza Shah period challenging conventional political and scholarly approaches to tribal politics The Oxford Encyclopedia of Women in World History Bonnie G. Smith, 2008 The Encyclopedia of Women in World History captures the experiences of women throughout world history in a comprehensive 4 volume work Although there has been extensive research on women in history by region no text or reference work has comprehensively covered the role women have played throughout world history The past thirty years have seen an explosion of research and effort to present the experiences and contributions of women not only in the Western world but across the globe Historians have investigated women's daily lives in virtually every region and have researched the leadership roles women have filled across time and region They have found and demonstrated that there is virtually no historical social or demographic change in which women have not been involved and by which their lives have not been affected The Oxford Encyclopedia of Women in World History benefits greatly from these efforts and experiences and illuminates how women worldwide have influenced and been influenced by these historical social and demographic changes The Encyclopedia contains over 1 250 signed articles arranged in an A Z format for ease of use The entries cover six main areas biographies geography and history comparative culture and society including adoption abortion performing arts organizations and movements such as the Egyptian Uprising and the Paris Commune womens and gender studies and topics in world history that include slave trade globalization and disease With its rich and insightful entries by leading scholars and experts this reference work is sure to be a valued go to resource for scholars college and high school students and general readers alike

Water and Power in Past Societies Emily Holt, 2018-05-01 Water an essential resource in all cultures is at the heart of human power structures Utilizing a diverse range of theoretical perspectives the contributors to Water and Power in Past Societies provide a broad introduction to the archaeology of water related power structures The studies herein explore the long history of water politics in human society offering new insights into the power structures and inequalities surrounding irrigation systems the collection of rainwater as a component of ancient industrial production and sea water as a facilitator of communication trade and aggression In addition to examining the role of different types of water in creating power relationships the volume presents case studies from a variety of climatic regions ranging from the very dry to the tropical This geographical breadth facilitates cross cultural comparison making Water and Power in Past Societies an essential resource for instructors and students of the archaeology of water Finally in addition to reaching conclusions with significant implications for archaeologists and anthropologists the volume has real contemporary relevance often drawing explicit parallels with issues of current and future water management

Struggle and Survival in the Modern Middle East Edmund Burke (III), Edmund Burke (III.), 1993 Until now we have known very little of the lives of ordinary Middle Eastern men and women despite extensive research on the modern Middle East With this collection of essays the life stories of peasants villagers pastoralists and urbanites can finally be heard no more will our view of the Middle East be seen only over the shoulders of the elite These twenty four biographies are drawn from the entire Middle East from Morocco to Afghanistan and provide vantage points from which to understand modern Middle Eastern history from the bottom up Spanning the past 150 years and reflecting important transformations the stories challenge elite centered accounts of what has occurred in the Middle East and illuminate hidden corners of a largely unrecorded world The essays divided chronologically provide a comprehensive framework for those unfamiliar with Middle Eastern social history Pre Colonial Lives covers the period from 1850 until World War I Colonial Lives chronicles the beginning of European rule and Contemporary Lives relates the massive changes of the postwar era Through them we see how specific ecologies ways of life ethnic class and gender situations can shape individual human action

Everyday Iran Clarissa de Waal, 2015-04-28 Iran is a country which despite its extensive coverage in the media is often regarded as mysterious exotic and other worldly This attitude often stems from a focus on the rhetoric of controversial figures in Iranian politics rather than looking at the everyday lives of Iranians themselves In this book Clarissa de Waal uses her training as an anthropologist to examine the experiences of individuals concentrating on the Fars province in southwest Iran This serves to highlight contemporary Iran outside of the capital which so often dominates western understanding of the country De Waal interviews a wide range of subjects from public sector workers and entrepreneurs to Qashqa i both settled and nomadic from students to the unemployed and from hairdressers to university professors Through these interviews she offers insight into the commonplace rituals of family interaction the economics of food and fuel subsidies and their withdrawal the pervasiveness of unemployment and the varying approaches to Islam She explores the extent to which the government of Iran and state sanctioned religion impinges on citizens at home work and in their social lives Yet despite intrusive state interventionism de Waal encounters inconsistencies between official government strictures and daily life Satellite dishes though illegal are owned by most households enabling them to watch foreign television from Mexican telenovellas to CNN Uniquely by being there during the 2009 elections de Waal is also able to examine first hand the various reactions both to the debate in the run up to the elections and the huge protests in the wake of the election recording the diverse responses to the candidates and their political platforms By focusing on the everyday existence of a variety of Iranians from different backgrounds de Waal offers insightful analysis concerning ordinary Iranians lives and the impact the state has on them economically socially and religiously

The Animal Names of the Arab Ancestors William C. Young,2024-02-06 In the Arab world people belong to kinship groups lineages and tribes Many lineages are named after animals birds and plants Why This survey evaluates five old explanations totemism emulation of predatory animals ancestor eponymy nicknaming and Bedouin proximity to nature It suggests a new hypothesis Bedouin tribes use animal names to obscure their internal cleavages Such tribes wax and wane as they attract and lose allies and clients they include attached elements as well as actual kin To prevent outsiders from spotting attached groups Bedouin tribes scatter non human names across their segments making it difficult to link any segment with a human ancestor Young s argument contributes to theories of tribal organization Arab identity onomastics and Near Eastern kinship

The Middle East Barry Rubin,2015-03-17 The Middle East is an area of great importance globally yet misperceptions abound Events have made it a region of special interest to the West and so the search for understanding gains momentum This publication is intended to clarify the region s complex history and issues In developing this project the contributors set out to explore seven significant themes that are usually not found in other sources While many books focus on political history and conflicts this two volume work deals specifically with culture religion women economics governance and media as well as the role that the region s modern history has played in shaping its society and worldview
