None Of Us Will Return Auschwitz And After:

Approaches to Auschwitz Richard L. Rubenstein, John K. Roth, 2003-01-01 Distinctively coauthored by a Christian scholar and a Jewish scholar this monumental interdisciplinary study explores the various ways in which the Holocaust has been studied and assesses its continuing significance The authors develop an analysis of the Holocaust s historical roots its shattering impact on human civilization and its decisive importance in determining the fate of the world This revised edition takes into account developments in Holocaust studies since the first edition was published

Hannah Arendt and the Limits of Total Domination Michal Aharony, 2015-03-05 Responding to the increasingly influential role of Hannah Arendt s political philosophy in recent years Hannah Arendt and the Limits of Total Domination The Holocaust Plurality and Resistance critically engages with Arendt s understanding of totalitarianism According to Arendt the main goal of totalitarianism was total domination namely the virtual eradication of human legality morality individuality and plurality This attempt in her view was most fully realized in the concentration camps which served as the major laboratories for the regime While Arendt focused on the perpetrators logic and drive Michal Aharony examines the perspectives and experiences of the victims and their ability to resist such an experiment The first book length study to juxtapose Arendt s concept of total domination with actual testimonies of Holocaust survivors this book calls for methodological pluralism and the integration of the voices and narratives of the actors in the construction of political concepts and theoretical systems To achieve this Aharony engages with both well known and non canonical intellectuals and writers who survived Auschwitz and Buchenwald concentration camps Additionally she analyzes the oral testimonies of survivors who are largely unknown drawing from interviews conducted in Israel and in the U S as well as from videotaped interviews from archives around the world Revealing various manifestations of unarmed resistance in the camps this study demonstrates the persistence of morality and free agency even under the most extreme and dehumanizing conditions while cautiously suggesting that absolute domination is never as absolute as it claims or wishes to be Scholars of political philosophy political science history and Holocaust studies will find this an original and compelling book

Untimely Interventions Leigh Ross Chambers, 2009-12-22 As atrocity has become characteristic of modern history testimonial writing has become a major twentieth century genre Untimely Interventions relates testimonial writing or witnessing to the cultural situation of aftermath exploring ways in which a culture can be haunted by its own history Ross Chambers argues that culture produces itself as civilized by denying the forms of collective violence and other traumatic experience that it cannot control In the context of such denial personal accounts of collective disaster can function as a form of counter denial By investigating a range of writing on AIDS the First World War and the Holocaust Chambers shows how such writing produces a rhetorical effect of haunting as it seeks to describe the reality of those experiences culture renders unspeakable Ross Chambers is Professor of Romance Languages at the University of Michigan His other books include Facing It AIDS Diaries and the Death of the Author

Palimpsestic

Memory Max Silverman, 2013-02-01 The interconnections between histories and memories of the Holocaust colonialism and extreme violence in post war French and Francophone fiction and film provide the central focus of this book It proposes a new model of palimpsestic memory which the author defines as the condensation of different spatio temporal traces to describe these interconnections and defines the poetics and the politics of this composite form In doing so it is argued that a poetics dependent on tropes and techniques such as metaphor allegory and montage establishes connections across space and time which oblige us to perceive cultural memory not in terms of its singular attachment to a particular event or bound to specific ethno cultural or national communities but as a dynamic process of transfer between different moments of racialized violence and between different cultural communities The structure of the book allows for both the theoretical elaboration of this paradigm for cultural memory and individual case studies of novels and films

The Afterdeath of the Holocaust Lawrence L. Langer, 2021-02-11 This book consists of ten essays that examine the ways in which language has been used to evoke what Lawrence L Langer calls the deathscape and the hopescape of the Holocaust The chapters in this collection probe the diverse impacts that site visits memoirs survivor testimonies psychological studies literature and art have on our response to the atrocities committed by the Germans during World War II Langer also considers the misunderstandings caused by erroneous embellished and sentimental accounts of the catastrophe and explores some reasons why they continue to enter public and printed discourse with such ease

