

DIFFERENCE BETWEEN Formal, Informal & Non-formal Education

CRITERIA	FORMAL EDUCATION	INFORMAL EDUCATION	NON-FORMAL EDUCATION
DEFINITION	Formal education is a methodical and composed training model, organized and controlled by a given arrangement of laws and standards, exhibiting a somewhat inflexible educational programs, content and procedure.	Informal or casual education is different from formal training and especially from non-formal training, despite the fact that in specific cases it is equipped for keeping up a cozy association with both. Informal instruction does not really incorporate destinations and subjects for the most part included by customary educational program.	Non-formal education qualities are discovered when received methodology does not require learner participation, diminishing contacts among instructor and learner and most exercises happen outside the school. Educative procedures blessed with adaptable educational program and strategy, fit for adjusting to the necessities and interests of learners.
INSTANCES	Acquiring proper knowledge from educational institutions like school, college & university.	Students discussion, learning outside the classroom, use of DVD having educational lectures & TV shows.	Non-credit adult educational programs, sports programs planned by community association, online courses.
COURSE CONTENTS	Properly organize information based on facts.	Multidisciplinary field information.	Particular knowledge of specific domain.
TYPE OF ACTIVITY	Formal activities	Routine training Calming activities	Non-formal activities (outside the school, classroom and after getting jobs)
OUTCOME	Positive and projected	Positive or negative and non-projected	Positive and projected
SOURCE OF ACQUIRING KNOWLEDGE	Schools, colleges, universities and other educational institutions.	Internet, Social Media, electronic/print media, group discussion amongst friends/family members.	Outside the educational institution.
WAY OF ACQUIRING KNOWLEDGE	Direct	Individual, implicit	Direct
ADVANTAGES	Organized, structured and systemic learning process end with recognized certificate which leads to access a reasonable job.	Natural learning process as you learn from daily experience, less costly and time proficient, no need to hire experts, learn from social media, electronic & print media, internet and other sources.	Practiced and vocational training. Literacy with skillfulness growth, flexibility in age, curriculum and time, no regular exams.
DISADVANTAGES	Costly and rigid education, long academic session, adoption of bad habits during study hours, unprofessional trainers may cause the wastage of time and money as well.	Unreliable sources of information, no proper time schedule, inappropriate techniques, unpredictable results, absence of confidence and discipline in learner.	Non-regular turnout of learners, no regular exam so no degree/certificate is awarded at the end of a training session which is just undue consumption of precious time.

Nonformal Education , Non-Formal Education Alan Rogers, 2007-03-06 The Comparative Education Research Centre CERC at the University of Hong Kong is proud and privileged to present this book in its series CERC Studies in Comparative Education Alan Rogers is a distinguished figure in the field of non formal education and brings to this volume more than three decades of experience The book is a masterly account which will be seen as a milestone in the literature It is based on the one hand on an exhaustive review of the literature and on the other hand on extensive practical experience in all parts of the world It is a truly comparative work which fits admirably into the series Much of the thrust of Rogers work is an analysis not only of the significance of non formal education but also of the reasons for changing fashions in the development community Confronting a major question at the outset Rogers ask why the terminology of non formal education which was so much in vogue in the 1970s and 1980s practically disappeared from the mainstream discourse in the 1990s and initial years of the present century Much of the book is therefore about paradigms in the domain of development studies and about the ways that fashions may gloss over substance Nonformal Education Manual, 2004 ,2005 Nonformal Education (NFE) Manual Peace Corps (U.S.). Information Collection and Exchange, 2004 From Formal to Non-Formal Polona Kelava, Igor Ž. Žagar, 2014-06-19 The monograph From Formal to Non Formal Education Learning and Knowledge presents a review of selected aspects of non formal education and learning and is written by Ant nio Frago Petra Javrh Polona Kelava Taja Kramberger Nives Li en Marko Radovan Drago B Rotar Klara Skubic Ermenc Tadej Vidmar Igor agar Tihomir iljak and Sabina nidar i agar These authors are all anthropologists sociologists philosophers political scientists education scientists and historians of education As such the subject covered is a broad one and reaches into fields that at first glance appear to be very distant from each other It is precisely this diversity of approaches that offers the best promise of new findings regarding non formal learning education and knowledge and that represents a fruitful basis for further reflection on these topics The monograph thus offers answers to some starting points for reflection on the increasingly varied dimensions and possibilities of formal non formal and informal knowledge and learning Non-formal Education United States. Agency for International Development. Office of Education and Human Resources, 1975 Nonformal Education and Civil Society in Japan Kaori H. Okano, 2015-09-16 Nonformal Education and Civil Society in Japan critically examines an aspect of education that has received little attention to date intentional teaching and learning activities that occur outside formal schooling In the last two decades nonformal education has rapidly increased in extent and significance This is because individual needs for education have become so diverse and rapidly changing that formal education alone is unable to satisfy them Increasingly diverse demands on education resulted from a combination of transnational migration heightened human rights awareness the aging population and competition in the globalised labour market Some in the private sector saw this situation as a business opportunity Others in the civil society volunteered to assist the vulnerable The rise in nonformal education has also been facilitated by national policy developments since the 1990s Drawing on case studies this book illuminates a diverse range of nonformal education activities and suggests that the nature of the relationship between nonformal education and mainstream schooling has changed Not only have the two sectors become more interdependent but the formal education sector increasingly acknowledges nonformal education's important and necessary roles These changes signal a significant departure from the past in the overall functioning of Japanese education The case studies include neighbourhood homework clubs for migrant children community based literacy classes after school care programs sport clubs alternative schools for long term absent students schools for foreigners training in intercultural competence at universities and corporations k minkan community halls and lifelong learning for the seniors This book will appeal to both scholars of Japanese Studies Asian Studies and those of comparative education and sociology anthropology of education

