Forest Development in Cold Climates John Alden, J. Louise Mastrantonio, Søren Ødum, 2013-06-29 As forests decline in temperate and tropical climates highly developed countries and those striving for greater economic and social benefits are beginning to utilize marginal forests of high latitude and mountainous regions for resources to satisfy human needs The benefits of marginal forests range from purely aesthetic to providing resources for producing many goods and services demanded by a growing world population Increased demands for forest resources and amenities and recent warming of high latitude climates have generated interest in reforestation and afforestation of marginal habitats in cold regions Afforestation of treeless landscapes improves the environment for human habitation and provides for land use and economic prosperity Trees are frequently planted in cold climates to rehabilitate denuded sites for the amenity of homes and villages and for wind shelter recreation agroforestry and industrial uses In addition forests in cold climates reduce the albedo of the earth s surface in winter and in summer they are small but significant long lived sinks for atmospheric carbon dioxide Finally growth and reproductive success of forests at their geographic limits are sensitive indices of climatic change As efforts to adapt forests to cold climates increase however new afforestation problems arise and old ones intensify Austral northern and altitudinal tree limits are determined by many different factors Current hypotheses for high latitude tree limits are based on low growing season temperatures that inhibit plant development and reproduction Food Security in the High North

Kamrul Hossain, Lena Maria Nilsson, Thora Martina Herrmann, 2020-09-09 This book explores the challenges facing food security sustainability sovereignty and supply chains in the Arctic with a specific focus on Indigenous Peoples Offering multidisciplinary insights and with a particular focus on populations in the European High North region the book highlights the importance of accessible and sustainable traditional foods for the dietary needs of local and Indigenous Peoples It focuses on foods and natural products that are unique to this region and considers how they play a significant role towards food security and sovereignty The book captures the tremendous complexity facing populations here as they strive to maintain sustainable food systems both subsistent and commercial and regain sovereignty over traditional food production policies A range of issues are explored including food contamination risks due to increasing human activities in the region such as mining to changing livelihoods and gender roles in the maintenance of traditional food security and sovereignty The book also considers processing methods that combine indigenous and traditional knowledge to convert the traditional foods that are harvested and hunted into local foods This book offers a broader understanding of food security and sovereignty and will be of interest to academics scholars and policy makers working in food studies geography and environmental studies agricultural studies sociology anthropology political science health studies and biology

Coping with Distances Jørgen Ole Bærenholdt, 2011-03 The Nordic Atlantic area has seen remarkable examples of social formations in areas that many would perceive as too remote to allow the construction of functioning communities But through innovations networking and the formation of identities people have coped with distances thus continuously rebuilding societies in Northern Norway Iceland the Faroes and Greenland Living conditions in the Nordic Atlantic are so extreme that one might ask whether the notion of society is applicable under these circumstances The author argues that yes there is a meaningful way of comprehending these social formations which is through the spatial and temporal practices that produce reproduce stabilize destabilize and change them He introduces the concept of coping which means neither mastering nor adapting but relates to in between strategies and tactics reflected in practices of securing people s way of life under conditions that are never totally under their control

The European Union and the Arctic Nengye Liu, Elizabeth A. Kirk, Tore Henriksen, 2017-09-11 The European Union and the Arctic brings together academics from a range of disciplines to discuss the EU s potential roles in shaping Arctic governance The book is divided into three parts The first part examines the EU s current Arctic policy framework The second part focuses on the EU s engagement with Arctic governance at the regional level and encompasses the EU s engagement with the so called Arctic Five five coastal States of the Arctic Ocean providing examples of some of those relationships The third part takes a sectoral approach analysing the EU s potential contribution to regulation of key human activities in the Arctic including shipping fisheries oil and gas operations and marine mammals

Knowing from the Indigenous North Thomas Hylland Eriksen, Sanna Valkonen, Jarno Valkonen, 2018-10-09 Focusing on the S pmi region of Northern Europe as a point of departure this book enriches and sharpens the concept of the North It combines detailed empirical research on the Sami people and their life worlds with theoretical contributions from leading scholars The authors consider the European North not only as a geographical site or an object of academic research but as a particular way of knowing and being with its own needs practices concepts and imaginings The North as an epistemic position offers its own conceptions of politics human agency history and social relations which this book studies and describes The volume challenges us to consider social scientific knowledge its significance and the practices of producing it in a new way Arctic Bibliography Arctic Institute of North America,1960 Norway's Internal Migration to New Farms since 1920 K.H. Stone,2013-11-11 The Circumpolar North Terence Armstrong,George Rogers,Graham Rowley,2023-03-24 First Published in 1978 The Circumpolar North is designed for anyone with a more than superficial interest in the northern regions of our planet geographical economic social or political The primary importance of North today is as a source of raw materials as a world crossroads and as a touchstone of the way nations behave towards their minority groups Strategic considerations have led to the expenditure of vast sums of money but world population expansion has not yet affected the northlands and their preservation in a natural state is still a feasible objective The authors are experts in their own areas and have provided regional chapters on each of the land and ocean areas The book compares the different approaches of the countries involved and deals also in the context of the northern seas with another political dimension the relations between nations and their success in achieving international management of resources This is an interesting read for scholars of geography international relations and international economics
