Possati,2022-06-24 This book claims that continental philosophy gives us a new understanding of digital technology and software in particular its main thesis being that software is like a text so it involves a hermeneutic process A hermeneutic understanding of software allows us to explain those aspects of software that escape a strictly technical definition such as the relationship with the user the human being and the social and cultural transformations that software produces The starting point of the book is the fracture between living experience and the code In the first chapter the author argues that the code is the origin of the digital experience while remaining hidden invisible The second chapter explores how the software can be seen as a text in Ricoeur s sense Before being an algorithm code or problem solving software is an act of interpretation The third chapter connects software to the history of writing following Kittler s suggestions The fourth chapter unifies the two parts of the book the historical and the theoretical from a Kantian perspective The central thesis is that software is a form of reflective judgment namely digital reflective judgement NASA Scientific and Technical Reports and Publications for 1969 - A Selected Listing United States.
