Nonfiction Lives:

Literate Lives Amy Seely Flint, 2007-11-09 Literate Lives Teaching Reading and Writing in Elementary Classrooms invites readers to consider the complexities of the reading process in diverse settings. The text is designed to meet the challenges and needs of undergraduate and graduate teacher candidates in elementary education programs, helping them to have a better first year in the classroom experience. The text introduces teacher candidates to the notion that reading is a complex, multi-layered process that begins early in a child's life. Reading, by all accounts, is more than decoding symbols on a page. While this is one component of the reading process, it is important for teacher candidates to see a broader, more complete picture of reading. Given the role that reading plays in the elementary school curriculum, it is imperative that teachers have a well-developed understanding of the reading process and what it means to be a teacher of readers. Literate Lives Teaching Reading and Writing in the Elementary Classroom covers the major theories and application strategies of the reading process, as well as current debates in the field, using a unique framework that builds upon the following themes: believing that literacy is based in social, cultural, and historical contexts; assuming an inquiry stance; being problem posers and wondering why; using Kidwatching Goodman 1985 as an assessment tool to make informed instructional decisions; recognizing and using the multiple literacies that children bring to the classroom; and lingering and reflecting on one's decisions in light of what one knows and believes.

Nonfiction Matters Stephanie Harvey, 1998 A guide to bringing nonfiction into the curriculum in third through eighth grade classrooms with strategies and ideas for reading nonfiction, conducting research, and writing reports.

The book is a go to resource for practitioners in child and family service agencies and treatment centers to implement trauma informed, resiliency centered and evidence supported services for children with traumatic stress.

Publishing Lives Jerome Gold, 1995 In Publishing Lives publishers from 31 independent presses talk about how they came to publishing and why they stayed or didn't, the mistakes they made, their relationships with authors, the problems of growth, definitions of success, why they do or do not seek grants, their relationships with distributors, bookstores, New York and Toronto, and each other. More than just a directory, Publishing Lives presents these publishers as the spiritual heirs of the nineteenth century founders of the great New York houses.
