Normativity Vol 15 Philosophical Issues:

Defensive Killing Helen Frowe, 2014-10-23 Most people believe that it is sometimes morally permissible for a person to use force to defend herself or others against harm In Defensive Killing Helen Frowe offers a detailed exploration of when and why the use of such force is permissible She begins by considering the use of force between individuals investigating both the circumstances under which an attacker forfeits her right not to be harmed and the distinct question of when it is all things considered permissible to use force against an attacker Frowe then extends this enquiry to war defending the view that we should judge the ethics of killing in war by the moral rules that govern killing between individuals She argues that this requires us to significantly revise our understanding of the moral status of non combatants in war Non combatants who intentionally contribute to an unjust war forfeit their rights not to be harmed such that they are morally liable to attack by combatants fighting a just war The Good, the Right, Life and Death Jason R. Raibley, Michael J. Zimmerman, 2017-09-29

Fred Feldman Professor of Philosophy at the University of Massachusetts at Amherst is widely recognized for his subtle defense of hedonistic consequentialism and for his plain spoken and exact philosophical style This book collects new and original articles from an international team of scholars to celebrate his philosophical contributions The three main topics of the book moral goodness moral rightness and the ethical and metaphysical puzzles posed by death are topics that have occupied Professor Feldman throughout his philosophical career Each contribution advances the state of the art in analytical ethics and metaphysics through critical analysis of previous work and the formulation of new positions As a collection these essays represent a sustained reflection on the merits and limitations of a whole integrated research program in moral philosophy hedonistic consequentialism After Taste. Critique of insufficient reason Slavko Kacunko, 2021-06-02

After Taste is an inquiry into a field of study dedicated to the reconsideration reconstruction and rehabilitation of the concept of Taste Taste is the category whose systematic historical and actual dimensions have traditionally been located in a variety of disciplines The actuality and potential of the study is based on a variety of collected facts from readings and experiences which materialize in the following features One concept figurative Taste two thinking traditions analytic and synthetic continental and three interrelated dimensions systematic historic and actual are presented in three volumes As such the study presents a salient comprehensive companion for wider readership of humanities approaching conceptions of Taste for the first time Moreover After Taste is intended for anyone who hopes to make a further contribution to the subject Since its appearance and apparently short triumph some 250 years ago the concept of non literary Taste remained the linchpin of aesthetic theory and practice but also a category outreaching aesthetics Taste as the personal unity of the production theory and criticism of art and literature which was still largely taken as a given in the eighteenth century has meanwhile given way to a highly differentiated art world in which aesthetic discourse is placed in such a way that it can seemingly no longer have a conceptual or linguistic effect on general opinion making The critical role of Taste judges ratings and rankings in the feuilleton politics and social media on the one hand and the responding search for new canons on the other have had a huge impact on the academic and popular discourse today However Taste s impact on society is in fact all encompassing and yet without getting even close to the magnetic North of the academic compass After Taste fills the gaps of systematic research by a comprehensive tracing of the emergence of the doctrines discourses and disciplinary dimensions of Taste up to the peak of its systematic and historical trajectory in the eighteenth century and onwards into the present day The guiding goal is a post disciplinary rehabilitation of the contested category as a preparation for its productive usage in emerging academic and popular contexts Three intertwined research hypotheses form the guiding goal of an overall study of the agencies of Taste its institutionalizations and expert cultures The 1 first part provides a missing systematic perspective on the concept of Taste as a key factor for understanding the human faculties value theories and practices of valuating The 2 second part traces the events at the peak of Taste s systematic and historical trajectories up until the late eighteenth century and verifies the historiographical hypothesis about the instrumentality of Taste for the production reception and distribution of culture The 3 third part reconstructs the major moments in which the contested concept of Taste experiences its post disciplinary rehabilitation in preparation for its future productive usage in the academic and popular discourses and practices It shows how the category of Taste became the foundation legitimation and the catalyst for the emerging division of labour faculties and disciplines confirming the hypothesis of the immense impact and actuality of Taste in the contemporary world

Vienna Lectures on Legal Philosophy, Volume 2 Christoph Bezemek, Michael Potacs, Alexander Somek, 2020-07-23 This second volume of the Vienna Lectures on Legal Philosophy series presents 11 chapters which are dedicated to normativist and anti normativist approaches to law The book focuses on the question What is law Is it a set of obligations imposed on courts and officials to guide their conduct and to assess the conduct of others Or is it the result of settlements reached by opposing sides that accept arrangements and understandings to sustain peaceful cooperation If law is the former its significance and meaning are independent of a shifting constellation of forces if it is not then what the law says depends on the relative power and prestige of the actors involved With contributions from some of the leading scholars in the field the collection presents a balanced and nuanced assessment of what is perhaps the most controversial debate in contemporary legal philosophy today

The Aim of Belief Timothy Chan, 2013-12-05 What is belief Beliefs aim at truth is the commonly accepted starting point for philosophers who want to give an adequate account of this fundamental state of mind but it raises as many questions as it answers For example in what sense can beliefs be said to have an aim of their own If belief aims at truth does it mean that reasons to believe must also be based on truth Must beliefs be formed on the basis of evidence alone Is truth the constitutive norm of belief Does aiming at truth bring in a normative dimension to the nature of belief How can the aim of truth guide the formation of our beliefs In what ways do partial beliefs aim at truth Is truth the aim of epistemic justification Last but not least is it knowledge rather than truth which is the fundamental aim of belief In recent years pursuing these questions has proved extremely fertile for our understanding of a wide range of current issues in philosophy of mind and action epistemology and meta ethics The Aim of Belief is the first book to be devoted to this fast growing topic It brings together eleven newly commissioned essays by leading authors on the aim of belief The volume not only reflects the state of the art but further advances the current debate It will be key reading for researchers and students of philosophy interested in mind knowledge and reason