Theory for Theatre Studies: Memory Milija Gluhovic, 2020-11-12 Why has memory become such an important political tool in response to the challenges of modernity How can performance be used to probe and recuperate aspects of the past and what are the ethical and political questions that arise when it does so And how should the discipline of theatre studies define and deploy the term memory theoretically and in practice Theory for Theatre Studies Memory provides a comprehensive introduction to the intersections between contemporary theatre and performance the field of memory studies and the politics of memory across the globe Beginning by offering a fresh critical snapshot of the major theoretical foundations for the study of memory today the author presents vivid theatrical examples drawn from a wide variety of cultural contexts and compellingly illustrates the centrality of memory for the theatre as well as the vital role of theatre in transmitting individual and collective memories Featuring in depth case studies of a range of performance works including Lola Arias's Minefield Yael Ronen's Common Ground and Robert Lepage's The Seven Streams of the River Ota it explores how theatre artists have grappled with issues of memory and the tensions between memory and history A final section examines the problematics of memory in a global context by exploring the subject of migration immigration Memory is supported by further online resources including section overviews and discussion questions Online resources to accompany this book are available at <https://www.bloomsbury.com/theory-for-theatre-studies-memory> 9781474246651

Unwanted Beauty Brett Ashley Kaplan, 2007 Controversial questions about beauty in artistic depictions of the Holocaust

Women's Autobiography V. Stewart, 2003-09-16 Examining a range of twentieth century writers including Vera Brittain Anne Frank and Eva Hoffman this study focuses on how recent theories of trauma can elucidate the narrative strategies employed in their autobiographical writing The historical circumstances of each author are also considered The result is a book which provides a vivid sense of how women writers have attempted to encompass key events of the twentieth century particularly the First World War and the Holocaust within their life stories Narratives of Annihilation, Confinement, and Survival Anja Tippner, Anna Artwińska, 2019-05-20 The concept of camp narratives rather than Holocaust narratives or Gulag narratives is based on the assumption that literary accounts of camp experiences share common traits aesthetically as well as thematically The book presents readings of camp literature that underscore the similarities between texts about Soviet gulag camps Nazi camps and about other camp experiences While literature about Nazi concentration camps still serves as a point of reference for camp narratives in the same way that the Holocaust serves as a point of reference for other genocidal operations socialist labor and penal camps have become transnational lieux de mmoire in their own right since 1989 This volume intends to provide a theoretical frame as well as an overview of several important European camp literatures and case studies of iconic camp narratives and to take a comparative and transnational perspective on the genre of the camp narrative Reading the Holocaust Inga Clendinnen, 2000-03-07 In this searching and eloquent book Inga Clendinnen explores the experience of the Holocaust from both the victims and the perpetrators point of view in an attempt to extract the comprehensible the recognisably human from the unthinkable Memory Matters Caroline Schaumann, 2008-08-27 Memory Matters juxtaposes in tripartite structure texts by a child of German bystanders Wolf an Austrian Jewish child survivor Klger a daughter of Jewish migrants Honigmann a daughter of an officer involved in the German resistance Bruhns a granddaughter of a baptized Polish Jew Maron and a granddaughter of German refugees from East Prussia Dckers Placed outside of the distorting victim perpetrator Jewish German man woman and war postwar binary it becomes visible that the texts neither complete nor contradict each other but respond to one another by means of inspiration reverberation refraction incongruity and ambiguity Focusing on genealogies of women the book delineates a different cultural memory than the counting of male inflected generations and a male dominated Holocaust and postwar literature canon It examines intergenerational conflicts and the negotiation of memories against the backdrop of a complicated mother daughter relationship that follows unpredictable patterns and provokes both discord and empathy Schaumann's approach questions the assumption that German gentile and German Jewish postwar experiences are necessarily diametrically opposed i e respond to a negative symbiosis and uncovers intersections and continuities in addition to conflicts Poetry as Testimony Antony Rowland, 2014-03-26 This book analyzes Holocaust poetry war poetry working class poetry and 9 11 poetry as forms of testimony Rowland argues that testamentary poetry requires a different approach to traditional ways of dealing with poems due to the pressure of the metatext the original traumatic events the poems demands for the hyper attentiveness of the reader and a paradox of identification that often draws the reader towards identifying with the poet's experience but then reminds them of its sublimity. He engages with the work of a diverse range of twentieth century authors and across the literature of several countries even uncovering new archival material. The study ends with an analysis of the poetry of 9/11 engaging with the idea that it typifies a new era of testimony where global secondary witnesses react to a proliferation of media images. This book ranges across the literature of several countries, cultures and historical events in order to stress the large variety of contexts in which poetry has functioned productively as a form of testimony and to note the importance of the availability of translations to the formation of literary canons.

