Radical Knowledge A Philosophical Inqu:

Radical Knowledge Gonzalo Munévar,1981 The Limits of Science Wenceslao J. Gonzalez,2016-10-05 The problem of the limits of science is twofold First there is the problem of demarcation i e the boundaries or barriers between what is science and what is not science Second there is the problem of the ceiling of scientific activity which leads to the confines of this human enterprise These two faces of the problem of the limits the barriers and the confines of science require a new analysis which is the task of this book The authors take into account the Kantian roots but they are focused on the current stage of the philosophical and methodological analyses of science This vision looks to supersede the Kantian approach in order to reach a richer conception of science The Practice of Constructivism in Science Education Kenneth G. Tobin,2012-11-12 This volume provides a needed elaboration of theories and potential applications of constructivism in science education Although the term constructivism is used widely there has been a dearth of materials to guide science educators concerning the potential of constructivism to influence what is done in the field In fact there has been a tendency for constructivism to be viewed as a method that can be used in a classroom This view tends to diminish the power of constructivism as a way of thinking about education and in particular about science education The chapters in this book address the need to document the theoretical roots of constructivism and to describe how practitioners have applied constructivist oriented beliefs in the practice of K 12 teaching of science and mathematics as well as teacher education Not only does this book contain different theoretical perspectives on constructivism but it also features a chapter that critiques constructivism as an epistemology Specific topics covered include cooperative learning the negotiation of meaning problem centered learning social construction of knowledge science in culturally diverse settings curriculum planning and implementation and instructional technology Issues associated with the preparation and enhancement of science teachers and the reform of science education are also explored Evolution and the Naked Truth Gonzalo Munevar,2018-08-21 Published in 1998 the main aim of this book is to use a naturalistic evolutionary approach to solve some of the most important problems in philosophy The first two problems come from the philosophy of science the problem of rationality of science and the problem of truth in science In presenting the first problem the author argues that the views of Kuhn and Feyerabend do create a very serious challenge to traditional epistemology however if the assumption of individual rationality is abandoned in favour of the author s social concept of rationality a committed naturalism can account for science as a rational activity In tackling the second problem of truth the author shows that a committed evolutionary philosophy does not support realism but leads instead to a thorough evolutionary relativism of scientific knowledge It is nevertheless possible to use this evolutionary relativism to construct a theory of relative truth The issue of whether science discovers truth has also been tied to absolutism that a well formulated theory of relative truth is likely to bring about a profound transformation of the way we think about the field The author explores the notion of relative truth in the philosophy of science ethics and aesthetics The Rhetoric of the Human Sciences John S. Nelson, Allan Megill, Deirdre N. McCloskey, 1987 Opening with an overview of the renewal of interest in rhetoric for inquiries of all kinds this volume addresses rhetoric in individual disciplines mathematics anthropology psychology economics sociology political science and history Drawing from recent literary theory it suggests the contribution of the humanities to the rhetoric of inquiry and explores communications beyond the academy particular in women's issues religion and law The final essays speak from the field of communication studies where the study of rhetoric usually makes its home Twentieth-Century Literary Theory Vassilis Lambropoulos, David Neal Miller, 1987-01-09 The ten topics contained in Twentieth Century Literary Theory reflect contemporary theoretical interests and guide the reader through fundamental questions from the formation to the uses of theory and from the construction to the interpretation of literature The selected essays cover a wealth of scholarship from both the United States and Europe They go beyond traditional categories by focusing on issues rather than writers or critical movements thus providing a forum for the continuing discussion of what theory is and does Philosophical Perceptions on Logic and Order Horne, Jeremy, 2017-05-19 Strong reasoning skills are an important aspect to cultivate in life as they directly impact decision making on a daily basis By examining the different ways the world views logic and order new methods and techniques can be employed to help expand on this skill further in the future Philosophical Perceptions on Logic and Order is a pivotal scholarly resource that discusses the evolution of logical reasoning and future applications for these types of processes Highlighting relevant topics including logic patterns deductive logic and inductive logic this publication is an ideal reference source for academicians students and researchers that would like to expand their understanding of how society currently employs the use of logical reasoning techniques Knowledge, Science and Relativism P. K. Feyerabend, 1999-05-27 This collection of Feyerabend's philosophical papers gathers together work originally published between 1960 and 1980 Questions of Character Iskra Fileva, 2017 This collection features 26 new essays on character from first rate scholars in philosophy psychology economics and law The essays are elegantly written and combine forceful argumentation with original ideas on a wide range of questions such as Is Aristotle's theory of character a moral theory Are character traits in tension with personal autonomy How do traits differ from mental disorders What is the role of gossip in character attribution and Can businessmen be virtuous The chapters are organized thematically into 5 sections each prefaced by its own special introduction In the introductions the editor brings out often unexpected connections among different lines of argument pursued by the authors and raises important questions for further discussion The collection as a whole offers students of character a unique opportunity to engage with some of the best contemporary work on the topic Evolutionary Epistemology W. Callebaut, R. Pinxten, 2012-12-06 This volume has its already distant origin in an international conference on Evolutionary Epistemology the editors organized at the University of Ghent in November 1984 This conference aimed to follow up the endeavor started at the ERISS Epistemologically Relevant Internalist Sociology of Science conference organized by Don

Campbell and Alex Rosenberg at Cazenovia Lake New York in June 1981 whilst injecting the gist of certain current continental intellectual developments into a debate whose focus we thought was in danger of being narrowed too much considering the still underdeveloped state of affairs in the field Broadly speaking evolutionary epistemology today consists of two interrelated yet qualitatively distinct investigative efforts Both are drawing on Darwinian concepts which may explain why many people have failed to discriminate them One is the study of the evolution of the cognitive apparatus of living organisms which is first and foremost the province of biologists and psychologists H C Plotkin Ed Learning Development and Culture Essays in Evolutionary Epistemology New York Wiley 1984 although quite a few philosophers professional or vocational have also felt the need to express themselves on this vast subject F M Wuketits Ed Concepts and Approaches in Evolutionary Epistemology Dordrecht Boston Reidel 1984 The other approach deals with the evolution of science and has been dominated hitherto by allegedly naturalized philosophers no book length survey of this literature is available at present