Tamura, 2019-06-17 This handbook offers a global view of the historical development of educational institutions systems of schooling ideas about education and educational experiences Its 36 chapters consider changing scholarship in the field examine nationally oriented works by comparing themes and approaches lend international perspective on a range of issues in education and provide suggestions for further research and analysis Like many other subfields of historical analysis the history of education has been deeply affected by global processes of social and political change especially since the 1960s The handbook weighs the influence of various interpretive perspectives including revisionist viewpoints taking particular note of changes in the past half century Contributors consider how schooling and other educational experiences have been shaped by the larger social and political context and how these influences have affected the experiences of students their families and the educators who have worked with them The Handbook provides insight and perspective on a wide range of topics including pre modern education colonialism and anti colonial struggles indigenous education minority issues in education comparative international and transnational education childhood education non formal and informal education and a range of other issues Each contribution includes endnotes and a bibliography for readers interested in further study

Education in Thailand Gerald W. Fry, 2018-11-01 This interdisciplinary book offers a critical analysis of Thai education and its evolution providing diverse perspectives and theoretical frameworks In the past five decades Thailand has seen impressive economic success and it is now a middle income country that provides development assistance to poorer countries However educational and social development have lagged considerably behind its globally recognized economic success This comprehensive book covers each level of education such as higher and vocational technical education and such topics as internationalization inequalities and disparities alternative education non formal and informal education multilingual education educational policy and planning and educational assessment The 25 Thai and 8 international contributors to the volume include well known academics and practitioners Thai education involves numerous paradoxes which are identified and explained While Thailand has impressively expanded its educational system quantitatively with much massification quality problems persist at all levels As such the final policy oriented summary chapter suggests strategies to enable Thailand to escape the middle income trap and enhance the quality of its education to ensure its long term developmental success

Education and Social Justice in Japan Kaori H. Okano, 2020-12-09 This book is an up to date critical examination of schooling in Japan by an expert in this field It focuses on developments in the last two decades with a particular interest in social justice Japan has experienced slow economic growth changed employment practices population decline an aging society and an increasingly multi ethnic population resulting from migration It has faced a call to respond to the rhetoric of globalization and to concerns in childhood poverty in the perceived affluence In education we have seen developments responding to these challenges in national and local educational policies as well as in school level practices What are the most significant developments in schooling of the last two decades Why have these developments emerged and how will they affect youth and society as a whole How can we best interpret social justice implications of these developments in terms of both distributive justice and the politics of difference To what extent have the shifts advanced the interests of disadvantaged groups This book shows that compared to three decades ago the system of education increasingly acknowledges the need to address student diversity of all kinds and delivers options that are more varied and flexible But interest in social justice in education has tended to centre on the distribution of education who gets how much of schooling with fewer questions raised about the content of schooling that continues to advantage the already advantaged Written in a highly accessible style and aimed at scholars and students in the fields of comparative education sociology of education and Japanese studies this book illuminates changing policies and cumulative adjustments in the daily practice of schooling as well as how various groups in society make sense of these changes The Role of the Peace
