Serious Monologues

My Boy Jack by David Hagg

Arthur: (Arthur takes off his glasses at final time and drops them.) I'm so frightened. My heart is beating everywhere, behind my eyes, down my legs, in my chest... pulsing, hammering. It's cold. Please God I mustn't let them down. Will I be brave? Will I fail? – Onto the firestep – keep the pistol out of the mud – left hand on the parapet – pull – right foot on the sand bags – push up – left leg over – Straighten – run – I mustn't let them down. Some of these men will be dead tonight. I may be dead tonight. Let me live. Stop raining – just for a second. Oh Dad! – what luxury – to turn on a hot water tap – hot steaming water – evening clothes – dinner at The Ritz – the Alhambra afterwards. Elsie. Mother. Dad! – My first action – Fifteen seconds – is that the whistle? – one clear blast – left hand – parapet – sand bags – over – run. Run fast and straight. Please God let me live. Pistol high – run, run, run. (Arthur looks at his watch. Zero Hour. He blows his whistle.)

Punk Rock by Simon Stephens

Chadwick: Human beings are pathetic. Everything human beings do finishes up bad in the end. Everything good human beings ever make is built on something monstrous. Nothing lasts. We certainly won't. We could have made something really extraordinary and we won't. We've been around one hundred thousand years. We'll have died out before the next two hundred. You know what we've got to look forward to? You know what will define the next two hundred years? Religions will become brutalised; crime rates will become hysterical; everybody will become addicted to internet sex; suicide will become fashionable; there'll be famine; there'll be floods; there'll be fires in the major cities of the Western world. Our education systems will become battered. Our health services unsustainable; our police forces unmanageable; our governments corrupt. There'll be open brutality in the streets; there'll be nuclear war; massive depletion of resources on every level; insanely increasing third-world population. It's happening already. It's happening now. Thousands die every summer from floods in the Indian monsoon season. Africans from Senegal wash up on the beaches of the Mediterranean and get looked after by guilty holidaymakers. Somalis wait in hostels in Malta or prison islands north of Australia. Hundreds die of heat or fire every year in Paris. Or California. Or Athens. The oceans will rise. The cities will flood. The power stations will flood. Airports will flood. Species will vanish forever, including ours. So if you think I'm worried by you calling me names, Bennett, your little, little boy, you are kidding yourself.

An Inspector Calls by J.B. Priestley

Inspector: Stop! (They are suddenly quiet, staring at him). And be quiet for a moment and listen to me. I don't need to know any more. Neither do you. This girl killed herself – and died a horrible death. But each of you helped to kill her. Remember that. Never forget it. (He looks from one to the other of them carefully.) But then I don't think you ever will. Remember what you did. Mrs Birling. You turned her away when she most needed help. You refused her even the pitiable little bit of organized charity you had in your power to grant her. Remember what you did. Just used her for the