Traumatic Realism Michael Rothberg, 2000. Analyzes the impact of historical trauma on contemporary culture. How to approach the Holocaust and its relationship to late twentieth century society. While some stress the impossibility of comprehending this event, others attempt representations in forms as different as the nonfiction novel and Hollywood blockbuster Schindler's List, the documentary Shoah and the comic book Maus. This problem is at the center of Michael Rothberg's book, a focused account of the psychic, intellectual and cultural aftermath of the Holocaust. Drawing on a wide range of texts, Michael Rothberg puts forth an overarching framework for understanding representations of the Holocaust. Through close readings of such writers and thinkers as Theodor Adorno, Maurice Blanchot, Ruth Kluger, Charlotte Delbo, Art Spiegelman and Philip Roth, and an examination of films by Steven Spielberg and Claude Lanzmann, Rothberg demonstrates how the Holocaust as a traumatic event makes three fundamental demands on representation: a demand for documentation, a demand for reflection on the limits of representation, and a demand for engagement with the public sphere and commodity culture. As it establishes new grounding for Holocaust studies, his book provides a new understanding of realism, modernism and postmodernism as responses to the demands of history.

Sources of Holocaust Insight John K. Roth, 2020-01-29. Sources of Holocaust Insight maps the odyssey of an American Christian philosopher who has studied, written and taught about the Holocaust for more than fifty years. What findings result from John Roth's journey? What moods pervade it? How have events and experiences, scholars and students' texts and testimonies, especially the questions they raise, affected Roth's Holocaust studies and guided his efforts to heed the biblical proverb: "Whatever else you get, get insight." More sources than Roth can acknowledge have informed his encounters with the Holocaust. But particular persons among them, Elie Wiesel, Raul Hilberg, Primo Levi and Albert Camus, loom especially large. Revisiting Roth's sources of Holocaust insight, this book does so not only to pay tribute to them but also to show how the ethical, philosophical and religious reverberations of the Holocaust confer and encourage responsibility for human well-being in the twenty-first century. Seeing differently, seeing better, sound learning and teaching about the Holocaust aim for what may be the most important Holocaust insight of all: Take nothing good for granted.

Traumatism Realism Michael Rothberg, 2000-08-10. How to approach the Holocaust and its relationship to late twentieth century society. While some stress the impossibility of comprehending this event, others attempt representations in forms as different as the nonfiction novel and Hollywood blockbuster Schindler's List, the documentary Shoah and the comic book

Maus This problem is at the center of Michael Rothberg's book a focused account of the psychic intellectual and cultural aftermath of the Holocaust Drawing on a wide range of texts Michael Rothberg puts forth an overarching framework for understanding representations of the Holocaust Through close readings of such writers and thinkers as Theodor Adorno Maurice Blanchot Ruth Kluger Charlotte Delbo Art Spiegelman and Philip Roth and an examination of films by Steven Spielberg and Claude Lanzmann Rothberg demonstrates how the Holocaust as a traumatic event makes three fundamental demands on representation a demand for documentation a demand for reflection on the limits of representation and a demand for engagement with the public sphere and commodity culture As it establishes new grounding for Holocaust studies his book provides a new understanding of realism modernism and postmodernism as responses to the demands of history
