Nomads Of Luristan And Their Material Culture:

Nomads of Luristan Ida Nicolaisen,1993 The Art and Material Culture of Iranian Shi'ism Pedram

Khosronejad,2011-11-30 Shi i Islam has been the official religion of Iran from the Safavids 1501 1732 to the present day The Shi i world experience has provided a rich artistic tradition encompassing painting sculpture and the production of artefacts and performance which has helped to embed Shi i identity in Iran as part of its national narrative In what areas of material culture has Iranian Shi ism manifested itself through objects or buildings that are unique within the overall culture of Islam To what extent is the art and architecture of Iran from the Safavid period onwards identifiably Shi i What does this say about the relationship of nation state and faith in Iran Here leading experts trace the material heritage of Iranian Shi ism within each of its political religious and cultural dimensions Tribal Pastoralists in Transition Frank Hole,Sekandar

Amanolahi-Baharvand,2021-04-30 Genesis of the migration project Transformation of a Lur Luristan homeland of the Baharvand The pastoral nomads of Luristan From Dezful to Chin i Zal Morad Khan s camp Tribal customs Waiting for the word Crossing Kialon Kuh Daily life on the trail Settlers in Bala Griveh Atawak s memories how it was The promised land An ancient pastoral camp A last look at the nomads The situation of the nomads in the twentieth century A history of the Baharvand Postscript Nomadism in Iran Daniel T. Potts,2014 Potts examines the development of nomadism in Iran over the course of three millennia Evidence of nomadism in prehistory is examined and found insufficient to justify claims of its great antiquity The background of the earliest nomadic groups identified as Persian tribes by Herodotus is examined within the context of the migration of Iranian speakers onto the Iranian plateau in the late second or early first millennium B C

Thereafter evidence of nomadic groups in Late Antiquity and early Islamic times is reviewed Digital atlas of traditional food made from cereals and milk R.T.J. Cappers,2018-07-15 Recent discussions about food safety and an awareness of vanishing traditions have resulted in an increasing interest in traditional foods and food heritage The Digital atlas of traditional food made from cereals and milk explores the traditional food products that could have been made by transitional hunter gatherers and the early farmers in south west Asia by examining the traditional foods still being made today The author has sampled traditional foods throughout south west Asia sometimes in large cities but more often in small villages or even remote farmhouses His research shows that traditions can persist over a long period but the rarity of some of the items he was able to collect also indicates that these foods represent an endangered mirror of our remote past In the first part of the atlas the author explores the basic principles of the processes applied to cereals and milk What kinds of traditional foods can be considered representative of an ancient and unique traditional cuisine Which technologies are necessary for their production And how might these foods have been made on a large scale and with efficient use of fuel How were they preserved for long periods The atlas portion of the book presents well over 200 samples of traditional foods Each sample includes a description with high quality photographs Milk Culture in Eurasia Masahiro Hirata,2020-03-16 The invention of milking and milk use created a new mode of subsistence called pastoralism On rangelands across Eurasia pastoralists subsist by extensive animal husbandry and by processing their animals milk Based on the author s fieldwork over more than two decades this book details the processing systems and uses of milk observed in pastoralist and farm households in West Asia South Asia North Asia Central Asia the Tibetan Plateau and Europe and the Caucasus Milk culture in each region is characterized by its processing technology and use of milk and characteristics common to wider geographical spheres are identified Inclusion of case studies from the literature expands the continent wide perspective and provides further indications of how milk culture developed and diffused historically The inferences drawn are expressed in the author s monogenesis bipolarization hypothesis of Eurasian milk culture that milking and milk processing had a single center of origin in West Asia and that the technology involved the spread from there across the continent developing distinct characteristics in northern and southern spheres Finally because milk culture underpins pastoralism as a mode of subsistence the typology and theory of pastoralism are re examined from the standpoint of milk culture

Religion and Daily Life in the Mountains of Iran Erika Friedl, 2020-12-10 Until the 1960s little was known inside or outside Iran about the tribes living in the country The anthropological research of Erika Friedl is now renowned for presenting comprehensive data collected over a 50 year period from her time among the Boir Ahmad tribal people living in the Zagros Mountains of Iran In this new book Friedl turns her attention to the subject of religion which she had only touched upon in her previous work About ninety percent of people in Iran and nearly everybody in Boir Ahmad are Muslims of the Twelver Shia group However studies of tribal people s religiosity beliefs and rituals are scarce and many researchers have discounted their views and experience regarding the tribes as only nominally religious because their practices do not fit in with the mainstream practices and ideas in Iran Religion and Daily Life in the Mountains of Iran corrects this view and provides a hallmark study of tribal people s religiosity Demonstrating the great diversity of their philosophical and religious ideas the book reveals the ways in which the tribes choose and express their religion define their communities and understand their world From conversations about God and his relationships with people to observations on ageing and death and research into the tribe s use of spells amulets and sacrifices to their beliefs about saints health and well being the book is an original ethnographic exploration of religion and daily life
