Nomads and the Outside World Anatolij Michajlovic Chazanov, 1986 Nomads and the Outside World Khazanov, 1986 Nomads and the Outside World Khazanov,

The Transformation Of The Kazakh Identity Alparslan Özkan, In the Kazakh case the historical contradiction between the state policies and nomadic society resulted in massive population loss of nomadic Kazakhs in 1930s The nomadic economy and social order were destroyed Although nomadic Kazakhs showed great resistance to the collectivization process much more than other periods their resistance eventually failed In this failure both the military power of the Soviet state and the 19th century destruction of the Kazakh zhuzes and the asabiyyah based on nomadism played a major role Therefore the regional and fragmented struggle of the Kazakhs did not turn into a mass resistance This case which was the last widespread war between the nomadic and settled world in recent history resulted in the destruction of the whole nomadic life of the Asian half man half horse in Kazakhstan Rome and the Worlds beyond its Frontiers Daniëlle Sloomjies, M.

Peachin, 2016-10-05 Rome and the Worlds Beyond Its Frontiers examines interactions between those within and those beyond the boundaries of Rome with an eye to the question of contested identities and identity formations Jalayirids Patrick Wing, 2016-01-18 This book traces the origins history and memory of the Jalayirid dynasty a family that succeeded the Mongol Ilkhans in Iran and Iraq in the 14th and early 15th centuries The story of how the Jalayirids came to power is illustrative of the political dynamics that shaped much of the Mongol and post Mongol period in the Middle East The Jalayirid sultans sought to preserve the social and political order of the Ilkhanate while claiming that they were the rightful heirs to the rulership of that order Central to the Jalayirids claims to the legacy of the Ilkhanate was their attempt to control the Ilkhanid heartland of Azarbayjan and its major city Tabriz Control of Azarbayjan meant control of a network of long distance trade between China and the Latin West which continued to be a source of economic prosperity through the 8th 14th century Azarbayjan also represented the center of Ilkhanid court life whether in the migration of the mobile court camp of the ruler or in the complexes of palatial religious and civic buildings constructed around the city of Tabriz by members of the Ilkhanid royal family as well as by members of the military and administrative elite Nomadism in Iran Daniel T. Potts, 2014 Potts examines the development of nomadism in Iran over the course of three millennia Evidence of nomadism in prehistory is examined and found insufficient to justify claims of its great antiquity The background of the earliest nomadic groups identified as Persian tribes by Herodotus is examined within the context of the migration of Iranian speakers onto the Iranian plateau in the late second or early first millennium B C Thereafter evidence of nomadic groups in Late Antiquity and early

Islamic times is reviewed Planetary Modernisms Susan Stanford Friedman, 2015-08-18 Drawing on a vast archive of world history anthropology geography cultural theory postcolonial studies gender studies literature and art Susan Stanford Friedman recasts modernity as a networked circulating and recurrent phenomenon producing multiple aesthetic innovations across millennia Considering cosmopolitan as well as nomadic and oceanic worlds she radically revises the scope of modernist critique and opens the practice to more integrated study Friedman moves from large scale instances of pre 1500 modernities such as Tang Dynasty China and the Mongol Empire to small scale instances of modernisms including the poetry of Du Fu and Kabir and Abbasid ceramic art She maps the interconnected modernisms of the long twentieth century pairing Joseph Conrad with Tayeb Salih E M Forster with Arundhati Roy Virginia Woolf with the Tagores and Aim C saire with Theresa Hak Kyung Cha She reads postcolonial works from Sudan and India and engages with the idea of N gritude Rejecting the modernist concepts of marginality othering and major minor Friedman instead favors rupture mobility speed networks and divergence elevating the agencies and creative capacities of all cultures not only in the past and present but also in the century to come Inner Asia and the Spatial Politics of Empire William Honeychurch, 2014-11-05 This monograph uses the latest archaeological results from Mongolia and the surrounding areas of Inner Asia to propose a novel understanding of nomadic statehood political economy and the nature of interaction with ancient China In contrast to the common view of the Eurasian steppe as a dependent periphery of Old World centers this work views Inner Asia as a locus of enormous influence on neighboring civilizations primarily through the development and transmission of diverse organizational models technologies and socio political traditions This work explores the spatial management of political relationships within the pastoral nomadic setting during the first millennium BCE and argues that a culture of mobility horse based transport and long distance networking promoted a unique variant of statehood Although states of the eastern steppe were geographically large and hierarchical these polities also relied on techniques of distributed authority multiple centers flexible structures and ceremonialism to accommodate a largely mobile and dispersed populace This expertise in spatial politics set the stage early on for the expansionistic success of later Asian empires under the Mongols and Manchus Inner Asia and the Spatial Politics of Empire brings a distinctly anthropological treatment to the prehistory of Mongolia and is the first major work to explore key issues in the archaeology of eastern Eurasia using a comparative framework The monograph adds significantly to anthropological theory on interaction between states and outlying regions the emergence of secondary complexity and the growth of imperial traditions Based on this approach the window of Inner Asian prehistory offers a novel opportunity to investigate the varied ways that complex societies grow and the processes articulating adjacent societies in networks of mutual transformation Centre and Periphery Tim Champion, 2005-08-04 There has recently been much interest among geographers historians and political theorists in concepts of centre and periphery In this book a wide range of studies consider how such concepts can be used to clarify our understanding of pre capitalist societies The Light of

