Non-formal Education in African Development James R. Sheffield, Victor P. Diejomaoh, 1972      Non-formal Education in African Development James R. Sheffield, Victor P. Diejomaoh, African-American Institute, 1972 Cet ouvrage dresse le panorama des principales expériences d'éducation non formelle entreprises dans un certain nombre de pays. Elles sont classées en plusieurs catégories : formation industrielle et professionnelle surtout dans le secteur urbain ; formation agricole et développement des communautés rurales ; programmes divers et buts multiples : alphabétisation, planification familiale, éducation civique, cours par correspondance.

Non-Formal Education Alan Rogers, 2007-03-06 The Comparative Education Research Centre CERC at the University of Hong Kong is proud and privileged to present this book in its series CERC Studies in Comparative Education. Alan Rogers is a distinguished figure in the field of non formal education and brings to this volume more than three decades of experience. The book is a masterly account which will be seen as a milestone in the literature. It is based on the one hand on an exhaustive review of the literature and on the other hand on extensive practical experience in all parts of the world. It is a truly comparative work which fits admirably into the series. Much of the thrust of Rogers' work is an analysis not only of the significance of non formal education but also of the reasons for changing fashions in the development community. Confronting a major question at the outset, Rogers asks why the terminology of non formal education which was so much in vogue in the 1970s and 1980s practically disappeared from the mainstream discourse in the 1990s and initial years of the present century. Much of the book is therefore about paradigms in the domain of development studies and about the ways that fashions may gloss over substance.

Non-formal Education in African Development James R. Sheffield, Victor P. Diejomaoh, 1972      Non Formal Education in African Development. Report of a Survey Conducted by the African American Institute (New York) with Financial Support from the United States Agency for International Development James R. Sheffield, Victor P. Diejomaoh, 1972      Open and Distance Non-formal Education in Developing Countries Colin Latchem, 2018-01-29 This book is the first comprehensive account of developments in open and distance non formal education in developing countries for over more than 20 years. It includes many instructive and inspiring examples of how international agencies such as UNESCO, FAO, WHO, UNICEF, USAID and the Commonwealth of Learning and national providers are using radio, TV, online and mobile learning, telecentres and other means to achieve the Education for All Millennium Development and Sustainable Development Goals. It describes the educational needs of the world's most disadvantaged, vulnerable and least formally educated children, youth and adult populations including the disabled, refugees and prisoners. It also reports on the successes, outcomes, constraints and shortcomings of using open and distance methods and technology to deliver literacy and numeracy programmes, equivalency, second chance or alternative schooling, life skills and rural community development programmes and income generation and vocational training outside the framework of the formal education system. It concludes with suggestions for the extension and improvement of such lifelong learning. Designed experiences from African countries Due to their complexity the interrelations between social economic and political factors related to sustainable development especially at universities need to be better understood There is also a real need to showcase successful examples of how African institutions are handling their sustainability challenges It is against this background that this book has been produced It is a truly interdisciplinary publication useful to scholars social movements practitioners and members of governmental agencies and private companies undertaking research and or executing projects focusing on sustainability from across Africa As African nations strive to pursue the UN Sustainable Development Goals it is imperative to cater for the information needs seen across the continent and foster the dissemination of experiences and case studies which may support both on going and future efforts The scope of the book is deliberately kept wide and we are looking for contributions across the spectrum of sustainable development from business and economics to arts and fashion administration environment languages and media studies      Transforming learning and skills development in Africa African Union, UNESCO, United Nations Children's Fund, 2025-04-02
