Micki McGee, 2005-09-08 Why doesn't self help help Cultural critic Micki McGee puts forward this paradoxical question as she looks at a world where the market for self improvement products books audiotapes and extreme makeovers is exploding and there seems to be no end in sight Rather than seeing narcissism at the root of the self help craze as others have contended McGee shows a nation relying on self help culture for advice on how to cope in an increasingly volatile and competitive work world Self Help Inc reveals how makeover culture traps Americans in endless cycles of self invention and overwork as they struggle to stay ahead of a rapidly restructuring economic order A lucid and fascinating treatment of the modern obsession produced is still with us along with the myth of a workplace built around more humane notions of how people work and spend their days in offices No Collar is the only close study of New Economy workplaces in their heyday Andrew Ross a renowned writer and scholar of American intellectual and social life spent eighteen months deep inside Silicon Alley in residence at two prominent New Economy companies Razorfish and 360hiphop and interviewed a wide range of industry employees in other cities to write this remarkable book Maverick in their organizations and permissive in their culture these workplaces offered personal freedoms and rewards that were unheard of in corporate America Employees feared they may never again enjoy such an irresistible work environment Yet for every apparent benefit there appeared to be a hidden cost 70 hour workweeks a lack of managerial protection an oppressive shouldering of risk by employees an illusory sense of power sharing and no end of emotional churning The industrialization of bohemia encouraged employees to think outside the box but also allowed companies to claim their most free and creative thoughts and ideas In these workplaces Andrew Ross encountered a new kind of industrial personality and emerged with a sobering lesson Be careful what you wish for When work becomes sufficiently humane we tend to do far too much of it and it usurps an unacceptable portion of our lives He concludes that we should not have to choose between a personally gratifying and a just workplace we should strive to enjoy both Author note Andrew Ross is Professor in the American Studies program at New York University A writer for Artforum The Nation The Village Voice and many other publications he is the author or editor of thirteen books including The Celebration Chronicles Real Love The Chicago Gangster Theory of Life Strange Weather No Respect and most recently Low Pay High Profile The Global Push for Fair Labor