Asian Frontier Nationalism James Cotton, 1989 The Genesis of the Turks Osman Karatay, 2022-01-25 This book suggests a new theory on the origins and Urheimat of the Turks within the context of Central Eurasia and more properly the South Urals by exploring the relations of the Turkic language with the Altaic Uralic and Indo European languages and by referring to historical genetic and archaeological sources The book shows that the elements that started the making of the Turkic ethno linguistic entity were also shared by the regions where the later Hungarians would emerge and that the consolidation of their identity seems to be related to the emergence and rise of the Sintashta culture It argues that the fertile lands and suitable climatic conditions together with the coming of agriculture likely at the end of the 3rd millennium BC allowed them to increase their population

Mosul before Iraq Sarah D. Shields, 2000-06-22 Using original source documents this book portrays nineteenth century Mosul a large city currently in Iraq's no fly zone East Asia Before the West David C. Kang, 2010-10-14 From the founding of the Ming dynasty in 1368 to the start of the Opium Wars in 1841 China has engaged in only two large scale conflicts with its principal neighbors Korea Vietnam and Japan These four territorial and centralized states have otherwise fostered peaceful and long lasting relationships with one another and as they have grown more powerful the atmosphere around them has stabilized Focusing on the role of the tribute system in maintaining stability in East Asia and in fostering diplomatic and commercial exchange Kang contrasts this history against the example of Europe and the East Asian states skirmishes with nomadic peoples to the north and west Although China has been the unquestioned hegemon in the region with other political units always considered secondary the tributary order entailed military cultural and economic dimensions that afforded its participants immense latitude Europe's Westphalian system on the other hand was based on formal equality among states and balance of power politics resulting in incessant interstate conflict Scholars tend to view Europe's experience as universal but Kang upends this tradition emphasizing East Asia's formal hierarchy as an international system with its own history and character This approach not only recasts our understanding of East Asian relations but also defines a model that applies to other hegemonies outside the European order

Explorations in the Social History of Modern Central Asia (19th - Early 20th Century), 2013-07-25 Post Cold War historiography of modern Central Asia has been characterized by a focus on cultural history Most of this scholarship rests on a set of assumptions about traditional institutions and social practices which merely reflect the bias of Soviet or even Tsarist era historiography Explorations in the Social History of Modern Central Asia addresses the need for a remedy to this state of affairs and thus offers new insights on a number of subjects relating to the social history of the region It includes essays dealing with property relations resource management forms of local administration the constitution of new social groups the construction of identity categories and an enquiry into the landscape of Islamic practices among the nomads

The Making of Orthodox Byzantium, 600-1025 Mark Whittow, 1996-07-12 The book is a clear up to date reassessment of the Byzantine empire during a crucial phase in the history of the Near East Against a geopolitical background well illustrated with 14 maps it covers the last decade of the Roman empire as a superpower of the ancient world the catastrophic crisis of the seventh century and the means whereby its embattled Byzantine successor hung on in Constantinople and Asia Minor until the Abbasid Caliphate's decline opened up new perspectives for Christian power in the Near East Not confined to any narrow definition of Byzantine history the empire's neighbours allies and enemies in Europe and Asia also receive extensive treatment

Kazakhstan - Ethnicity, Language and Power Bhavna Dave, 2007-09-13 Kazakhstan is emerging as the most dynamic economic and political actor in Central Asia It is the second largest country of the former Soviet Union after the Russian Federation and has rich natural resources particularly oil which is being exploited through massive US investment Kazakhstan has an impressive record of economic growth under the leadership of President Nursultan Nazarbaev and has ambitions to project itself as a modern wealthy civic state with a developed market economy At the same time Kazakhstan is one of the most ethnically diverse countries in the region with very substantial non Kazakh and non Muslim minorities Its political regime has used elements of political clientelism and neo traditional practices to bolster its rule Drawing from extensive ethnographic research interviews and archival materials this book traces the development of national identity and statehood in Kazakhstan focusing in particular on the attempts to build a national state It argues that Russification and Sovietization were not simply top down processes that they provide considerable scope for local initiatives and that Soviet ethnically based affirmative action policies have had a lasting impact on ethnic lite formation and the rise of a distinct brand of national consciousness

The Making of Byzantium, 600-1025 Mark Whittow, 1996 An excellent book Its originality lies in its broad geographical perspective the extensive treatment of neighboring countries and the emphasis on archaeological evidence Cyril Mango Exeter College Oxford
